$35,000 Payoff Charged In Vain Try To Rig Case

NEW YORK (AP) — A state judge and an underworld racketeer were indicted Thursday on charges of vainly trying to fix a federal court criminal case for $35,000. Also accused in the plot was a former assistant United States attorney and two other men.

One of the key defendants, a physician accused of serving as go-between in the fix attempt, has been under around-the-clock FBI guard because of threats against his life.

Bob Kennedy Directed Probe

The federal grand jury indictment of the five men—climax to a months-long probe personally directed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy—blew the lid off the biggest judicial scandal in New York since the late Federal Appeals Judge Martin T. Manton went to prison in 1940 for selling out his office.

The defendants in the fix case are charged with conspiring to obstruct justice—punishable upon conviction by a maximum five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

They are: State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh; former Chief Asst. U.S. Atty. Elliott Kahaner; racketeer Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo; Dr. Robert M. Erdman, the alleged go-between; and Sanford J. Moore, now in prison for bankruptcy fraud.

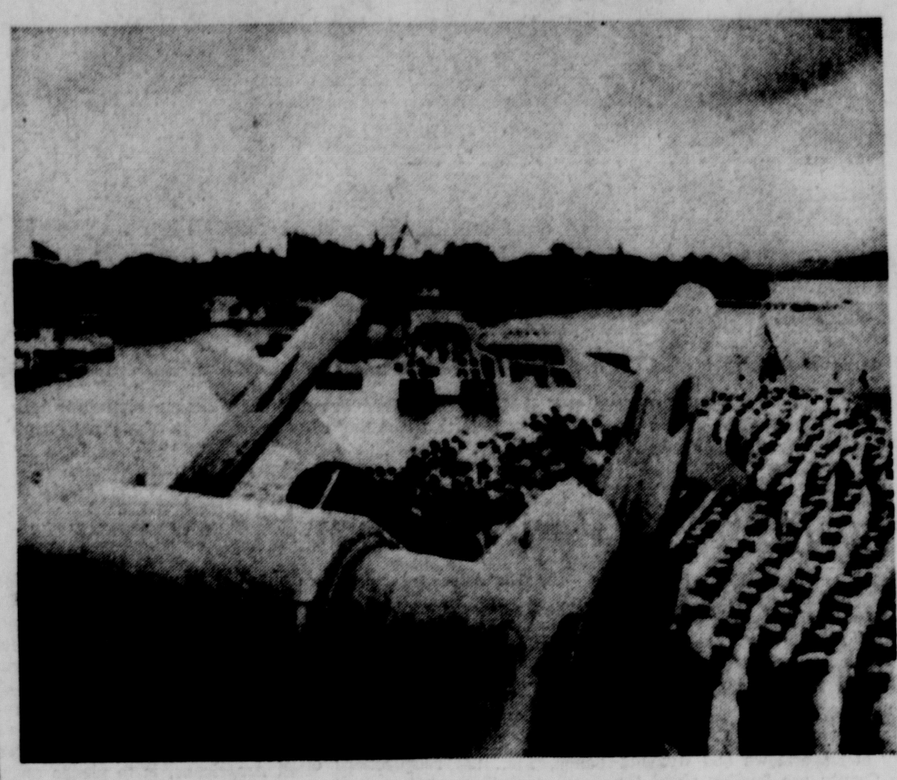

Plot To Influence Judge Charged

The indictment accused the five of conspiring to influence U.S. Dist. Judge Leo F. Rayfiel of Brooklyn to suspend sentence on Moore and two other Long Island juke box operators who were mixed up in the fraudulent bankruptcy deal.

Justice Keogh and Kahaner were said to have been paid the $35,000 to use their influence on Rayfiel.

Rayfiel was not himself offered any money. He learned of the West Strives For Unified Berlin Policy

Chances Slim With De Gaulle Opposing Any Bid To Soviets

PARIS (AP) — Western diplomats Thursday began a series of high-level conferences in search of a joint position on Berlin, as a prelude to a possible new round of negotiations with the Soviet Union.

With President Charles de Gaulle steadfastly opposed to any Western initiative at this time, and opposed to any negotiation limited to Berlin alone, the chances of agreement are slight.

The United States and Britain, on the other hand, and perhaps even West Germany as well, favor some sort of approach to the Russians in an effort to cool down the tense Berlin situation. Before they can take on the Soviet Union at the conference table, they must first convince France that this is a wise course.

The forthcoming week will see the yearly conclave of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign, finance and defense ministers to discuss and approve NATO's so-called annual review—a recounting of what has been accomplished for Western defense in the past year, and what's to be done in the coming 12 months.

If the Big Three Western powers and West Germany should reach agreement on their policy in the Berlin crisis, this also would be submitted to the NATO ministers for endorsement of the 15-member alliance.

Rusk Leaves Sunday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will fly to Paris Sunday for Berlin crisis talks with the foreign ministers of the Western alliance, the State Department said Thursday.

Rusk is expected to meet Monday and Tuesday with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany in an effort to narrow Allied differences on the question of negotiating with Russia on the Berlin issue.

Jet Fighters Will Escort Transports

Airlift Temporarily Halted As Fighting Tempo Increases

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP) — Katangans temporarily knocked out a United States airlift Thursday and a U.N. spokesman acknowledged the provincial troops seemed to be holding their positions against U.N. task forces in very confused fighting.

Bullets fired from the residence of Katanga President Moise Tshombe slightly damaged a U.S. Globemaster and led American authorities to halt their aerial transport of U.N. men and supplies to this secessionist capital.

(A U.N. spokesman in New York announced the American planes will resume operations Friday under escort of U.N. fighters. He said his announcement was based on official information relayed by U.N. authorities in Leopoldville. It was not brought out how the fighters could be expected to protect the transports from ground fire, though strafing attacks might help to clear the approaches.)

U.N. forces laid down a heavy mortar barrage late in the day on Katanga positions on the west side of the Elisabethville airport road. To correspondents in the post office area also, the tempo of the fighting appeared to be rising.

Shooting Continues In "Funnel"

Shooting persisted in an area known as the Funnel, centered about a strategic underpass between the city and the suburbs. Wednesday it was claimed that Swedish troops were in command there. But during the evening a U.N. spokesman indicated that, although the Swedes may still control the underpass, they do not command the whole area.

Katanga Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba told a newsman that he and Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo had toured battle positions and felt very confident. Both claimed the Katangans had gained ground in the skirmishing, though they did not say just where.

The U.N. jet air force, striking its own blow at enemy supplies, blasted a Katanga ammunition dump six miles outside Elisabethville and the resulting explosions shook the heart of the city.

American sources said small arms fire from Tshombe's residence as a big C124 Globemaster was coming in for a landing at Elisabethville airport hit the fuselage but caused no serious damage.

The Globemaster was one of six which began an airlift Wednesday of armored cars, antiaircraft guns and their crews to the 3,000-man U.N. force in Elisabethville.

American sources said further flights were suspended or diverted to Kamina, 245 miles to the northwest, pending consultations in Washington on security for the big expensive planes.

Other Air Strikes Reported

Aside from the attack on the ammunition dump, U.N. sources said two Swedish jets knocked out an antiaircraft installation on the outskirts, and Indian Canberras destroyed two Katangan army trucks on the road to Kasameno. Other jets patrolled, seeking Katangan planes.

Until the Globemaster mission was undertaken at the request of the U.N., the United States had not been involved in internal operations because the U.N. wished to keep the big powers out of the Congo. The United States has flown troops and supplies to the country, however.

Tshombe's residence is being used by his ministers, but he was not there at the time of the shooting.

He was en route home from Paris, and reached Ndola, near the Katanga border in Northern Rhodesia, in late afternoon.

Tshombe, in angrily denouncing the U.N. air attacks on Kolwezi and near Jadotville Wednesday, charged American planes were "killing women and children."

The U.N. has announced that the attacks on an air base and a bridge were by Swedish and Indian jets and American planes were not involved.

No Interference As U.S. Troops Enter W. Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—A new American battle group began rolling into West Berlin Thursday. Despite Communist threats, there was no interference with its motor march across Red-ruled East Germany.

The unit that arrived was Co. E, 1st Battle Group, 19th Infantry. Its 25 jeeps and trucks took 6 hours and 20 minutes to do the 110 miles from Helmstedt, in West Germany, to West Berlin.

Nearly half the time was spent going through Soviet checkpoints at each end of the highway. This is about normal for the meticulous examination given to official papers by Soviet troops.

Capt. John B. Keeley, 32, company commander from West Bend Wis., said he saw "quite a few" of East Germany's green-uniformed people's police on the four-lane highway. The Americans, as usual, ignored the East Germans—the United States does not recognize their Communist regime.

Wednesday, Otto Winzer of the East German Foreign Ministry asserted that neither his government nor the Soviet Union had ever guaranteed free access to West Berlin for "NATO troops." The 19th is part of the forces in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization while it is in West Germany. But U.S. officials in Paris, NATO headquarters, said American troops automatically stop being NATO troops when they leave Helmstedt. Neither East Germany nor Berlin is NATO territory.

The 19th Infantry has history. It was under Japanese fire in the attack on Pearl Harbor, just 20 years ago. It was part of the 24th Division, the first American unit sent to Korea when that war started in 1950.

Notes of foreboding were sounded by the East German Communists. Their official party organ published a speech by Gen. Heinz Hoffmann, East German defense minister, calling for more attention to military production.

Peacetime industry should develop in such a way, he told the party Central Committee, that it can be converted to war use with the least possible change.

Russia Charges Sabotage Of UN Katanga Effort

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union Thursday charged Britain, France and Belgium with openly sabotaging the U.N. effort in Katanga and demanded that such action be stopped.

The accusation was made shortly after a U.N. spokesman announced that grounded U.S. Globemasters will resume transport of U.N. troops and supplies into embattled Elisabethville Friday.

A statement distributed by the Soviet U.N. delegation indicated the Russians might ask for a Security Council meeting to consider the charges.

The charges were denied immediately by a British delegation spokesman, who accused the Soviet Union of spreading malicious propaganda.

Referring to the council resolution of Nov. 21 empowering the United Nations to take new action in secessionist Katanga Province, the Soviet statement said: "The United Nations cannot remain passive in the face of open sabotage of the Security Council decision on the part of the colonial powers and their agents in Katanga."

The U.N. spokesman called a news conference to tell of the U.N. decision.

He said the planes will be provided with U.N. fighter escort to guard against attack. The big cargo-carrying planes were ordered grounded after one was hit by small arms fire while coming in for a landing at Elisabethville airport. It suffered no serious damage.

The spokesman said official word of the flight renewals had been received in Leopoldville and relayed to U.N. headquarters.

Bizerte Talks Open

ROME (AP)—France and Tunisia opened exploratory talks Thursday aimed at solving the thorny problem of the Bizerte naval base and other questions between the two countries. First discussions, in the Tunisian Embassy on the northern outskirts of Rome, lasted for 80 minutes. Afterward, neither delegation would comment.

Hemispheric Unity Possible, Kennedy Says

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy told young members of the Democratic party Thursday he believes the problem of holding the peoples of the Western Hemisphere together in political freedom and economic abundance can be solved.

"I think the problems are upon us and these are problems that can be met," the President told a clapping, cheering crowd of delegates at the national convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of America.

But they can be met, he said, only "by those who are willing to do the hard work and come up with a hard solution."

And he said it is especially important that Young Democrats come forward, because they will be active over the next 40 years and "must live with the results of all the judgments that we make today."

Kennedy addressed the Young Democrats at their convention hotel before he went to another hotel to speak to the AFL-CIO convention.

Plan To Settle Crisis Spurned By Balaguer

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The government of President Joaquin Balaguer rejected Thursday night the latest opposition plan to settle the Dominican political crisis.

It was the second such rejection by Balaguer, a holdover from the Trujillo era, within a week, and came on the 10th day of a paralyzing general strike aimed at forcing him to resign.

Earlier in the day, huge crowds jammed into the main streets of Santo Domingo following reports that the opposition had won its victory in the crisis with an agreement under which Balaguer would step down.

But after a 2½-hour meeting between Balaguer and top congressmen and military chiefs, the government rejected the opposition formula as "inadmissable."

The nation's military hierarchy went to the national palace led by air force Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria. Balaguer last month made the general secretary of state for armed forces, putting him in direct succession behind the president.

It was the second time since Nov. 30 that Balaguer, with the backing of the powerful military, spurned opposition demands that he clear out and make way for a small junta to lead the nation to democracy after 31 years of feudal Trujillo rule.

On that day the military called for an all-powerful junta headed by Balaguer that would have given the military virtual autonomy. This time the military made no announcement of its views. But the opposition plan was reported to have demanded that Rodriguez Echavarria be replaced by another man to take over when Balaguer resigns.

Balaguer said the government had now offered another plan and declared that negotiations would continue.

U.S. Red Leader Fined For Failure To Keep To Right

YONKERS, N. Y. (UPI) — Gus Hall, American Communist party leader, paid a $25 traffic fine Thursday for failing to keep to the right.

Hall received a summons last week. He also was charged with driving without a license and with improper registration.

He pleaded guilty in Yonkers special sessions court Thursday and said of his driving on the wrong side of the road:

The car in which he had been driving, a fawn-colored 1961 convertible which had been impounded by police, was ordered returned to him.

N.H. Governor Names Murphy To U.S. Senate

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Maurice J. Murphy Jr. was appointed successor to Sen. Styles Bridges Thursday and indicated he would follow closely the conservatism and strong anti-Communist stands of the late dean of Senate Republicans.

"I'm sure that on major issues my thinking will be much along the same lines as the late senator," said Murphy, who at 34 will be the youngest member of the Senate.

Murphy was appointed to a one-year interim term by Gov Wesley Powell, his friend and political mentor.

Asked by a reporter whether he considered himself to be a conservative Republican, the new senator said: "As to a label, the people of New Hampshire can determine that by my actions in the U.S. Senate."

The young attorney said it was a little soon to discuss in detail any plans for Washington. But he did tell a crowded news conference that he felt humble to be succeeding "one of New Hampshire's illustrious sons and a great United States senator."

Powell's naming of Murphy hit the capital city as something of a surprise. Most of the guessing had been that Powell would name either himself or Doloris Bridges, the senator's widow.

Kennedy Asks Labor Support Trade Policies

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy warned American workers Thursday they face loss of jobs unless they support his program for more liberal foreign trade policies.

The President appealed for organized labor backing on this and other administration proposals in an enthusiastically received address at the opening session of the AFL-CIO convention.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, later assured Kennedy not to "worry about us—we'll cooperate one thousand per cent."

Kennedy had made a similar appeal to businessmen only Wednesday for support for his foreign trade proposals when he spoke to the National Association of Manufacturers in New York. The President noted a more cordial reception at the labor meeting, remarking that, "It's warmer today than it was yesterday."

Kennedy announced that along with his proposals to Congress in January for broader powers to promote foreign trade expansion he will also submit a program to aid communities, industries and workers that may be hurt by increased import competition.

"Such a program," he said, "will supplement and coordinate, not duplicate, what we are already doing or proposing to do for depressed areas, for small business, for investment incentives, and for the retraining and compensation of our unemployed workers.

"Whatever is required we will make certain that no community suffers unduly from trade. For, on the contrary, America must trade—or suffer."

Kennedy said workers and employers must exercise restraint in setting wages and prices in order to keep the nation economically sound and competitive with increasingly efficient foreign producers.

"If we cannot obtain new bargaining power to open up overseas markets," he said, "our export industries will wither—and American labor will lose jobs."

Portugal Must Relinquish Goa, Nehru Declares

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru, famous for his nonviolent approach to the solution of other nations' disputes, finds himself accused of making war talk on two Asian fronts while his troops are fighting in the Congo as part of the U.N. force.

He told parliament Thursday the situation in Goa, the Portuguese enclave on India's West coast, can not be tolerated and there is "no solution except for the Portuguese to leave."

Earlier this week, in summarizing a Red China note complaining of Indian military activities along the Himalayan border to the north, Nehru said the Chinese hinted that "if our military activities are not stopped, they may have to take action." Nehru said if an invasion came "we shall resist and repel it."

Three Dead In Campus Shooting At Girls' College

BELTON, Tex. (UPI) —Screaming in rage, a Texas rancher Thursday shot and killed both the girl who jilted him and her mother before the eyes of scores of girl students on a college campus. Then he put the muzzle of his deer rifle under his chin and killed himself.

With four bullets, Leroy Cockrell, 32, killed his ex - sweetheart, Leona Marie Dunlap, 20, a senior at Mary Hardin Baylor College and her mother, Mrs. Elvia Leona Dunlap, 42. The fifth bullet he used on himself almost tore his head off. The three lay dead before the music building of the Baptist-operated college in Belton.

"I saw this man run up to the driver's side of the car," said Mrs. Douglas Holland, chairman of the college art department. "He was screaming and pointed a gun at the bottom of the door. I thought he was killing a mad dog.

"He shot and one of the women dropped on the street. Then he turned the gun right under his chin and his head exploded."

Belton is in central Texas, 40 miles south of the city of Waco. There are 808 students in Mary Hardin Baylor College. Cockrell had a ranch near Salado, where the Dunlaps also lived. Leona Marie commuted between Salado and college.

She and Cockrell had known each other most of their lives. Their romance started when she was in high school. They became engaged but recently Leona Marie, described by other students as a "blonde but not pretty girl," broke the engagement.

Cuban Reportedly Threatens Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—A reported threat by a pro-Castro Cuban against the life of President Kennedy was under investigation Thursday. The chief executive was in New York earlier in the week for speaking engagements.

Because of the purported threat special police details were assigned to guard the President while he was here Tuesday and Wednesday. Weather forced a change in his arrival route, complicating the security arrangements.

Sneak Attack Still Possible, U.S. Told On 20th Anniversary Of Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) —Over the watery tomb which was the scene of Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor 20 years ago, the commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet warned America Thursday to keep strong against "hostile forces."

Adm. John H. Sides, spoke to a group huddled above the sunken hulk of the battleship USS Arizona. He called on the nation to be ready "to defend the freedoms for which these men fought and died."

His rostrum was a platform astride the grave of 1,102 men burned to death or drowned in the first few minutes of the attack a generation ago. The ceremony marked the 20th anniversary of the attack.

The usually bustling harbor was still as the clear, strong tones of a Navy bugle sounded colors at 7:55 a.m.—the instant when the first bomb fell on the harbor.

"In this missile and thermonuclear age, it would be foolhardy indeed to assume that surprise attack will never be a possibility," said Adm. Sides.

"The lessons learned are recorded in blood.

"Hostile forces are constantly at work, probing our strength and testing our resolve. The outlook is the same for the foreseeable future. We must be prepared to meet the challenge."

Taking part in the memorial tribute were military leaders, congressmen, and representatives of veterans organizations, including 108 Pearl Hardor raid survivors from New England.

Sixty Gold Star mothers, many of whose sons died on the Arizona, also were here.

Most of the New England veterans and Gold Star mothers were aboard the cruiser Oklahoma City which was moored beside the Arizona memorial platform for the services.

A few were on the memorial with Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii, five U.S. representatives and Adm. Sides.

Border Shooting

HONG KONG (AP) — Twenty-one Communist officials trying to flee from Communist China were shot by border guards on the Communist side of the Hong Kong-China border, press reports said Thursday.

The reports said the Communist officials, all in uniform, tried to cross the border but none reached Hong Kong.

The reports could not be confirmed.

He was en route home from Paris, and reached Ndola, near the Katanga border in Northern Rhodesia, in late afternoon.

Tshombe, in angrily denouncing the U.N. air attacks on Kolwezi and near Jadotville Wednesday, charged American planes were "killing women and children."

The U.N. has announced that the attacks on an air base and a bridge were by Swedish and Indian jets and American planes were not involved.

Russia Charges Sabotage Of UN Katanga Effort

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union Thursday charged Britain, France and Belgium with openly sabotaging the U.N. effort in Katanga and demanded that such action be stopped.

The accusation was made shortly after a U.N. spokesman announced that grounded U.S. Globemasters will resume transport of U.N. troops and supplies into embattled Elisabethville Friday.

A statement distributed by the Soviet U.N. delegation indicated the Russians might ask for a Security Council meeting to consider the charges.

The charges were denied immediately by a British delegation spokesman, who accused the Soviet Union of spreading malicious propaganda.

Referring to the council resolution of Nov. 21 empowering the United Nations to take new action in secessionist Katanga Province, the Soviet statement said: "The United Nations cannot remain passive in the face of open sabotage of the Security Council decision on the part of the colonial powers and their agents in Katanga."

The U.N. spokesman called a news conference to tell of the U.N. decision.

He said the planes will be provided with U.N. fighter escort to guard against attack. The big cargo-carrying planes were ordered grounded after one was hit by small arms fire while coming in for a landing at Elisabethville airport. It suffered no serious damage.

The spokesman said official word of the flight renewals had been received in Leopoldville and relayed to U.N. headquarters.

Bizerte Talks Open

ROME (AP)—France and Tunisia opened exploratory talks Thursday aimed at solving the thorny problem of the Bizerte naval base and other questions between the two countries. First discussions, in the Tunisian Embassy on the northern outskirts of Rome, lasted for 80 minutes. Afterward, neither delegation would comment.

Hemispheric Unity Possible, Kennedy Says

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy told young members of the Democratic party Thursday he believes the problem of holding the peoples of the Western Hemisphere together in political freedom and economic abundance can be solved.

"I think the problems are upon us and these are problems that can be met," the President told a clapping, cheering crowd of delegates at the national convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of America.

But they can be met, he said, only "by those who are willing to do the hard work and come up with a hard solution."

And he said it is especially important that Young Democrats come forward, because they will be active over the next 40 years and "must live with the results of all the judgments that we make today."

Kennedy addressed the Young Democrats at their convention hotel before he went to another hotel to speak to the AFL-CIO convention.

Plan To Settle Crisis Spurned By Balaguer

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The government of President Joaquin Balaguer rejected Thursday night the latest opposition plan to settle the Dominican political crisis.

It was the second such rejection by Balaguer, a holdover from the Trujillo era, within a week, and came on the 10th day of a paralyzing general strike aimed at forcing him to resign.

Earlier in the day, huge crowds jammed into the main streets of Santo Domingo following reports that the opposition had won its victory in the crisis with an agreement under which Balaguer would step down.

The nation's military hierarchy went to the national palace led by air force Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria. Balaguer last month made the general secretary of state for armed forces, putting him in direct succession behind the president.

It was the second time since Nov. 30 that Balaguer, with the backing of the powerful military, spurned opposition demands that he clear out and make way for a small junta to lead the nation to democracy after 31 years of feudal Trujillo rule.

On that day the military called for an all-powerful junta headed by Balaguer that would have given the military virtual autonomy. This time the military made no announcement of its views. But the opposition plan was reported to have demanded that Rodriguez Echavarria be replaced by another man to take over when Balaguer resigns.

Balaguer said the government had now offered another plan and declared that negotiations would continue.

YONKERS, N. Y. (UPI) — Gus Hall, American Communist party leader, paid a $25 traffic fine Thursday for failing to keep to the right.

Hall received a summons last week. He also was charged with driving without a license and with improper registration.

He pleaded guilty in Yonkers special sessions court Thursday and said of his driving on the wrong side of the road:

The car in which he had been driving, a fawn-colored 1961 convertible which had been impounded by police, was ordered returned to him.

N.H. Governor Names Murphy To U.S. Senate

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Maurice J. Murphy Jr. was appointed successor to Sen. Styles Bridges Thursday and indicated he would follow closely the conservatism and strong anti-Communist stands of the late dean of Senate Republicans.

"I'm sure that on major issues my thinking will be much along the same lines as the late senator," said Murphy, who at 34 will be the youngest member of the Senate.

Murphy was appointed to a one-year interim term by Gov Wesley Powell, his friend and political mentor.

Asked by a reporter whether he considered himself to be a conservative Republican, the new senator said: "As to a label, the people of New Hampshire can determine that by my actions in the U.S. Senate."

The young attorney said it was a little soon to discuss in detail any plans for Washington. But he did tell a crowded news conference that he felt humble to be succeeding "one of New Hampshire's illustrious sons and a great United States senator."

Powell's naming of Murphy hit the capital city as something of a surprise. Most of the guessing had been that Powell would name either himself or Doloris Bridges, the senator's widow.

Kennedy Asks Labor Support Trade Policies

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy warned American workers Thursday they face loss of jobs unless they support his program for more liberal foreign trade policies.

The President appeaied for organized labor backing on this and other administration proposals in an enthusiastically received address at the opening session of the AFL-CIO convention.

Kennedy had made a similar appeal to businessmen only Wednesday for support for his foreign trade proposals when he spoke to the National Association of Manufacturers in New York. The President noted a more cordial reception at the labor meeting, remarking that, "It's warmer today than it was yesterday."

Kennedy announced that along with his proposals to Congress in January for broader powers to promote foreign trade expansion he will also submit a program to aid communities, industries and workers that may be hurt by increased import competition.

"Such a program," he said, "will supplement and coordinate, not duplicate, what we are already doing or proposing to do for depressed areas, for small business, for investment incentives, and for the retraining and compensation of our unemployed workers.

"Whatever is required we will make certain that no community suffers unduly from trade. For, on the contrary, America must trade—or suffer."

Kennedy said workers and employers must exercise restraint in setting wages and prices in order to keep the nation economically sound and competitive with increasingly efficient foreign producers.

"If we cannot obtain new bargaining power to open up overseas markets," he said, "our export industries will wither—and American labor will lose jobs."

Portugal Must Relinquish Goa, Nehru Declares

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru, famous for his nonviolent approach to the solution of other nations' disputes, finds himself accused of making war talk on two Asian fronts while his troops are fighting in the Congo as part of the U.N. force.

He told parliament Thursday the situation in Goa, the Portuguese enclave on India's West coast, can not be tolerated and there is "no solution except for the Portuguese to leave."

Earlier this week, in summarizing a Red China note complaining of Indian military activities along the Himalayan border to the north, Nehru said the Chinese hinted that "if our military activities are not stopped, they may have to take action." Nehru said if an invasion came "we shall resist and repel it."

Cuban Reportedly Threatens Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—A reported threat by a pro-Castro Cuban against the life of President Kennedy was under investigation Thursday. The chief executive was in New York earlier in the week for speaking engagements.

Because of the purported threat special police details were assigned to guard the President while he was here Tuesday and Wednesday. Weather forced a change in his arrival route, complicating the security arrangements.

Three Dead In Campus Shooting At Girls' College

BELTON, Tex. (UPI) —Screaming in rage, a Texas rancher Thursday shot and killed both the girl who jilted him and her mother before the eyes of scores of girl students on a college campus. Then he put the muzzle of his deer rifle under his chin and killed himself.

With four bullets, Leroy Cockrell, 32, killed his ex - sweetheart, Leona Marie Dunlap, 20, a senior at Mary Hardin Baylor College and her mother, Mrs. Elvia Leona Dunlap, 42. The fifth bullet he used on himself almost tore his head off. The three lay dead before the music building of the Baptist-operated college in Belton.

"I saw this man run up to the driver's side of the car," said Mrs. Douglas Holland, chairman of the college art department. "He was screaming and pointed a gun at the bottom of the door. I thought he was killing a mad dog.

"He shot and one of the women dropped on the street. Then he turned the gun right under his chin and his head exploded."

Belton is in central Texas, 40 miles south of the city of Waco. There are 808 students in Mary Hardin Baylor College. Cockrell had a ranch near Salado, where the Dunlaps also lived. Leona Marie commuted between Salado and college.

She and Cockrell had known each other most of their lives. Their romance started when she was in high school. They became engaged but recently Leona Marie, described by other students as a "blonde but not pretty girl," broke the engagement.

Sneak Attack Still Possible, U.S. Told On 20th Anniversary Of Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) —Over the watery tomb which was the scene of Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor 20 years ago, the commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet warned America Thursday to keep strong against "hostile forces."

Adm. John H. Sides, spoke to a group huddled above the sunken hulk of the battleship USS Arizona. He called on the nation to be ready "to defend the freedoms for which these men fought and died."

His rostrum was a platform astride the grave of 1,102 men burned to death or drowned in the first few minutes of the attack a generation ago. The ceremony marked the 20th anniversary of the attack.

The usually bustling harbor was still as the clear, strong tones of a Navy bugle sounded colors at 7:55 a.m.—the instant when the first bomb fell on the harbor.

"In this missile and thermonuclear age, it would be foolhardy indeed to assume that surprise attack will never be a possibility," said Adm. Sides.

"The lessons learned are recorded in blood.

"Hostile forces are constantly at work, probing our strength and testing our resolve. The outlook is the same for the foreseeable future. We must be prepared to meet the challenge."

Taking part in the memorial tribute were military leaders, congressmen, and representatives of veterans organizations, including 108 Pearl Hardor raid survivors from New England.

Sixty Gold Star mothers, many of whose sons died on the Arizona, also were here.

Most of the New England veterans and Gold Star mothers were aboard the cruiser Oklahoma City which was moored beside the Arizona memorial platform for the services.

A few were on the memorial with Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii, five U.S. representatives and Adm. Sides.

The reports could not be confirmed.

Joblessness Rate Below 6.8% First Time In Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced Thursday that the rate of unemployment dropped below the 6.8 per cent level last month for the first time in a year.

The seasonally adjusted figure for November was 6.1 per cent of the total labor force. This compares with 6.3 per cent in November a year ago and is the lowest since September, 1960, when the figure was 5.7 per cent.

He announced the November employment tallies showed a total of 67,349,000 jobs, a record high for the month. The President gave out the statistics several hours in advance of their release in Washington and cited them as an indication that the economy is beginning to climb.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg predicted in Miami that there will be "further significant improvement" in the coming months.

He said the nation still has a serious unemployment problem, however, and if the 6.1 per cent rate remains unchanged the number of jobless will rise seasonally to 4.1 million in December, 4.9 million in January and 5 million in February.

Raymond D. Larson, manpower assistant at the Labor Department, said officials were "pleasantly surprised" at what he called the long-awaited improvement in the job picture.

The actual number of unemployed in November was 3,990,000, an increase of only 56,000 over the October total of 3,934,000. Normally, an increase of about 500,000 could have been expected because of the seasonal shutdown in farming, construction and other outdoor employment.

The number of long-term unemployed—those out of work 15 weeks or more — dropped by 100,000 to 1.1 million, the lowest level this year.

Jilted Fiance Draws $10 Fine For Phone Call

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Magistrate William J. Dwyer ruled Thursday that a jilted fiance can't use the telephone to annoy his former sweetheart.

He convicted Charles Stonheart, 25, of a charge of using the telephone to annoy Miss Deanne Lee Shafer, to whom he had been engaged.

Miss Shafer, who brought the charge, testified Stoneheart called her at 3 a. m. and wanted to know about her new boy friend, using abusive and threatening language. Stoneheart testified he merely wanted to talk things over and get back the marriage license issued before the engagement was broken.

Magistrate Dwyer, fining Stoneheart $10, said it was a woman's privilege to change her mind. "It is much better to change the mind before marrying than after marrying," he said.

Archbishop's Condition Grave

BALTIMORE (AP)—Archbishop Francis Patrick Keough, hospitalized in Washington Nov. 30 after suffering a cerebral thrombosis, has developed complications described as extremely grave.

The 70-year-old Roman Catholic prelate was placed on the critical list Thursday at Georgetown University Hospital and remained critical though he rallied somewhat late in the day.

Keoughs personal physician, Dr. George E. Schreiner, said in a statement issued through the Baltimore chancery office:

"After an initially satisfactory hospital course, Archbishop Keough has developed serious complications and has been placed on the critical list . . . Archbishop Keough had been convalescing satisactorily from a recent cerebral thrombosis when he had a sudden onset of bactermia (bloodstream infection) and shock.

"He also has intestinal bleeding and is receiving blood transfusions. While his condition is temporarily stabilized in response to intensive treatment, the new complications are regarded as extremely grave by his attending physician."

Referendum Plan Assailed By Mahoney

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Legislative Council recommendation to drastically change the requirements for placing a bill on a referendum ballot was called "outrageous" Thursday by George P. Mahoney.

"The provision in the Maryland constitution which allows a statewide bill, which has been passed by the legislature and signed by th governor, to be placed on the ballot by petition. . was established as a safeguard so that the electorate could have a voice in controversial legislation," said Mahoney, a candidate for governor in the Democratic primary campaign.

The Legislative Council, between sessions study arm of the General Assembly, approved Wednesday a proposal to increase the number of signatures required to place legislation on referendum from 10,000 to 10 per cent of the total vote cast in the most recent gubernatorial election.

"While it is undoubtedly true that the present requirement of 10,000 signatures is low," said Mahoney, "it seems outrageous to increase the requirement better than seven fold."

Mahoney heads a primary campaign ticket which includes Del. Blair Lee III, D-Montgomery, for U. S. senator and State Sen. Samuel W. Barrick, D-Frederick, for attorney general.

"Since there were slightly under 60,000 votes cast in the gubernatorial election of 1958, this would mean 76,000 signatures would be necessary today" to petition a bill to referendum, Mahoney said.

The Baltimore County contractor claimed "it will mean the end of any possibility of moving a bill to referendum . . . if this recommendation is carried into law."

"To collect 76,000 signatures for anything is a superhuman job. The signatures alone would cover 3,800 pages, on a basis of 20 signatures to a page.

"My recommendation would be to increase the required number of signatures from 10,000 to five per cent of the total vote cast in the last gubernatorial election."

Echo Of Proxy Battle Heard

NEW YORK (AP) — An echo of the Murchison-Kirby proxy fight for control of Alleghany Corp. reverberated through financial circles Thursday.

The victorious Murchison brothers of Texas defended their plan for carrying out a campaign pledge to push for a 10 for 1 split in shares of Investors Diversified Services, $4 billion investment company complex controlled by Alleghany.

Allan P. Kirby, loser in the mammoth proxy contest last spring but still Alleghany's biggest stockholder, once again has opposed the Texans, this time by objecting to their procedure.

In October, the reorganized IDS board asked Securities and Exchange Commission approval of split proposal, which would affect two classes of shares — voting and non-voting. It said a plan for reclassifying the stock to extend the voting right to all shareholders would be filed within 45 days after SEC approval of the split.

In his protest, Kirby questioned whether a fair reclassification could be developed within the time mentioned, and asked public hearings by the SEC on the IDS application. He said he did not oppose the split itself.

Hagerstown, County Clash On Financing

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The City of Hagerstown and Washington County are feuding about the financing of independent agencies.

Mayor Winslow Burhans and his council have advised the heads of seven agencies they should submit their entire budget to the Board of County Commissioners, as the city will no longer pay part of their operating costs.

In the past, it has been the custom of the city to pay about $120,000 a year toward operation of the Washington County Health Department, the Washington County Hospital, the Museum of Fine Arts, the Washington County Library, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the United Fund.

Burhans contends the situation is unfair because city residents make a contribution as city taxpayers and also as county taxpayers. The city published a full-page newspaper advertisement Thursday calling the situation "the unfair burden on city taxpayers."

The advertisement also contended that government services supported by city taxpayers with little or no benefit resulting amount to $423,000 a year.

Charles Downey, a member of the Board of Commissioners, replied Thursday that the county is limited by legislative act as to the total amount of money it can give the agencies, and any change would have to be authorized by the General Assembly.

NASA To Develop 2-Man Space Craft

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday night it is extending its present Mercury program to include production of a two-man space craft capable of docking with another vehicle in earth orbit.

The announcement made from NASA's new space craft center here said preliminary cost estimates of the program total about $500 million. This would be in addition to $450-500 million being spent on the present Mercury program to put a man into space on three orbits around the earth.

Pearl Harbor Memories

By The Associated Press

"The memory of that day should serve us well," President Kennedy said Thursday on the 20th anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

As the President addressed the AFL-CIO convention at Miami Beach, Fla., the recollections of many Americans drifted back a fifth of a century to their nation's first taste of World War II.

Their memories:

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt—She was in the White House when an usher told her of the attack:

"Just before dinner I got to speak to Franklin. He was very tired, but on the whole very calm—and chiefly interested in what he was going to do next. The worst had happened. He had hoped we would not be engaged in a two-front war—and now we were."

George E. Elliott Jr., of Long Branch, N. J., then a young soldier on Oahu in the Hawaiian Islands, learning how to operate radar:

"We were supposed to shut the set down at 7 that morning. I had been assigned to the radar section three months. I was trying to learn to operate the equipment. I asked our section chief if I could keep the set on."

Shortly after 7 a.m. he and his immediate superior, also a private, picked up a plot of incoming airplanes. They telephoned Ft. Shafter near Pearl Harbor, but an officer believed it was a flight of U.S. bombers from San Francisco.

Elliott says that "like every other American at that time, and that goes for military and civilian, we never dreamed that the Japanese would attack. I have no regrets. It's easy to be a 'Monday morning quarterback' and I honestly feel that we did the best we could. . .'

"Shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning I was alone on duty with a telephone operator. A few minutes later we got a call from the radar station named Opana. The operator there said he had picked up a large plot north of Oahu. He said something to the effect 'It's the biggest I've seen.'

"I paused, thought about it, then told him 'All right' or something like that. My reaction was that because of its size it must be the flight of B17s from San Francisco. It developed, in fact, that the B17s became intermingled with the attack.

"A few minutes later I stepped outside. I saw what I thought was antiaircraft practice bursts west of Pearl Harbor.

"I watched these for about four or five minutes when the telephone operator called to me and said Wheeler Field was under attack."

At Pearl Harbor Thursday, Adm. John H. Sides, U.S. Pacific Fleet commander, spoke at commemoration services:

"The lessons learned are recorded in blood. The important thing for us here today, and for all Americans, is to pledge anew that our country shall always remain strong and shall always be ready to defend the freedoms for which we stand and for which these men fought and died.'

Atty. Gen. Kennedy directed a full investigation and gave orders to "let the chips fall where they may." He kept in daily touch with an investigator he sent here from Washington, Special Asst. Atty. Gen. William G. Hundley.

Justice Keogh, whose court is in Brooklyn, is a brother of Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, D-N.Y., a leadin supporter of the Kennedy administration. The congressman, himself, was not involved in the fix case.

Corallo, 47, is a labor racketeer once accused of trying to muscle into control of all Teamsters Union locals in New York. He was the target of Senate investigators earlier this year, but refused to answer 83 questions put to him about his activities. The indictment accuses him of helping raise the $35,000 involved in the fix plot.

Kahaner, 36, is a Republican who served eight years as assistant U.S. attorney in Brooklyn, and for a time as chief assistant. He resigned last July and entered private law practice.

Availability Of Type III Oral Polio Vaccine Still Uncertain, PHS Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public Health Service spokesmen said Thursday it is still uncertain when oral polio vaccine of all three needed types may be available in quantity.

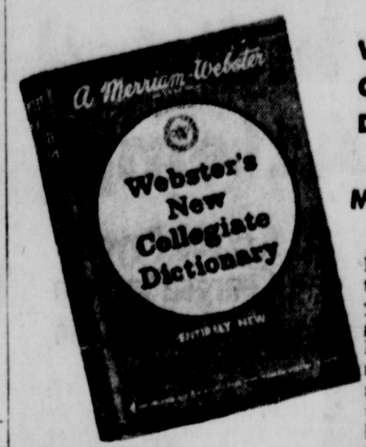

Only two types of the easy-to-take oral, live-virus vaccine have been cleared for general use in this country.

A spokesman for Charles Pfizer & Co., New York, said the firm has oral vaccine of types I and II, the licensed types, for sale if anybody wants to buy it for prescription use.

The Pfizer spokesman said the company has applied for a license for type III, but has had no indication from the National Institutes of Health when clearance might be given.

The vending machine type of business is still on the increase in the United States.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Archbishop Francis Patrick Keough, hospitalized in Washington Nov. 30 after suffering a cerebral thrombosis, has developed complications described as extremely grave.

The 70-year-old Roman Catholic prelate was placed on the critical list Thursday at Georgetown University Hospital and remained critical though he rallied somewhat late in the day.

Keoughs personal physician, Dr. George E. Schreiner, said in a statement issued through the Baltimore chancery office:

"After an initially satisfactory hospital course, Archbishop Keough has developed serious complications and has been placed on the critical list . . . Archbishop Keough had been convalescing satisactorily from a recent cerebral thrombosis when he had a sudden onset of bactermia (bloodstream infection) and shock.

"He also has intestinal bleeding and is receiving blood transfusions. While his condition is temporarily stabilized in response to intensive treatment, the new complications are regarded as extremely grave by his attending physician."

Referendum Plan Assailed By Mahoney

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Legislative Council recommendation to drastically change the requirements for placing a bill on a referendum ballot was called "outrageous" Thursday by George P. Mahoney.

"The provision in the Maryland constitution which allows a statewide bill, which has been passed by the legislature and signed by th governor, to be placed on the ballot by petition. . was established as a safeguard so that the electorate could have a voice in controversial legislation," said Mahoney, a candidate for governor in the Democratic primary campaign.

The Legislative Council, between sessions study arm of the General Assembly, approved Wednesday a proposal to increase the number of signatures required to place legislation on referendum from 10,000 to 10 per cent of the total vote cast in the most recent gubernatorial election.

"While it is undoubtedly true that the present requirement of 10,000 signatures is low," said Mahoney, "it seems outrageous to increase the requirement better than seven fold."

Mahoney heads a primary campaign ticket which includes Del. Blair Lee III, D-Montgomery, for U. S. senator and State Sen. Samuel W. Barrick, D-Frederick, for attorney general.

"Since there were slightly under 60,000 votes cast in the gubernatorial election of 1958, this would mean 76,000 signatures would be necessary today" to petition a bill to referendum, Mahoney said.

The Baltimore County contractor claimed "it will mean the end of any possibility of moving a bill to referendum . . . if this recommendation is carried into law."

"To collect 76,000 signatures for anything is a superhuman job. The signatures alone would cover 3,800 pages, on a basis of 20 signatures to a page.

"My recommendation would be to increase the required number of signatures from 10,000 to five per cent of the total vote cast in the last gubernatorial election."

Echo Of Proxy Battle Heard

NEW YORK (AP) — An echo of the Murchison-Kirby proxy fight for control of Alleghany Corp. reverberated through financial circles Thursday.

The victorious Murchison brothers of Texas defended their plan for carrying out a campaign pledge to push for a 10 for 1 split in shares of Investors Diversified Services, $4 billion investment company complex controlled by Alleghany.

Allan P. Kirby, loser in the mammoth proxy contest last spring but still Alleghany's biggest stockholder, once again has opposed the Texans, this time by objecting to their procedure.

In October, the reorganized IDS board asked Securities and Exchange Commission approval of split proposal, which would affect two classes of shares — voting and non-voting. It said a plan for reclassifying the stock to extend the voting right to all shareholders would be filed within 45 days after SEC approval of the split.

In his protest, Kirby questioned whether a fair reclassification could be developed within the time mentioned, and asked public hearings by the SEC on the IDS application. He said he did not oppose the split itself.

Hagerstown, County Clash On Financing

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The City of Hagerstown and Washington County are feuding about the financing of independent agencies.

Mayor Winslow Burhans and his council have advised the heads of seven agencies they should submit their entire budget to the Board of County Commissioners, as the city will no longer pay part of their operating costs.

In the past, it has been the custom of the city to pay about $120,000 a year toward operation of the Washington County Health Department, the Washington County Hospital, the Museum of Fine Arts, the Washington County Library, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the United Fund.

Burhans contends the situation is unfair because city residents make a contribution as city taxpayers and also as county taxpayers. The city published a full-page newspaper advertisement Thursday calling the situation "the unfair burden on city taxpayers."

The advertisement also contended that government services supported by city taxpayers with little or no benefit resulting amount to $423,000 a year.

Charles Downey, a member of the Board of Commissioners, replied Thursday that the county is limited by legislative act as to the total amount of money it can give the agencies, and any change would have to be authorized by the General Assembly.

NASA To Develop 2-Man Space Craft

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday night it is extending its present Mercury program to include production of a two-man space craft capable of docking with another vehicle in earth orbit.

The announcement made from NASA's new space craft center here said preliminary cost estimates of the program total about $500 million. This would be in addition to $450-500 million being spent on the present Mercury program to put a man into space on three orbits around the earth.

Pearl Harbor Memories

By The Associated Press

"The memory of that day should serve us well," President Kennedy said Thursday on the 20th anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

As the President addressed the AFL-CIO convention at Miami Beach, Fla., the recollections of many Americans drifted back a fifth of a century to their nation's first taste of World War II.

Their memories:

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt—She was in the White House when an usher told her of the attack:

"Just before dinner I got to speak to Franklin. He was very tired, but on the whole very calm—and chiefly interested in what he was going to do next. The worst had happened. He had hoped we would not be engaged in a two-front war—and now we were."

George E. Elliott Jr., of Long Branch, N. J., then a young soldier on Oahu in the Hawaiian Islands, learning how to operate radar:

"We were supposed to shut the set down at 7 that morning. I had been assigned to the radar section three months. I was trying to learn to operate the equipment. I asked our section chief if I could keep the set on."

Shortly after 7 a.m. he and his immediate superior, also a private, picked up a plot of incoming airplanes. They telephoned Ft. Shafter near Pearl Harbor, but an officer believed it was a flight of U.S. bombers from San Francisco.

Elliott says that "like every other American at that time, and that goes for military and civilian, we never dreamed that the Japanese would attack. I have no regrets. It's easy to be a 'Monday morning quarterback' and I honestly feel that we did the best we could. . .'

"Shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning I was alone on duty with a telephone operator. A few minutes later we got a call from the radar station named Opana. The operator there said he had picked up a large plot north of Oahu. He said something to the effect 'It's the biggest I've seen.'

"I paused, thought about it, then told him 'All right' or something like that. My reaction was that because of its size it must be the flight of B17s from San Francisco. It developed, in fact, that the B17s became intermingled with the attack.

"A few minutes later I stepped outside. I saw what I thought was antiaircraft practice bursts west of Pearl Harbor.

"I watched these for about four or five minutes when the telephone operator called to me and said Wheeler Field was under attack."

At Pearl Harbor Thursday, Adm. John H. Sides, U.S. Pacific Fleet commander, spoke at commemoration services:

"The lessons learned are recorded in blood. The important thing for us here today, and for all Americans, is to pledge anew that our country shall always remain strong and shall always be ready to defend the freedoms for which we stand and for which these men fought and died.'

plot when Moore purportedly boasted he had Rayfiel "in his pocket." The federal judge tipped off the Justice Department in Washington, that sent Moore and the two other juke box case defendants to prison.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy directed a full investigation and gave orders to "let the chips fall where they may." He kept in daily touch with an investigator he sent here from Washington, Special Asst. Atty. Gen. William G. Hundley.

Justice Keogh, whose court is in Brooklyn, is a brother of Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, D-N.Y., a leadin supporter of the Kennedy administration. The congressman, himself, was not involved in the fix case.

Corallo, 47, is a labor racketeer once accused of trying to muscle into control of all Teamsters Union locals in New York. He was the target of Senate investigators earlier this year, but refused to answer 83 questions put to him about his activities. The indictment accuses him of helping raise the $35,000 involved in the fix plot.

Kahaner, 36, is a Republican who served eight years as assistant U.S. attorney in Brooklyn, and for a time as chief assistant. He resigned last July and entered private law practice.

Availability Of Type III Oral Polio Vaccine Still Uncertain, PHS Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public Health Service spokesmen said Thursday it is still uncertain when oral polio vaccine of all three needed types may be available in quantity.

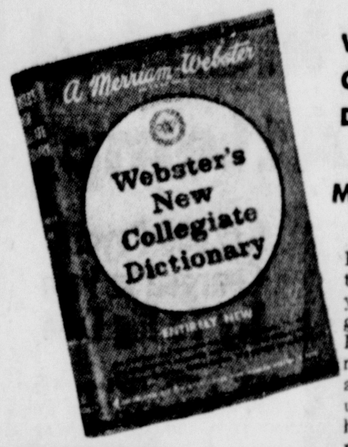

Only two types of the easy-to-take oral, live-virus vaccine have been cleared for general use in this country.

A spokesman for Charles Pfizer & Co., New York, said the firm has oral vaccine of types I and II, the licensed types, for sale if anybody wants to buy it for prescription use.

The Pfizer spokesman said the company has applied for a license for type III, but has had no indication from the National Institutes of Health when clearance might be given.

The vending machine type of business is still on the increase in the United States.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sales and earnings of most building supply companies are likely to make good recoveries next year, an investment advisory service says.

However, the Value Line Investment Survey is of the opinion that a keen competitive situation in most products will prevent a general return to the 1959 level of profits.

It bases its outlook for sales and earnings on an estimated 6 per cent increase in new construction spending in 1962 over 1961.

Other sources predict that new housing starts will rise to 1.35 or 1.4 million.

Value Line agrees that residential activity, which has lagged until recently, is expected to provide much of the thrust for next year's advance.

It says building materials makers whose primary market is housing can expect the best demand for their products since 1959.

"But," it adds, "with the vacancy ratio at the highest level in many years, the increase in family formations expected to be modest and the threat of tighter long-term money rates by next spring overhanging the mortgage market, a real boom in home seems improbable."

Value Line points out that it is more difficult to make a profit in the building materials manufacturing business now than at any time in the past 10 years.

This is because capacity for almost every type of product exceeds demand, imported products are cutting into some markets and swollen fixed costs created by the capital investment programs of the past five years put pressure on managements to cut prices in attempt to obtain volume.

There are quite a few indications of a strong January for the stock market, says Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co.

Weakness in the electrical equipment issues — 22 companies were hit by price-fixing damage suits—has done nothing to upset the balance of strength, he feels.

Korean War Vets Get Special Dividend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Veterans Administration (VA) is mailing $29.5 million worth of special dividend checks to Korean War veterans holding "W" type government insurance policies.

John S. Gleason Jr., administrator of veterans affairs, said the mailing of the special dividend checks is expected to be completed early this month.

An additional 200,000 Korean veterans who have not converted nor exchanged their "RS" insurance for "W" type policies will also be eligible for dividend checks if they convert or exchange before the Sept. 14, 1963, time limit.

World War I and World War II veterans are not included in present distribution.

Servicemen Loan Firm Shareholders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has disclosed that about 5,500 servicemen are listed as shareholders in four Maryland savings and loan associations — one whose charter was revoked and three now in receivership.

The Defense Department said that until it stepped in recently, an estimated $250,000 a month in voluntary military payroll allotments went to the four associations. Most of this money, in turn, was funneled into finance companies with which the servicemen had made loans.

The bulk of the money went to the Standard Savings and Loan Association of Baltimore, whose charter was revoked by the state Oct. 26. The state contended Standard was not a bona-fide association, but a collection agency for American Finance Corp. of New York.

The three associations, all with offices in Silver Spring, are Mutual Security, Military Service and Family Savings and Home Loan.

It bases its outlook for sales and earnings on an estimated 6 per cent increase in new construction spending in 1962 over 1961.

Other sources predict that new housing starts will rise to 1.35 or 1.4 million.

Value Line agrees that residential activity, which has lagged until recently, is expected to provide much of the thrust for next year's advance.

It says building materials makers whose primary market is housing can expect the best demand for their products since 1959.

"But," it adds, "with the vacancy ratio at the highest level in many years, the increase in family formations expected to be modest and the threat of tighter long-term money rates by next spring overhanging the mortgage market, a real boom in home seems improbable."

Value Line points out that it is more difficult to make a profit in the building materials manufacturing business now than at any time in the past 10 years.

This is because capacity for almost every type of product exceeds demand, imported products are cutting into some markets and swollen fixed costs created by the capital investment programs of the past five years put pressure on managements to cut prices in attempt to obtain volume.

There are quite a few indications of a strong January for the stock market, says Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co.

Weakness in the electrical equipment issues — 22 companies were hit by price-fixing damage suits—has done nothing to upset the balance of strength, he feels.

Korean War Vets Get Special Dividend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Veterans Administration (VA) is mailing $29.5 million worth of special dividend checks to Korean War veterans holding "W" type government insurance policies.

John S. Gleason Jr., administrator of veterans affairs, said the mailing of the special dividend checks is expected to be completed early this month.

An additional 200,000 Korean veterans who have not converted nor exchanged their "RS" insurance for "W" type policies will also be eligible for dividend checks if they convert or exchange before the Sept. 14, 1963, time limit.

World War I and World War II veterans are not included in present distribution.

Servicemen Loan Firm Shareholders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has disclosed that about 5,500 servicemen are listed as shareholders in four Maryland savings and loan associations — one whose charter was revoked and three now in receivership.

The Defense Department said that until it stepped in recently, an estimated $250,000 a month in voluntary military payroll allotments went to the four associations. Most of this money, in turn, was funneled into finance companies with which the servicemen had made loans.

The bulk of the money went to the Standard Savings and Loan Association of Baltimore, whose charter was revoked by the state Oct. 26. The state contended Standard was not a bona-fide association, but a collection agency for American Finance Corp. of New York.

The three associations, all with offices in Silver Spring, are Mutual Security, Military Service and Family Savings and Home Loan.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Look for a spurt in fall-out associated with things gastronomical.

It happens every year about this time as the pace of pre-holiday feasting quickens.

By the dab of gravy or whatnot on the vest or bodice you can spot the victim who's been wounded in gourmet action.

The best way to cope with this fall-out is to be forewarned — and forarmed.

Clay Hardin, chief analyst at the National Institute of Drycleaning Laboratories in Silver Spring, Md., said the first and best way to avoid the gravy trail is to use a bigger napkin.

Research at the institute shows that the chance of becoming a fall-out casualty varies directly with the size of the appetite and inversely with the size of the napkin.

When the dribbles miss the napkin and fall on your best clothes, there's instant action that helps. Hardin made the following first-aid suggestions:

—Pick up rather than wipe or rub the gravy or whatever it is that has missed the target. Use a knife or spoon.

—Then lightly sponge the area with cool water if the fabric is not silk, satin or taffeta. Because these particular fabrics water-spot, use a dry cloth the same as you would a blotter. Blot; don't rub.

—If the spot doesn't respond to this simple, direct treatment, forget about it and have a professional do the work.

"You may get the spot out by using elbow grease, but leave a ring."

"Or, you might even remove the color along with the spot or change the finish of the fabric so it never looks quite the same again."

Don't let a spotted tog hang in the closet indefinitely. The longer a stain remains, the harder it is to remove.

"Get the garment to a drycleaner as soon as possible,' Hardin said.

"And be sure to tell your cleaner what made the spot. There are as many removal processes as there are types of stains."

Midland Girds Holiday Dress

MIDLAND — The town of Midland has been decorated for the holiday season with gaily colored lights strung along Main Street.

A Christmas tree has been erected at the intersection of Dairy Lane and Lonaconing Street and was decorated by Dennis Gray, George Hersick, Charles McGowan, and Neil Jones. Wiring and erecting the spotlights at the Honor Roll, was done by John Laslo.

Carols are played every evening at 6 o'clock at Grace Methodist Church by Miss Lee Ann Miller and Miss Dianni Snyder.

Elected To Club

100 Pa. Unemployed To Get Job Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department announced Wednesday a new job training program under the Area Redevelopment Act, involving 100 unemployed in Washington County, Pa.

The Pennsylvania program will provide for the training of 100 ward attendants for a new school and hospital, under construction at Cannonsburg, Pa., for retarded psychotic children.

The unemployed trainees will be drawn from Washington, Fayette and Green counties. Washington County, which is part of the Pittsburgh redevelopment area, expects to train an additional 200 attendants when the hospital is completed in January.

The Labor Department is providing $20,000 to the Pennsylvania State Employment Service for the selection of trainees and their subsistence payments. The latter payments will be about $32 a week.

Timely tips on Christmas trees, the livability of a heart and a warning for do-it-yourselfers are subjects in the medical news:

Holiday

The accident prevention committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics suggests these safety precautions:

Check for falling needles and brittle twigs to make sure the tree you buy is not dried out. Buy a fireproofed tree, or spray it with fireproofing material. Keep the base in water, before and after decorating.

Keep the tree away from radiators or heat ducts which will dry it. Erect it securely. Decorate lower branches within reach of children with unbreakable ornaments. Guard against defective electrical connections.

Life Or Death

How long does a heart remain strong and viable when removed from the body after death?

Researchers report that they have removed hearts from guinea pigs after death and find that after 15 minutes these heart muscles retain the ability to recover their original strength.

After 30 minutes, the hearts could recover only 50 per cent of their normal activity.

Wood Or Woe

Tropical woods can be a hazard for do-it-yourselfers, allergy experts warn.

Some tropical woods, including teak and mansonia, can cause a variety of physical problems in the mouth, the breathing tract and the skin. Persons exposed to fine saw dust from mansonia, for instance, sometimes develop inflammations in the eyes, the mouth and the stomach.

Show Or Shoe

When a woman complains that her feet hurt, and then points out that she buys only the most expensive, expertly fitted shoes, her podiatrist is likely to remind her that her shoes are only remotely the shape of her feet.

So says an article in current Podiatry, considering the latest pointed-toe, high-heeled fashions. Various reasons exist for such fashions, but they are also signs of the times, says the article.

Tomatoes were cultivated in Mexico and Peru for many centuries before the coming of the Spaniards.

Orange sticks used by women to manicure their nails are known as that because they are made from orange wood, or of a citrus wood from a tree of the orange family.

A new alloy steel has been developed which has such great tensile strength that a rod no thicker than a lead pencil can support the weight of a 43,000-pound railroad car.

HOTTEST NOVEMBER IN FORD HISTORY!

And here's what started the heat wave!

Last month more Americans bought Fords than in any November in history. The blazing success of the long Ford line was end-to-end, all across the country and up and down it, too. Everywhere the people flocked into their Ford Dealers and bought smart new Falcons and the new Falcon Squire, the glittering swift Galaxies, the famous Ford Station Wagons and the hot Thunderbirds. And they poured in to see and buy up the brand-new Fairlanes just introduced. ■ There are four magic reasons-why behind the smashing success of the long Ford line for 1962. First of all is utterly modern styling, the fresh crisp lines that are now being so widely copied by other car-makers, the smart look that dominates the industry. Second is absolute power in eleven kinds of engines, giving you anything you could want in engine options. Third is total economy—every Ford model is priced directly at your pocketbook, and every Ford, large, medium or small, gives you gasoline mileage outstanding in its class. Fourth is the service-saving concept—every Ford car is built to cut down maintenance worries and problems, with service-saving features other cars may have some day. ■ Ford leadership from Falcons to Thunderbirds is founded on trend-setting innovations . . . The hot ideas come from Ford. And at the heart of Ford success is an almost revolutionary new concept of quality . . . most serious and direct concern with the actual part-by-part quality. For the hot trends in the hot cars, for a new experience in quality, and for the best buys on the American Road, see your Ford Dealer.

FAIRLANE CLASS:

FORD FAIRLANE

The Ford Fairlane is the first member of a new class which combines the advantages of both compacts and big cars . . . you get big car room, ride and performance . . . compact savings and maneuverability. Priced below many compacts, Fairlane even rivals some in gas economy. Has twice-a-year maintenance introduced by the Galaxie.

FULL-SIZE CLASS:

GALAXIE BY FORD

Plagued Grocer Leaves Home, Attempts Robbery

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Elsa Kramer, has not seen her husband, Henry, 67, since their 28th wedding anniversary Saturday.

She found a note Sunday morning in his car which said: "By the time you find this, I'll be gone. You may hear from me."

Another note was handed to a woman cashier at a Los Angeles Wednesday. It said:

"Give me all the money you have and make haste about it. Xmas is too close to lose any time. The crime is now . . . a fait accompli."

Then Henry Kramer asked the teller to call police, which she did.

Booked on suspicion of robbery, Kramer sighed:

"For 27 years I've owned and operated a corner grocery store in Baltimore but the weight of problems got too much for me."

He said the problems included loss of business to big markets, taxes, separation from his wife "and 84 hours a week in the store."

At her home in suburban Parkville, Mrs. Kramer, 60, confirmed that her husband had been "withdrawn" in the past few years.

She said he operated the grocery store for the past 27 years, after he immigrated to the United States from Germany.

Mrs. Kramer said the grocer's outlook began to change in 1954 when a hold-up man was stabbed to death by a 16-year-old clerk in his store.

The following year bandits choked and robbed Kramer in an $18 robbery, the wife related.

"Ever since then he's been plagued with break-ins and robberies. It preyed on his mind," she said.

The grocer took to sleeping in the store after closing time to guard against burglars, his wife said. "About three weeks ago was the last hold-up. He chased the man out of the store."

Mrs. Kramer said her husband had telephoned her Saturday night to say he would spend the night in the store. "He sounded strange, as though he had been drinking," she said.

Maryland News In Brief

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The 1962 alumni drive of The Greater University of Maryland Fund will begin March 14, the planning committee of the annual alumni canvass announced Thursday.

The committee said support of the university's distinguished faculty program would be a priority objective of the drive, with continued support for scholarships, cultural and library projects.

The distinguished faculty program was established two years ago to attract and hold outstanding scholars and faculty members for both the Baltimore and College Park campuses.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A hardy perennial at the General Assembly, compulsory inspection of automobiles, will be offered again during the legislative session convening Feb. 7 in Annapolis.

A committee of the Legislative Council reported Wednesday that it favors the principle but has not decided between the use of state facilities or private garages. Del. A. Gordon Boone, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he would dust off an old bill calling for use of private garages and introduce it again.

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP) — Worcester County School Supt. Paul D. Cooper will become assistant state superintendent in administration, finance and research with the State Board of Education in Baltimore, effective Jan. 1.

Cooper will succeed Dr. William S. Sartorius, who will become superintendent of Baltimore County schools. The Worcester school board will meet next Tuesday to discuss a possible successor to Dr. Cooper.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American Airlines plane with 77 persons aboard streaked from Los Angeles to Baltimore Thursday in three hours, 32 minutes, claiming a new transcontinental record.

The Boeing 707 Astrojet, piloted by Capt. J. Stanley Smith of Los Angeles left the West Coast city at 1:57 a.m., EST, and arrived at Friendship International Airport at 5:29.28 a.m. The plane, cruising at 37,000 feet, had tailwinds up to 177 m.p.h. and at times reached a speed of 772 m.p.h.

Salad dressings made with Spanish olive oil require fewer spices or other condiments — just combine the oil with vinegar or salt and an herb such as parsley or tarragon.

Finan Asserts Sit-Ins Should Be Postponed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan has told students from seven colleges attending a mock legislature that sit-in demonstrations against Maryland restaurants should be postponed.

Finan told about 500 students at Morgan State College Wednesday the demonstrations should be postponed pending the outcome of a case filed with the U.S. Supreme Court.

When asked during a question period if he had studied public accommodation bills of such states as New York, New Jersey and Colorado, Finan replied: "It would be the essence of futility to think that you could get some of them passed in the state of Maryland."

The program sponsored by the Institute for Political Education at Morgan State was attended by students from Towson and Coppin state teachers colleges, the University of Maryland, Morgan State, Goucher, Loyola, Western Maryland and Howard University.

Acting much like their elders, the student legislators argued for two hours but did not pass a single bill.

Ironically, a confusion over rules resulted in failure of a bill on public accommodations. The mock House didn't vote on the measure because five typed copies of an amendment failed to reach the speaker, a rule of the day for all amendments.

Hundreds of the undergraduates have joined in recent sit-in demonstrations at Baltimore and Annapolis restaurants, in protest to racial segregation.

Volunteer's Call Gets Sidetracked

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. William L. Seitz, commanding officer of the 916th Engineer Group, was on maneuvers with his outfit in the woods of south Ft. Meade.

"Raven Six," Seitz said, answering the field telephone, expecting a military report.

The caller was Carl Raymond in Los Angeles, volunteering for duty with the 916th, a reserve unit recently called to active duty from Los Angeles.

An Army spokesman said the field telephone somehow was patched into the post telephone system. The spokesman wouldn't say what Col. Seitz said in response.

Hume Challenges Rivals To TV Gambling Debate

BALTIMORE (AP) — David Hume, former treasurer of the Democratic party in Maryland, has invited Gov. Tawes and George P. Mahoney — "either singly or together" — to debate legalized gambling with him on television.

Hume is opposing Tawes and Mahoney for the Democratic nomination for governor in the primary next May. He lives at Bryantown, Charles County, one of five Maryland counties where slot machines are legal.

Noting that Tawes has called slot machines and legalized gambling a local issue, and saying that Mahoney apparently agrees, Hume said:

"It has long been my contention that the slot machine problem must be recognized for what it is — a responsibility belonging to all of us . . ." Hume said the debate would be directed "not so much to personal recrimination as to shedding light of reason and law on the issue . . ."

Maryland News In Brief

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The 1962 alumni drive of The Greater University of Maryland Fund will begin March 14, the planning committee of the annual alumni canvass announced Thursday.

The committee said support of the university's distinguished faculty program would be a priority objective of the drive, with continued support for scholarships, cultural and library projects.

The distinguished faculty program was established two years ago to attract and hold outstanding scholars and faculty members for both the Baltimore and College Park campuses.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A hardy perennial at the General Assembly, compulsory inspection of automobiles, will be offered again during the legislative session convening Feb. 7 in Annapolis.

A committee of the Legislative Council reported Wednesday that it favors the principle but has not decided between the use of state facilities or private garages. Del. A. Gordon Boone, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he would dust off an old bill calling for use of private garages and introduce it again.

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP) — Worcester County School Supt. Paul D. Cooper will become assistant state superintendent in administration, finance and research with the State Board of Education in Baltimore, effective Jan. 1.

Cooper will succeed Dr. William S. Sartorius, who will become superintendent of Baltimore County schools. The Worcester school board will meet next Tuesday to discuss a possible successor to Dr. Cooper.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American Airlines plane with 77 persons aboard streaked from Los Angeles to Baltimore Thursday in three hours, 32 minutes, claiming a new transcontinental record.

The Boeing 707 Astrojet, piloted by Capt. J. Stanley Smith of Los Angeles left the West Coast city at 1:57 a.m., EST, and arrived at Friendship International Airport at 5:29.28 a.m. The plane, cruising at 37,000 feet, had tailwinds up to 177 m.p.h. and at times reached a speed of 772 m.p.h.

Finan Asserts Sit-Ins Should Be Postponed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan has told students from seven colleges attending a mock legislature that sit-in demonstrations against Maryland restaurants should be postponed.

Finan told about 500 students at Morgan State College Wednesday the demonstrations should be postponed pending the outcome of a case filed with the U.S. Supreme Court.

When asked during a question period if he had studied public accommodation bills of such states as New York, New Jersey and Colorado, Finan replied: "It would be the essence of futility to think that you could get some of them passed in the state of Maryland."

The program sponsored by the Institute for Political Education at Morgan State was attended by students from Towson and Coppin state teachers colleges, the University of Maryland, Morgan State, Goucher, Loyola, Western Maryland and Howard University.

Acting much like their elders, the student legislators argued for two hours but did not pass a single bill.

Ironically, a confusion over rules resulted in failure of a bill on public accommodations. The mock House didn't vote on the measure because five typed copies of an amendment failed to reach the speaker, a rule of the day for all amendments.

Hundreds of the undergraduates have joined in recent sit-in demonstrations at Baltimore and Annapolis restaurants, in protest to racial segregation.

Volunteer's Call Gets Sidetracked

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. William L. Seitz, commanding officer of the 916th Engineer Group, was on maneuvers with his outfit in the woods of south Ft. Meade.

"Raven Six," Seitz said, answering the field telephone, expecting a military report.

The caller was Carl Raymond in Los Angeles, volunteering for duty with the 916th, a reserve unit recently called to active duty from Los Angeles.

An Army spokesman said the field telephone somehow was patched into the post telephone system. The spokesman wouldn't say what Col. Seitz said in response.

Hume Challenges Rivals To TV Gambling Debate

BALTIMORE (AP) — David Hume, former treasurer of the Democratic party in Maryland, has invited Gov. Tawes and George P. Mahoney — "either singly or together" — to debate legalized gambling with him on television.

Hume is opposing Tawes and Mahoney for the Democratic nomination for governor in the primary next May. He lives at Brydantown, Charles County, one of five Maryland counties where slot machines are legal.

Noting that Tawes has called slot machines and legalized gambling a local issue, and saying that Mahoney apparently agrees, Hume said:

"It has long been my contention that the slot machine problem must be recognized for what it is — a responsibility belonging to all of us . . ." Hume said the debate would be directed "not so much to personal recrimination as to shedding light of reason and law on the issue . . ."

New Cars Selling At New-Record Clip

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Americans are buying new cars at a faster clip than at any time since their wild surge of 1955 when auto sales set a record.

On each of November's 25 selling days, Sundays and Thanksgiving excluded, dealers delivered 23,398 new domestic cars. The daily selling rate hasn't been that high since September 1955.

An authoritative estimate made Wednesday by Ward's Reports, a statistical service, showed total November sales of 584,950 domestic cars and 35,000 imported cars. Never before have sales in November come close to that figure. The previous high, set in 1955 and equaled last year, was 530,000 domestic cars.

Three of the five companies—General Motors, Ford and American Motors—set records for the month. Studebacker - Packard showed a 11.3 per cent gain over a year ago. Chrysler was the only company which failed to equal or better last November, but its drop of 13.6 per cent was the closest it has come all year to matching its 1960 performance.

Sales executives were elated. For many divisions, sales for October-November combined are running higher than ever at the start of a new model year.

This is the second straight month that sales have hit a projected average rate of more than seven million cars. General Motors, most optimistic of the manufacturers, has predicted sales of 7¼ million for 1962 including some 400,000 imported cars.

Production, too, is booming. November output of 646,015 was second only to November 1955, yet accounted for an increase of only 6.7 per cent in inventories. Total dealer stocks of cars as of Nov. 30 are estimated at 706,000 units, or a 33-day supply at current selling rates. A year ago stocks totaled 972,000 and peaked at well over one million in the early days of 1961.

Ward's forecasts record production for the remainder of this year and for the first quarter of 1962.

Few observers expect the current selling pace to continue indefinitely, but almost no one expects anything like the drop off which occurred last January and February when selling rates touched their lowest points in 10 years.

Coal Output Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bituminous coal output rose to 8,880,000 tons last week from 7,355,000 tons a week earlier and 7,542,000 tons in the same week last year, the National Coal Association reported Thursday.

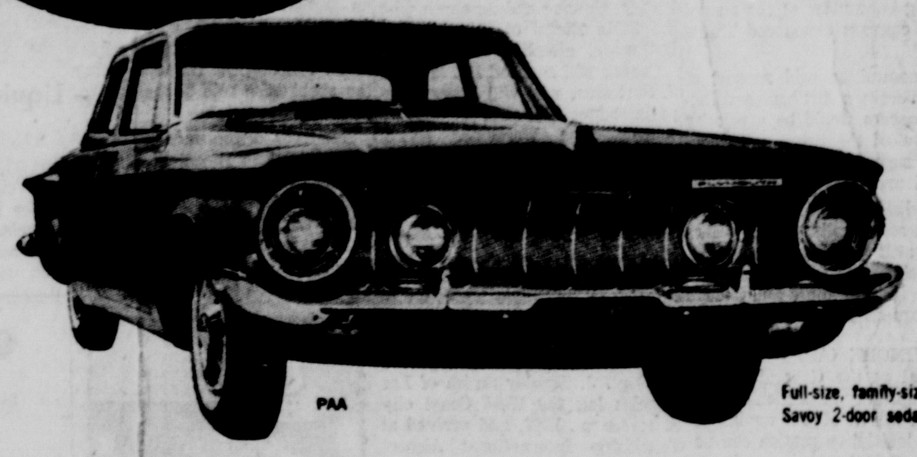

Year-to-date output of soft coal approximated 363,645,000 tons compared with 385,429,000 tons in the similar period last year.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Turn Nails Into Lovely Assets

At the eleventh hour before an important occasion, what can be done to restore perfection to a lady's fingers, when she suddenly discovers a ragged, broken nail?

It's no trick at all if you keep a patch kit in your dressing table. It should contain a book of thin fabric especially made for this purpose; a box of "false" nails; a tube or bottle of transparent, waterproof cement; a thin-tipped orange stick. With these items in stock, you're ready and able to repair the damage. Here's how:

Remove the polish from the offending nail. Don't disturb the finish on your other nails; use a generous twist of cotton on the end of your orange stick to apply the remover. Dip the polish-freed nail in soapy water; rinse and dry. Make certain their is no residue of polish or cuticle on the nail.

If your nail is split or peeling, cover the entire surface and underside smoothly with cement. While it is drying, cut out a piece of patch that will amply cover the split. Just before the cement is dry, put the patch in place, being sure to fit it well under the outside edge of the split or peel. Flatten it down until there is no trace of a loose edge or ripple. Cover the entire nail again with another thin coat of cement and allow it to dry thoroughly.

Now, two coats of polish and a top coat should hold the nail together until you are ready for your next complete manicure. You can repeat this repair job at each subsequent manicure until the split or peel has grown out.

But if you nail has broken off to the quick, you will need to apply a false nail. Follow the directions on the box and you will avoid the discomforts and disfigurement involved until your own nail has grown out.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Turn Nails Into Lovely Assets

At the eleventh hour before an important occasion, what can be done to restore perfection to a lady's fingers, when she suddenly discovers a ragged, broken nail?

It's no trick at all if you keep a patch kit in your dressing table. It should contain a book of thin fabric especially made for this purpose; a box of "false" nails; a tube or bottle of transparent, waterproof cement; a thin-tipped orange stick. With these items in stock, you're ready and able to repair the damage. Here's how:

Remove the polish from the offending nail. Don't disturb the finish on your other nails; use a generous twist of cotton on the end of your orange stick to apply the remover. Dip the polish-freed nail in soapy water; rinse and dry. Make certain their is no residue of polish or cuticle on the nail.

If your nail is split or peeling, cover the entire surface and underside smoothly with cement. While it is drying, cut out a piece of patch that will amply cover the split. Just before the cement is dry, put the patch in place, being sure to fit it well under the outside edge of the split or peel. Flatten it down until there is no trace of a loose edge or ripple. Cover the entire nail again with another thin coat of cement and allow it to dry thoroughly.

Now, two coats of polish and a top coat should hold the nail together until you are ready for your next complete manicure. You can repeat this repair job at each subsequent manicure until the split or peel has grown out.

But if you nail has broken off to the quick, you will need to apply a false nail. Follow the directions on the box and you will avoid the discomforts and disfigurement involved until your own nail has grown out.

As early as A. D. 80 oysters were exported from the Thames estuary to Rome. The historian Sallust commented, "The poor Britons, there is some good in them after all — they produce an oyster."

Anting is one of nature's strangest mysteries. A bird, clutching an ant in its bill, contorts itself to stroke the insect against wing and tail feathers. The bird seems to experience an almost trance-like ecstasy.

University Dean Outlines U. S. Economy To County Teachers

Only stupidity can stop the advance of American economy, Clifford C. James, dean of the University of Baltimore School of Business told a group of teachers and business-industry leaders Wednesday at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

If there were any doubters about the strength and vigor of the United States before the meeting there was none afterward. James spoke at a "Teacher Recognition" dinner conducted by the Business Education Committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. William F. Cowherd is chairman. The dinner honored new teachers in Allegany County.

James painted a glowing picture of things to come in the near future. He stressed that big and little business depend upon each other and termed the second half of this century as the "distribution age." He said the first half was the "production age."

In the second 50 years of the 20th century the nation is taking steps to distribute what it can produce, he asserted.

The speaker said the United States is the only nation which has acquired benefits without losing its freedom.

Addressing himself to the educators he declared students must be taught to understand this country's economy and must know what is taking place. He said too many high school graduates are bewildered.

"They must learn that no one owes them a living," he said, adding, "They must be ready and prepared to work."

James stated courses must be adjusted to meet needs and that the "3-Rs are more vital than ever."

Public schools and not the colleges play the most important role in education because schools deal with more people, he stated.

"High school diplomas should be meaningful and all graduates should not go to college," the speaker explained.

He said if all go to college, education will become a "cesspool."

"Only work and accomplishment are the satisfying things," James said in noting that if he were a businessman he would start college graduates by having them sweep the floor.

The teachers were told to broaden their knowledge, read the newspapers to keep abrest of the times, know their community and to "understand what makes America great."

"America is the envy of the world and soon the lowest income groups will enjoy the luxuries of the rich," James said, "if we maintain and build free enterprise."

The speaker cited the growth of the nation and said declines in business are always offset by greater growth. He forecast that 1962 will be our greatest year of growth and prosperity and that the U.S. is the only country which has grown as its population grows.

Consumer buying "is the key to our economy" but he noted possible dangers from inflation.

James said the economy can stand more debt and that the young people of today repay their debts better than ever before.

In another forecast he said the work week will drop at least four hours in the next 10 years.

"New marketing formulas and methods along with new products spur the economy," James said. "Marketing is most important and production is just a means to an end."

Cowherd presided at the dinner. J. Goodloe Jackson president of the Allegany County Board of Education; Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools; and John E. Frank, president of the Allegany County Teachers Association, spoke briefly.

Forest Fire Danger Sign Built At Hancock School

The only sign in Maryland that advises the public about the current forest fire danger is located on the grounds of Hancock High School, said Brook Bodkin, McMullen Highway, senior forest supervisor of Western Maryland.

Students of the high school made a unique sign for which materials were contributed by business establishments in that community.

Forestry officials will provide the latest information on the degree of danger from forest fires, he said.

Mr. Bodkin explained that forest conditions have been divided into five danger areas, ranging from little peril of a blaze to extremely dangerous conditions.

Five brightly colored sections on the sign corresponds with these five degrees of peril. A movable pointer will indicate the current situation throughout the fire season.

Diana Caldwell, who lives across from the high school, has volunteered to keep the sign clean and to change the pointer upon instructions from forest experts.

The sign stands along U.S. Route 40 at the westernmost edge of Hancock where it is clearly visible to thousands of motorists passing daily.

Its erection this past Thursday came just in time for the opening of deer season on Saturday when thousands of hunters were in the woods.

The forest fire danger depends on a number of factors, said Mr. Bodkin. The degree of danger is determined by computing such factors as the length of time since the last rain, the amount of precipitation during the last rain, the amount of moisture in the trees, and the velocity of the wind.

The danger varies sometimes from hour to hour as the wind changes, or when humidity rises with the arrival of night.

John Roebling made the first wire rope to be made in the United States, in 1840, at Saxonburg, Pa.

Forest Fire Danger Sign Built At Hancock School

The only sign in Maryland that advises the public about the current forest fire danger is located on the grounds of Hancock High School, said Brook Bodkin, McMullen Highway, senior forest supervisor of Western Maryland.

Students of the high school made a unique sign for which materials were contributed by business establishments in that community.

Forestry officials will provide the latest information on the degree of danger from forest fires, he said.

Mr. Bodkin explained that forest conditions have been divided into five danger areas, ranging from little peril of a blaze to extremely dangerous conditions.

Five brightly colored sections on the sign corresponds with these five degrees of peril. A movable pointer will indicate the current situation throughout the fire season.

Diana Caldwell, who lives across from the high school, has volunteered to keep the sign clean and to change the pointer upon instructions from forest experts.

The sign stands along U.S. Route 40 at the westernmost edge of Hancock where it is clearly visible to thousands of motorists passing daily.

Its erection this past Thursday came just in time for the opening of deer season on Saturday when thousands of hunters were in the woods.

The forest fire danger depends on a number of factors, said Mr. Bodkin. The degree of danger is determined by computing such factors as the length of time since the last rain, the amount of precipitation during the last rain, the amount of moisture in the trees, and the velocity of the wind.

The danger varies sometimes from hour to hour as the wind changes, or when humidity rises with the arrival of night.

John Roebling made the first wire rope to be made in the United States, in 1840, at Saxonburg, Pa.

The CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 82 The ready-made shoe industry, the ready-made clothing business, and the canning industry all got big impetus in 1861-65.

Rapid expansion of Union military forces created unprecedented demand for shoes of certain types. Enlistment of many shoemakers multiplied the problems of making the shoes. There were only rudimentary mass production methods; most of the work was done by hand.

Fortunately, Gordon McKay had taken decisive steps toward mechanization. One day in 1857, McKay saw a cobbler, Lyman Blake, using a pedal-propelled machine to attach soles to uppers, instead of sewing them with awl and waxed thread.

McKay bought the rights and set to work with Blake to adapt the machine to a variety of shoe work. Not daunted by resistance at Lynn to mechanism, McKay opened two factories and made shoes for the Army himself. Then, with the utility and economy of the machines proven, he went back to the shoe producers successfully. He leased the machines on the basis of payment for each boot made with them—the origin of the manufacturing royalty system.

PATENT IRON-BOUND

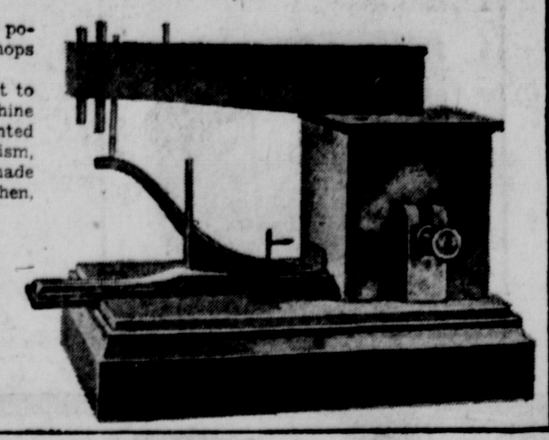

Boots, Bootees and Shoes.

JOHN BEDFORD, Philadelphia,

RESPECTFULLY informs the public in general, and store-keepers in particular, that he is now prepared to supply them with the above valuable goods, wholesale and retail, on moderate terms.

Shoemakers, also, may be supplied with patent-rights, on easy terms, which they will find it highly their interest to obtain, as they can, by this improvement, make four times the quantity of shoes, with their usual number of hands; for example, the usual work of three men is only three pair of common shoes per day; whereas, in the improved way, 3 men with the assistance of a boy, can make from twelve to fifteen pair per day.

[↑] A step to mass production, as shown in ad in 1809. Pre-fab strips let soles be fixed to uppers of cheap shoes quickly.

Man Gets Year For Violating Parole Terms

A 43-year-old father of six children yesterday was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court when he was found guilty of violating terms of a parole.

John Kasekamp, Frostburg, had appealed a decision of Juvenile Court which found him guilty and Judge Harris heard this appeal on July 16.

The judge upheld the lower court and sentenced Kasekamp two years in prison, suspended on condition that he pay his wife and family $25 a week support.

Yesterday, testimony showed Kasekamp had made only one payment,—that one the week following his trial. Over a period of six years, his family had received in welfare funds a total of $8,500.

Judge Harris struck out the two-year term and then re-sentenced him to one year in the House of Correction.

City Makes Stand On Water For Shopping Center

The consulting engineer for developers of a proposed shopping center near Naves Crossroads has been told by the City of Cumberland that it will not provide water and sewage facilities unless the developers agree to annexation.

The stand is a re-statement of policy which the city has followed for some time.

Lester H. Weinberg, consulting engineer of Youngstown, Ohio, had written the Mayor and Council two weeks ago concerning water service to the proposed site on Bedford Road (U. S. 220). Council at that time held up the request for discussion.

Weinberg was acting in behalf of William Cefaro and associates, developers of the proposed site.

In a letter to Weinberg, City Attorney William R. Carscaden said the matter had been discussed by the Mayor and Council and "it is their considered opinion that they cannot violate the policy which has been in effect for quite some time that no one outside the city limits of Cumberland is allowed to use city sewage facilities.

"Under the circumstances, the city will not enter into any agreement in connection with sewage facilities unless the property owner agrees to annexation at this time. In addition, the city will not grant a tap on its water line unless the property owner consents to annexation at this time."

The letter further stated that if the property owner will agree to annexation, if there are any questions regarding the matter or if a meeting with the city is desired, he should so advise the city.

During 1960 the steel industry's rate of return on net assets was 7.8 per cent, 26 per cent below the average for "all manufacturing."

The CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 82 The ready-made shoe industry, the ready-made clothing business, and the canning industry all got big impetus in 1861-65.

Rapid expansion of Union military forces created unprecedented demand for shoes of certain types. Enlistment of many shoemakers multiplied the problems of making the shoes. There were only rudimentary mass production methods; most of the work was done by hand.

Fortunately, Gordon McKay had taken decisive steps toward mechanization. One day in 1857, McKay saw a cobbler, Lyman Blake, using a pedal-propelled machine to attach soles to uppers, instead of sewing them with awl and waxed thread.

McKay bought the rights and set to work with Blake to adapt the machine to a variety of shoe work. Not daunted by resistance at Lynn to mechanism, McKay opened two factories and made shoes for the Army himself. Then, with the utility and economy of the machines proven, he went back to the shoe producers successfully. He leased the machines on the basis of payment for each boot made with them—the origin of the manufacturing royalty system.

PATENT IRON-BOUND

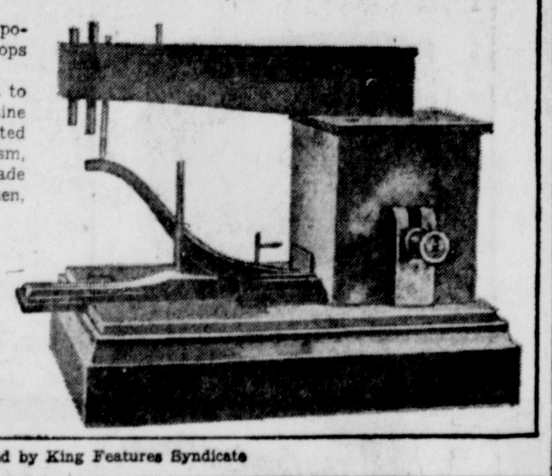

Boots, Bootees and Shoes.

JOHN BEDFORD, Philadelphia,

RESPECTFULLY informs the public in general, and store-keepers in particular, that he is now prepared to supply them with the above valuable goods, wholesale and retail, on moderate terms.

Shoemakers, also, may be supplied with patent-rights, on easy terms, which they will find it highly their interest to obtain, as they can, by this improvement, make four times the quantity of shoes, with their usual number of hands; for example, the usual work of three men is only three pair of common shoes per day; whereas, in the improved way, 3 men with the affiliance of a boy, can make from twelve to fifteen pair per day.

Man Gets Year For Violating Parole Terms

A 43-year-old father of six children yesterday was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court when he was found guilty of violating terms of a parole.

John Kasekamp, Frostburg, had appealed a decision of Juvenile Court which found him guilty and Judge Harris heard this appeal on July 16.

The judge upheld the lower court and sentenced Kasekamp two years in prison, suspended on condition that he pay his wife and family $25 a week support.

Yesterday, testimony showed Kasekamp had made only one payment,—that one the week following his trial. Over a period of six years, his family had received in welfare funds a total of $8,500.

Judge Harris struck out the two-year term and then re-sentenced him to one year in the House of Correction.

City Makes Stand On Water For Shopping Center

The consulting engineer for developers of a proposed shopping center near Naves Crossroads has been told by the City of Cumberland that it will not provide water and sewage facilities unless the developers agree to annexation.

The stand is a re-statement of policy which the city has followed for some time.

Lester H. Weinberg, consulting engineer of Youngstown, Ohio, had written the Mayor and Council two weeks ago concerning water service to the proposed site on Bedford Road (U. S. 220). Council at that time held up the request for discussion.

Weinberg was acting in behalf of William Cefaro and associates, developers of the proposed site.

In a letter to Weinberg, City Attorney William R. Carscaden said the matter had been discussed by the Mayor and Council and "it is their considered opinion that they cannot violate the policy which has been in effect for quite some time that no one outside the city limits of Cumberland is allowed to use city sewage facilities.

"Under the circumstances, the city will not enter into any agreement in connection with sewage facilities unless the property owner agrees to annexation at this time. In addition, the city will not grant a tap on its water line unless the property owner consents to annexation at this time."

The letter further stated that if the property owner will agree to annexation, if there are any questions regarding the matter or if a meeting with the city is desired, he should so advise the city.

During 1960 the steel industry's rate of return on net assets was 7.8 per cent, 26 per cent below the average for "all manufacturing."

Why good drivers in Maryland are switching to Allstate Auto Insurance

1. They find that, year after year, Allstate policyholders have saved real folding money on their auto insurance. You can't buy better protection—so why pay more?

2. They like the new Good Driver Plan which offers lower rates to drivers with accident-free records.

3. They want protection against cancellation of their liability insurance. After 90 days, new policyholders are given written assurance that their liability protection won't be cancelled just because of accidents.

These benefits apply to private passenger autos, individually owned, or owned by husband and wife . . . but are not afforded to assigned risks.

No wonder Allstate writes more auto liability insurance than any other company in the world. Why don't you see or phone an Allstate Agent now?

The Story of When to Take Medicine

The Men Behind The Counter . . . Your Walsh & McCagh PHARMACISTS

Does it make any difference whether you take your medicine at bedtime, before or after meals, or at specified times? Yes, sometimes it does. Certain drugs may irritate the stomach lining unless taken right after meals. Others may be prescribed to relax the stomach before eating. As a general rule, drugs are absorbed more rapidly on an empty stomach, more slowly after eating. Some drugs are designed to dissolve in the stomach, or small intestine, or large bowel, and some have built in mechanism for slow release. Some oral penicillin must be taken on an empty stomach in order to be effective at all. So follow the directions on the label of your prescription. When you have that prescription filled at Walsh-McCagh, extra care is taken to make those important directions clear and precise. If there is any area for misunderstanding, your Walsh-McCagh pharmacist will make sure you thoroughly understand how to get the best effect from your medicine before you leave the store. This is just one of the extra service features that make Walsh-McCagh "Your Helping Hand in Cumberland."

Why good drivers in Maryland are switching to Allstate Auto Insurance

1. They find that, year after year, Allstate policyholders have saved real folding money on their auto insurance. You can't buy better protection—so why pay more?

2. They like the new Good Driver Plan which offers lower rates to drivers with accident-free records.

3. They want protection against cancellation of their liability insurance. After 90 days, new policyholders are given written assurance that their liability protection won't be cancelled just because of accidents.

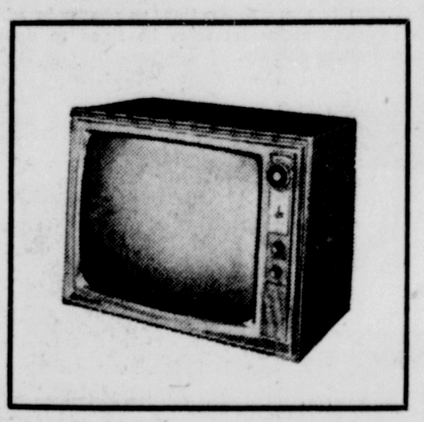

These benefits apply to private passenger autos, individually owned, or owned by husband and wife... but are not afforded to assigned risks.

No wonder Allstate writes more auto liability insurance than any other company in the world. Why don't you see or phone an Allstate Agent now?

The Story of When to Take Medicine

The Men Behind The Counter . . . Your Walsh & McCagh PHARMACISTS

Does it make any difference whether you take your medicine at bedtime, before or after meals, or at specified times? Yes, sometimes it does. Certain drugs may irritate the stomach lining unless taken right after meals. Others may be prescribed to relax the stomach before eating. As a general rule, drugs are absorbed more rapidly on an empty stomach, more slowly after eating. Some drugs are designed to dissolve in the stomach, or small intestine, or large bowel, and some have built in mechanism for slow release. Some oral penicillin must be taken on an empty stomach in order to be effective at all. So follow the directions on the label of your prescription. When you have that prescription filled at Walsh-McCagh, extra care is taken to make those important directions clear and precise. If there is any area for misunderstanding, your Walsh-McCagh pharmacist will make sure you thoroughly understand how to get the best effect from your medicine before you leave the store. This is just one of the extra service features that make Walsh-McCagh "Your Helping Hand in Cumberland."

Another Experiment With Public Welfare

In his search for dramatic reforms to revive public confidence in the federal welfare program, Secretary Ribicoff discovers that everything has been tried before. Work relief, which he now suggests, dates back to colonial times and was revived under the New Deal. Vouchers instead of cash for relief recipients, another Ribicoff proposal, are also of New Deal vintage.

It is his aim, Ribicoff told the American Public Welfare Association convention, to instill a new "spirit" into the federal welfare program. The emphasis would be on preventing people from going on relief and helping those on relief to get off, which is precisely what many others have been suggesting.

Ribicoff's new plans are drawn against a background of increasing public criticism of a program that has grown to cost the taxpayers $4.1 billion a year. His proposed reforms call for an even larger outlay, and his theory is that by spending more now on "preventive" welfare, the burden will ease in the future.

Naturally the federal government would seek to broaden its controls wherever federal welfare money goes. That, of course, would be a "preventive" of sorts—preventing local welfare rebellion like that at Newburgh, N. Y.

Ever since the Newburgh upheaval, Ribicoff and welfare professionals have insisted that the welfare program is misunderstood. They brand as myths the charges that the system encourages illegitimacy and perpetuates dependency.

Even now, in listing the "reforms" he'll seek, Ribicoff is not conceding the critics are right. But he's certainly showing that they are making themselves heard.

Killing Schools

Governors find themselves in financial difficulties because of the continued faulty state financing since the glorious days of the Depression when the New Deal evolved the Keynesian doctrine that if private enterprise or private individuals cannot provide for themselves, the state must dip into the till and grab some of the available money to be used for any purpose as long as it is called welfare.

Now, in the 1960s, they find that money is not so available. Taxes have become too high and the state governments cannot compete with the Federal administration in depriving the citizen of his earnings. So educational institutions are being deprived of revenue. One of the worst examples of faulty educational revenue is the State of Michigan which is very short of funds. The State of Montana is considering closing its famous School of Mines.

One of the major problems that faces this country is that too many students are permitted to fill their schedules with "easy" courses which make it possible for them to get a degree without doing much work. One meets a student who majored in English and speaks and writes the language like an alien, or who has majored in history and knows about as much history as used to be acceptable for an eighth grader. That is not education; it is using time.

The student is intellectually impoverished and has little to show for four years of time spent in Ivy Halls.

Our national problem, however, is that we need more engineers, more physicians, more mining engineers, more scientists if we are to hold our own in a world when science is essential to the rebuilding of the civilization which has been damaged by war and revolution. The closing of a school of mines can only be justified by a lack of competent students. What seems to be essential is that students be encouraged to take the tough courses, particularly those heavy with mathematics, which are so essential for knowledge of the new sciences and for the safeguarding of this country.

The Montana School of Mines has special value because it lies close to some of the most important mining industries in the country. Technical schools need to be established where the students can find their work. For instance, it would not make much sense to establish an agriculture school in New York City, but Ames, Iowa, is an excellent place for just such a school. Similarly, medical schools situated where there are no hospitals do not serve the students well, but big cities like Boston, New York and Chicago attract medical students because it is practical to associate a medical school with a big hospital.

A School of Mines in Montana, at Butte, which is the center of the copper industry, makes sense. To close down such a school because the state may be short of money is stupid. The state ought to find the money. In the old days, the rich contributed such money out of the profits of their business. Today, income taxes and the limitation upon charitable contributions make it very difficult even for the very rich to contribute heavily to charities or to education.

Nevertheless, there are men who assume the responsibility to share their earnings with beneficial institutions. They refuse to permit a brutal system of taxation to lower the moral and cultural standards of the nation.

Similarly, states must cut down on non-essential expenditures, on political expenditures and keep their educational institutions up to scratch. When the nation was young and weak and money was scarce, we developed one of the finest educational systems in the world. We somehow found the men and women who were willing to keep schools going.

What has happened to us in the middle of the Twentieth Century that we are ready to close down important technical schools in the face of Russian competition.

The picture is not quite as discouraging as it seems because in the larger cities, in the humanistic studies, much is being done. But in engineering fields, we are falling behind because we somehow have permitted ourselves to believe that mere attendance at college is sufficient. What is needed is a toughening of requirements for matriculation and for graduation. If a college produces a hundred students and one of them is an Einstein, it has done more than producing 1000 students who amount to nothing.

Soviet Rearmament In Light Of Recent History

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Only six months have passed since the Vienna meeting, when Nikita S. Khrushchev told President Kennedy that he would make his grab for Berlin before the New Year, and would make war on anyone who tried to stop him.

Hardly more than ninety days have passed since Khrushchev told the last of a whole series of Western European leaders exactly how many Soviet bombs were needed to "annihilate" his particular country, with a clear hint that the bombs might be dropped pretty soon. But now the New Year deadline is a dead letter. What looks very like another Soviet peace offensive has begun. The hints now being dropped concern a possible Presidential visit to Russia in the spring.

The contrast between then and now is dramatically sharp. One must conclude that Khrushchev hoped to get his way at Berlin this year by using naked threats, but was severely disappointed by the American and Western European response. So much is obvious.

But it is also obvious that Khrushchev was the victim of a very serious miscalculation. Why else was he so confident that he could get his way by naked threats? Among the Western military demonologists, a striking theory about the nature of Khrushchev's miscalculation is now gaining widespread support. It has the extra value, too, of explaining certain other puzzling matters. Those who have developed this theory begin with the first Soviet tests of intercontinental ballistic missiles, in the year 1957. The nature of the missiles then tested can be deduced from a remarkable fact. The first Sputnik was carried by the third Soviet ICBMs to leave its launching pad. In other words, the new Soviet ICBMs were serviceable and accurate enough, but they were also immensely heavy and cumbersome, and therefore very costly.

The normal Soviet practice, after successfully testing prototypes of an important weapon, is to order the new weapon into series production without further delay. From 1957 onward, the Soviets had the capability to produce their new ICBMs in quantity. They were quite naturally expected to follow their normal practice in this crucial case; and this expectation produced the official forecasts of a dangerous missile gap, which were echoed by this reporter.

In fact, however, as this reporter was also the first to reveal, mass production of the ICBMs was never ordered. Behind this highly abnormal Soviet decision, there must have been a desire not to disrupt the general industrial progress to which Khrushchev has always attached so much importance. But there must also have been a solid excuse for this neglect of the customary Soviet priorities, which put weapons first, heavy industry second, and well being third.

The excuse, quite evidently, was the previously tested, highly serviceable, and infinitely less costly Soviet medium range ballistic missile. Traditionalists in the Kremlin and on the Soviet General Staff no doubt insisted on maximum output of ICBMs, to produce the kind of missile gap that was feared in the U. S. But Khrushchev evidently decided that is would be enough to mass produce the cheaper medium range missiles.

This he did, thereby producing the localized, European missile gap, which is the most disturbing single feature of the present strategic picture. It was a bold gamble. Khrushchev himself disclosed the reasoning behind the gamble during the period of threats, this summer, when he kept boasting that the Western European nations were his "hostages."

In the outcome, however, the "hostages" failed to behave as hostages are supposed to behave, and the U. S. showed greater firmness, too, than Khrushchev had foreseen. The gamble went wrong, in fact. As wise gamblers do, Khrushchev has now cut his losses and changed his political tactics.

But the failure of the gamble has had another, less noted effect. The old, weapons-first Soviet priorities are again being enforced. While President Kennedy increased the U. S. military budget by a few billions, Khrushchev this summer increased the Soviet arms budget by no less than one-third. While President Kennedy called 156,000 reservists to the colors, Khrushchev canceled demobilization orders for 500,000 men, and held in service another 750,000 reservists who should have gone home this year.

The Soviet nuclear tests were clearly part of the same pattern, and so, quite possibly, is the pressure on Finland. In short, having unsuccessfully bet on the effectiveness of less-than- maximum military power, the Soviets are now correcting what they must regard as an error. Such is the demonologists' theory, which is chilling but precisely fitted to the known facts.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CAMPAIGN PROMISES — Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, fast gaining the reputation of an irrepressible wit and prankster in Washington, recently told the following story on himself and his brother, the President:

Robert said he dreamed about all the promises he and his brother had made during the campaign and of the inevitable day when he, Robert, had to face St. Peter. That guardian of the pearly gates handed Robert a piece of chalk and told him to write down every broken promise he had made on a separate rung of the ladder that rises to heaven.

Robert was writing diligently and had gotten up fairly high when someone passed him on the way down. It was his brother Jack. "What are you doing up here?" Bob asked. "I'm going down for more chalk," his brother replied.

GOBBLEDEGOOK—We've been commenting on some of the strange and wonderful language that finds its way into official usage in the federal government. As it is bound to, the New Frontier has brought in a couple of new ones of its own.

"One should not hold counterproductive bychannel bilateral counterpart meetings." Translation: don't waste time talking to low-ranking officials. See the boss.

Another phrase that's crept into use, says Heller, is "quantum effort." This means any program or person that is putting out a maximum effort.

And we feel that Washington should put forth a "quantum effort" to bring understanding back into government communications, and should not hold counterproductive bychannel," etc., in bringing this about.

Profitable Speech On New Antibiotic Backfires On Former FDA Official

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It's not supposed to be publicized, but inside the Criminal Division of the Justice Department is an FBI report regarding Dr. Henry Welch, former chief of the antibiotics division of the Food and Drug Administration. He is the man who earned $287,142 during 1953-60 from the "Medical Encyclopedia" in which the drug companies he policed were advertisers.

Dr. Welch was half-owner of the Encyclopedia, also received 7½ per cent of the net advertising and 50 per cent of the net reprints profit from "Md Publications" which he edited.

Just as Sen. Estes Kefauver was about to probe into this, Dr. Welch applied for disability retirement, May 11, 1960.

Meanwhile, here is another development:

One speech by Dr. Welch which was widely circulated in the drug industry was before the fourth annual Antibiotics Symposium in Washington, Oct. 17, 1956. It pertained to the new Pfizer antibiotic — signemycin, and Dr. Welch hailed it as a "new era."

What he didn't say, but which sworn testimony before the Kefauver Committee disclosed, was that the speech was submitted to the Pfizer Company for revision before it was delivered.

What he also didn't say was that after delivery, Pfizer purchased 283,000 reprints, of which 50 per cent of the profit went to Dr. Welch.

Some of the reprints were used in advertising signemycin. However, there were so many of them that one Pfizer employe told the Kefauver Committee: "It was a standing joke around the office. It would have been impossible to have given away all the copies that were actually around the premises."

Five Years Later

The speech praising signemycin was delivered by the food and drug official charged with protecting the public against dangerous medicine on Oct. 17, 1956.

Five years passed. On Nov. 20, 1961, just before last Thanksgiving Day, Pfizer found that signemycin was not such a great drug after all. It had side effects.

And in a letter to doctors labeled "drug warning" Pfizer explained these side effects and urged caution in using the drug which had been touted by the official supposed to guard against faulty antibiotics.

The "drug warning" was cautiously worded. It began: "Dear Doctor: The purpose of this communication is to inform you of recent unpublished reports of jaundice and liver function test changes which have been observed during the administration of triacetyloleandomycin." This is the technical name for signemycin.

The drug warning then proceeded to tell how in the treatment of 50 patients, "one or more abnormal liver function tests were found in 37 of these patients at the conclusion of the treatment."

This, it should be noted, was five years after the glowing endorsement by the man who was supposed to protect the public but who checked with the drug manufacturer before making his speech, then sold them 283,000 reprints after making it.

Prison Showdown

Irvin Scarbeck, the blackmailed foreign service officer who now faces a 30-year prison sentence for slipping secrets to the Polish Communists, had a showdown with his cellmates the other day in the Washington, D. C. jail.

Then he assailed Scarbeck with a torrent of foul abusive language. The other inmates watched Scarbeck's reaction expectantly to see whether he would cower.

Instead, the disgraced foreign service officer walked up to the muscle man, looked him straight in the eye, and said quietly but icily: "Don't ever say anything like that to me again."

The big fellow backed off muttering.

Afterward Scarbeck was asked what he would have done if the man had not backed down.

"I would have killed him," Scarbeck said simply.

Santa Gringo

In Miami last Christmas, some of the hard-pressed Cuban refugee children had no reason to know it was Christmas. As a result, Revolution, Fidel Castro's pro-Communist newspaper in Havana, fettured a picture of Cuban poverty in exile under the caption, "Cuban children have no Christmas in America because Santa Claus is a gringo."

This Christmas a group of patriotic ladies in Miami is making sure this doesn't happen again. They have organized "toy happiness in exile" and, under the honorary chairmanship of Mrs. Robert King High, wife of the Mayor of Miami, they are raising funds to buy toys for the refugee children.

The Cuban women's anti-Communist organization, headed by Miss Magda Cruz and Mrs. Maria Soledad Alba, is spearheading the drive and is glad to have help from all over the nation to present toys to the 23,000 Cuban children in Miami.

They want to prove that even if Santa Claus is a gringo, he is a kind and generous gringo.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Sullivan's saloon looked like a boozy funeral parlor. At 7 p. m. there were four customers. They sat at the big oval bar in attitudes of remorse. The talking mynah birds had been taken to the back kitchen. Their cages were covered. Willy was on the floor, peeking under the cloth at Silky, murmuring: "Are you a talking bird?"

James The Last was standing at the pool table, his fat face and thick snowy hair looking like a Roman coin in the shaded light. He had a pool cue. I had not seen him since I remarried. His greeting was: "It's about time." He began to chalk up. The balls were racked in a triangle of color.

I picked up my favorite cue, name of Judas, and broke. We played Chicago, which means that the player must sink the balls in rotation by numbers, from one to 15, I asked Jim if he had seen Jackie Gleason in The Hustler. "What's that?" he said. "Last hustler we had here was Bill Armstrong. He beat me and called me a jerk. No more drinks for him."

"Doing any business?" I said. He glanced balefully at the four customers. "On weekends it's all right," he said. "This is a shore resort." "I know," I said. "I live here." He's deadly on bank shots and he slammed a combination of the two ball onto the 10 across cross side. He drew a bead on a hanger and missed.

"I bought a house," he said. I missed an easy one on the three ball. "You don't live in the trailer any more?" I said. He shook his head. "I got a nice five-room house over in Atlantic Highlands." He lived in a trailer for years and, after Mrs. Sullivan died four years ago, Jim did his own cooking. He is a tough little man, but he can baste a roast or saute a fish as good as Fanny Farmer.

He won't knit, though. He walked around the table, rocking like a bear, ripping the end of a long cigar, squinting his baby blues at the ball. On the thick pinky of his left hand reposes a diamond which purposely blinds his opponent. When I miss, he says: "Beautiful try."

We played all evening. A few more customers came in. Bill, the night bartender, took care of them. Sullivan needs a night bartender like he needs another wheel on his Chrysler. Still, he maintains one because he says he wants the man to take care of the customers while James The Last watches the cash register.

I told him he ought to work out a big publicity scheme. "Like what?" he said. "Well," I said, "if you want to attract attention to this gin trap, you should arrange to have somebody kidnap the mynah birds." He shook his head and sunk two money balls on one shot. "Nothing doing," he said. "Them birds stay here."

If they were kidnapped, I said, it would make all the newspapers and pictures of Willy and Silky, who look like black crows with orange beaks, would make the place famous. "Yep," he said, dropping talcum on his palms, "they'd be famous and I'd be in some rubber jail."

"No, no," I said. "Get a pal to do the job. He can mail ransom notes to you with the claw prints of the birds at the bottom. He can also phone you and let the birds speak for themselves."

"What the hell they gonna ask me?" he said. "Am I a talking bird? That's what Willy says. Silky is always saying: 'Where's Grace?' and I never found out who Grace is. Besides, they both whistle at women. They start enough trouble right here without snatching them."

"Can you teach them to say 'Please send the ransom.'?" He racked the balls. "I can't teach them to say 'Polly wants a cracker.' They pick up their own words around the bar." A Polish chef came in. He had been in an accident and now his car sagged in the middle.

"I got comprehension," the chef said. Sullivan nodded sagely. "I got the same insurance, pal. What part of the road were you on when it happened?" The chef thought about it a moment. "On the highway," he said. Sullivan smiled sadly and shook his head. "That's the way my birds talk," he said.

Andy Keating, the insurance man, came in. The chef asked him for a settlement. "I collect the premiums," Andy said. "My partner pays off." Out in the kitchen, Silky was saying: "Pitty pitty pitty mommy!" Sullivan said: "See what I mean? Those idiots talk, but they don't know what they're saying."

"Like some of the customers?" I said. He nodded. "One more rack," he said. "Then I'm going to have a little drop of scotch—on you."

He did . . .

Readers Favor Being Told Truth About Cancer

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

In a previous column we asked our readers, "Would you want to know if you had cancer?" To date, 408 said yes and 53 said no. This overwhelming majority favors being told the truth. I want to thank these readers for sending me their ideas along this line.

A Princeton, N. J., man believes everyone with a serious problem should learn to "look forward with hopefulness." In his opinion, our health hint, "Waste not life; you sleep long enough in the grave," may encourage the victim of cancer to live a little longer.

I might add from experience that many feel one way when they are healthy and another when ill or on their death bed. A tall, tough, healthy patient of mine always said if he developed a hopeless disease he would take a lethal drug to end it all. But when he developed an incurable disease he scurried all over the country looking for a possible cure.

A 50 year old Michigan woman asked if it is advisable to have a bunion removed and if the results are satisfactory. We answered that the results are good and shortly thereafter we received the following letter:

"I'm a shining example of what modern foot surgery can do for someone older than 50. When I was 68 years old, after suffering from sore feet for 55 years, I had two bunions removed, two hammer toes corrected, and fallen metatarsals eliminated. The operation corrected all the pressure points and my corns have disappeared. This surgery took place 18 months ago and I feel wonderful even though I stand on a concrete floor on my 48 hour a week job."

A word of caution: Bunion surgery should not be attempted in older persons unless they are in good health and the circulation is adequate.

Another reader, Mrs. E. E. of the Bronx, corroborated the statements I made in a recent article on the safety of surgery in the elderly. Her 69 year old mother had her colon removed 16 years ago and remained in excellent health until she developed gall bladder trouble at 81. The family doctor was reluctant to recommend surgery, but at age 84 she had to be taken to the hospital for emergency surgery. The operation was successful, even though the aged woman developed juandice.

TOMORROW: Relaxation is needed.

DARK CIRCLES

Mrs. C. D. writes: Are dark circles under the eyes caused by kidney or liver disease?

REPLY

We do not know exactly why this condition develops except that it is related in some way to fatigue, dissipation, late hours, or menstruation. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on circles under the eyes.

ELECTROCARDIOGRAM

M. G. writes: When a person has an electrocardiogram, does narrowing of the blood vessels show?

REPLY

Only if the heart muscle has deteriorated because of an inadequate flow of blood through the narrowed vessels.

FLABBY ARMS

F. P. writes: Can anything be done about flabby upper arms in a middle-aged woman?

REPLY

Exercise and weight reduction may help but don't expect too much because this condition is difficult to remedy.

INCISION NEEDS SUTURES

O. E. S. writes: Are stitches used in a cataract operation?

REPLY

Yes—to sew up the incision through which the cataract (lens) was removed.

OLDSTER'S FLASHES

C. E. M. writes: I have been troubled with hot flashes off and on for a year. They cause a lot of sweating. Do you think this will damage my health in any way? I'm an 84 year old male.

REPLY

No, and you are living proof (and there are many others) that hot flashes are not always caused by the menopause or climacteric.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A spry octogenarian with an undiminished passion for seeing his name in print cooked up the idea of a club for 80-year-olds and soon had a waiting list — not to mention five requests for interviews. No fool he, he granted the first one to the town's prettiest reporter. "Is is true that all your members are past eighty?" she asked. "Yes'm," he cackled happily. "All but two, that is: They're seventy-nine. We figured it would be best to have some hot, young blood in the organization!"

Things weren't going too well in the first year Sunday school class. Nobody seemed able to recall the identity of St. Matthew. Nor did they do any better with St. Mark. Finally the teacher said hopefully,

"Surely somebody will remember who Peter was?"

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

Students at Britain's Cambridge University now claim a new collegiate title, the world's chattering championship, after gabbing in relays for a full week. At that, it seems they have a talking point.

When a Jackson, Miss., house caught fire, seven women removed a half-ton of furniture, including a 400-pound piano, in 15 minutes. They certainly were in hot haste.

Dr. P. O. Pedersen, dean of Denmark's Royal Dental College, says teeth are a better means of identification than fingerprints. Comments Zadok Dumkopf, a mystery story addict: "Smile when you say that, doc!"

See where scientists have discovered a new mountain range. This, however, should interest submarine pilots only. It's at the bottom of the ocean.

There are some 34 million cameras in the hands of amateur photographers in the U.S.—Factographs. As the man at the next desk would say, that's quite a snappy figure!

One speech by Dr. Welch which was widely circulated in the drug industry was before the fourth annual Antibiotics Symposium in Washington, Oct. 17, 1956. It pertained to the new Pfizer antibiotic — signemycin, and Dr. Welch hailed it as a "new era."

What he didn't say, but which sworn testimony before the Kefauver Committee disclosed, was that the speech was submitted to the Pfizer Company for revision before it was delivered.

What he also didn't say was that after delivery, Pfizer purchased 283,000 reprints, of which 50 per cent of the profit went to Dr. Welch.

Some of the reprints were used in advertising signemycin. However, there were so many of them that one Pfizer employe told the Kefauver Committee: "It was a standing joke around the office. It would have been impossible to have given away all the copies that were actually around the premises."

Five Years Later

The speech praising signemycin was delivered by the food and drug official charged with protecting the public against dangerous medicine on Oct. 17, 1956.

Five years passed. On Nov. 20, 1961, just before last Thanksgiving Day, Pfizer found that signemycin was not such a great drug after all. It had side effects.

And in a letter to doctors labeled "drug warning" Pfizer explained these side effects and urged caution in using the drug which had been touted by the official supposed to guard against faulty antibiotics.

The "drug warning" was cautionsly worded. It began: "Dear Doctor: The purpose of this communication is to inform you of recent unpublished reports of jaundice and liver function test changes which have been observed during the administration of triacetyloleandomycin." This is the technical name for signemycin.

The drug warning then proceeded to tell how in the treatment of 50 patients, "one or more abnormal liver function tests were found in 37 of these patients at the conclusion of the treatment."

This, it should be noted, was five years after the glowing endorsement by the man who was supposed to protect the public but who checked with the drug manufacturer before making his speech, then sold them 283,000 reprints after making it.

Prison Showdown

Irvin Scarbeck, the blackmailed foreign service officer who now faces a 30-year prison sentence for slipping secrets to the Polish Communists, had a showdown with his cellmates the other day in the Washington, D. C. jail.

Then he assailed Scarbeck with a torrent of foul abusive language. The other inmates watched Scarbeck's reaction expectantly to see whether he would cower.

Instead, the disgraced foreign service officer walked up to the muscle man, looked him straight in the eye, and said quietly but icily: "Don't ever say anything like that to me again."

The big fellow backed off muttering.

Afterward Scarbeck was asked what he would have done if the man had not backed down.

"I would have killed him," Scarbeck said simply.

Santa Gringo

In Miami last Christmas, some of the hard-pressed Cuban refugee children had no reason to know it was Christmas. As a result, Revolution, Fidel Castro's pro-Communist newspaper in Havana, fettured a picture of Cuban poverty in exile under the caption, "Cuban children have no Christmas in America because Santa Claus is a gringo."

This Christmas a group of patriotic ladies in Miami is making sure this doesn't happen again. They have organized "toy happiness in exile" and, under the honorary chairmanship of Mrs. Robert King High, wife of the Mayor of Miami, they are raising funds to buy toys for the refugee children.

The Cuban women's anti-Communist organization, headed by Miss Magda Cruz and Mrs. Maria Soledad Alba, is spearheading the drive and is glad to have help from all over the nation to present toys to the 23,000 Cuban children in Miami.

They want to prove that even if Santa Claus is a gringo, he is a kind and generous gringo.

Soviet Rearmament In Light Of Recent History

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Only six months have passed since the Vienna meeting, when Nikita S. Khrushchev told President Kennedy that he would make his grab for Berlin before the New Year, and would make war on anyone who tried to stop him.

Hardly more than ninety days have passed since Khrushchev told the last of a whole series of Western European leaders exactly how many Soviet bombs were needed to "annihilate" his particular country, with a clear hint that the bombs might be dropped pretty soon. But now the New Year deadline is a dead letter. What looks very like another Soviet peace offensive has begun. The hints now being dropped concern a possible Presidential visit to Russia in the spring.

The contrast between then and now is dramatically sharp. One must conclude that Khrushchev hoped to get his way at Berlin this year by using naked threats, but was severely disappointed by the American and Western European response. So much is obvious.

But it is also obvious that Khrushchev was the victim of a very serious miscalculation. Why else was he so confident that he could get his way by naked threats? Among the Western military demonologists, a striking theory about the nature of Khrushchev's miscalculation is now gaining widespread support. It has the extra value, too, of explaining certain other puzzling matters. Those who have developed this theory begin with the first Soviet tests of intercontinental ballistic missiles, in the year 1957. The nature of the missiles then tested can be deduced from a remarkable fact. The first Sputnik was carried by the third Soviet ICBMs to leave its launching pad. In other words, the new Soviet ICBMs were serviceable and accurate enough, but they were also immensely heavy and cumbersome, and therefore very costly.

The normal Soviet practice, after successfully testing prototypes of an important weapon, is to order the new weapon into series production without further delay. From 1957 onward, the Soviets had the capability to produce their new ICBMs in quantity. They were quite naturally expected to follow their normal practice in this crucial case; and this expectation produced the official forecasts of a dangerous missile gap, which were echoed by this reporter.

In fact, however, as this reporter was also the first to reveal, mass production of the ICBMs was never ordered. Behind this highly abnormal Soviet decision, there must have been a desire not to disrupt the general industrial progress to which Khrushchev has always attached so much importance. But there must also have been a solid excuse for this neglect of the customary Soviet priorities, which put weapons first, heavy industry second, and well being third.

The excuse, quite evidently, was the previously tested, highly serviceable, and infinitely less costly Soviet medium range ballistic missile. Traditionalists in the Kremlin and on the Soviet General Staff no doubt insisted on maximum output of ICBMs, to produce the kind of missile gap that was feared in the U. S. But Khrushchev evidently decided that is would be enough to mass produce the cheaper medium range missiles.

This he did, thereby producing the localized, European missile gap, which is the most disturbing single feature of the present strategic picture. It was a bold gamble. Khrushchev himself disclosed the reasoning behind the gamble during the period of threats, this summer, when he kept boasting that the Western European nations were his "hostages."

In the outcome, however, the "hostages" failed to behave as hostages are supposed to behave, and the U. S. showed greater firmness, too, than Khrushchev had foreseen. The gamble went wrong, in fact. As wise gamblers do, Khrushchev has now cut his losses and changed his political tactics.

But the failure of the gamble has had another, less noted effect. The old, weapons-first Soviet priorities are again being enforced. While President Kennedy increased the U. S. military budget by a few billions, Khrushchev this summer increased the Soviet arms budget by no less than one-third. While President Kennedy called 156,000 reservists to the colors, Khrushchev canceled demobilization orders for 500,000 men, and held in service another 750,000 reservists who should have gone home this year.

The Soviet nuclear tests were clearly part of the same pattern, and so, quite possibly, is the pressure on Finland. In short, having unsuccessfully bet on the effectiveness of less-than- maximum military power, the Soviets are now correcting what they must regard as an error. Such is the demonologists' theory, which is chilling but precisely fitted to the known facts.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CAMPAIGN PROMISES — Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, fast gaining the reputation of an irrepressible wit and prankster in Washington, recently told the following story on himself and his brother, the President:

Robert said he dreamed about all the promises he and his brother had made during the campaign and of the inevitable day when he, Robert, had to face St. Peter. That guardian of the pearly gates handed Robert a piece of chalk and told him to write down every broken promise he had made on a separate rung of the ladder that rises to heaven.

Robert was writing diligently and had gotten up fairly high when someone passed him on the way down. It was his brother Jack. "What are you doing up here?" Bob asked. "I'm going down for more chalk," his brother replied.

GOBBLEDEGOOK—We've been commenting on some of the strange and wonderful language that finds its way into official usage in the federal government. As it is bound to, the New Frontier has brought in a couple of new ones of its own.

"One should not hold counterproductive bychannel bilateral counterpart meetings." Translation: don't waste time talking to low-ranking officials. See the boss.

Another phrase that's crept into use, says Heller, is "quantum effort." This means any program or person that is putting out a maximum effort.

And we feel that Washington should put forth a "quantum effort" to bring understanding back into government communications, and should not hold counterproductive bychannel," etc., in bringing this about.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Sullivan's saloon looked like a boozy funeral parlor. At 7 p. m. there were four customers. They sat at the big oval bar in attitudes of remorse. The talking mynah birds had been taken to the back kitchen. Their cages were covered. Willy was on the floor, peeking under the cloth at Silky, murmuring: "Are you a talking bird?"

James The Last was standing at the pool table, his fat face and thick snowy hair looking like a Roman coin in the shaded light. He had a pool cue. I had not seen him since I remarried. His greeting was: "It's about time." He began to chalk up. The balls were racked in a triangle of color.

I picked up my favorite cue, name of Judas, and broke. We played Chicago, which means that the player must sink the balls in rotation by numbers, from one to 15, I asked Jim if he had seen Jackie Gleason in The Hustler. "What's that?" he said. "Last hustler we had here was Bill Armstrong. He beat me and called me a jerk. No more drinks for him."

"Doing any business?" I said. He glanced balefully at the four customers. "On weekends it's all right," he said. "This is a shore resort." "I know," I said. "I live here." He's deadly on bank shots and he slammed a combination of the two ball onto the 10 across cross side. He drew a bead on a hanger and missed.

"I bought a house," he said. I missed an easy one on the three ball. "You don't live in the trailer any more?" I said. He shook his head. "I got a nice five-room house over in Atlantic Highlands." He lived in a trailer for years and, after Mrs. Sullivan died four years ago, Jim did his own cooking. He is a tough little man, but he can baste a roast or saute a fish as good as Fanny Farmer.

He won't knit, though. He walked around the table, rocking like a bear, ripping the end of a long cigar, squinting his baby blues at the ball. On the thick pinky of his left hand reposes a diamond which purposely blinds his opponent. When I miss, he says: "Beautiful try."

We played all evening. A few more customers came in. Bill, the night bartender, took care of them. Sullivan needs a night bartender like he needs another wheel on his Chrysler. Still, he maintains one because he says he wants the man to take care of the customers while James The Last watches the cash register.

I told him he ought to work out a big publicity scheme. "Like what?" he said. "Well," I said, "if you want to attract attention to this gin trap, you should arrange to have somebody kidnap the mynah birds." He shook his head and sunk two money balls on one shot. "Nothing doing," he said. "Them birds stay here."

If they were kidnapped, I said, it would make all the newspapers and pictures of Willy and Silky, who look like black crows with orange beaks, would make the place famous. "Yep," he said, dropping talcum on his palms, "they'd be famous and I'd be in some rubber jail."

"No, no," I said. "Get a pal to do the job. He can mail ransom notes to you with the claw prints of the birds at the bottom. He can also phone you and let the birds speak for themselves."

"What the hell they gonna ask me?" he said. "Am I a talking bird? That's what Willy says. Silky is always saying: 'Where's Grace?' and I never found out who Grace is. Besides, they both whistle at women. They start enough trouble right here without snatching them."

"Can you teach them to say 'Please send the ransom.'?" He racked the balls. "I can't teach them to say 'Polly wants a cracker.' They pick up their own words around the bar." A Polish chef came in. He had been in an accident and now his car sagged in the middle.

"I got comprehension," the chef said. Sullivan nodded sagely. "I got the same insurance, pal. What part of the road were you on when it happened?" The chef thought about it a moment. "On the highway," he said. Sullivan smiled sadly and shook his head. "That's the way my birds talk," he said.

Andy Keating, the insurance man, came in. The chef asked him for a settlement. "I collect the premiums," Andy said. "My partner pays off." Out in the kitchen, Silky was saying: "Pitty pitty pitty mommy!" Sullivan said: "See what I mean? Those idiots talk, but they don't know what they're saying."

"Like some of the customers?" I said. He nodded. "One more rack," he said. "Then I'm going to have a little drop of scotch—on you."

He did . . .

Readers Favor Being Told Truth About Cancer

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

In a previous column we asked our readers, "Would you want to know if you had cancer?" To date, 408 said yes and 53 said no. This overwhelming majority favors being told the truth. I want to thank these readers for sending me their ideas along this line.

A Princeton, N. J., man believes everyone with a serious problem should learn to "look forward with hopefulness." In his opinion, our health hint, "Waste not life; you sleep long enough in the grave," may encourage the victim of cancer to live a little longer.

I might add from experience that many feel one way when they are healthy and another when ill or on their death bed. A tall, tough, healthy patient of mine always said if he developed a hopeless disease he would take a lethal drug to end it all. But when he developed an incurable disease he scurried all over the country looking for a possible cure.

A 50 year old Michigan woman asked if it is advisable to have a bunion removed and if the results are satisfactory. We answered that the results are good and shortly thereafter we received the following letter:

"I'm a shining example of what modern foot surgery can do for someone older than 50. When I was 68 years old, after suffering from sore feet for 55 years, I had two bunions removed, two hammer toes corrected, and fallen metatarsals eliminated. The operation corrected all the pressure points and my corns have disappeared. This surgery took place 18 months ago and I feel wonderful even though I stand on a concrete floor on my 48 hour a week job."

A word of caution: Bunion surgery should not be attempted in older persons unless they are in good health and the circulation is adequate.

Another reader, Mrs. E. E. of the Bronx, corroborated the statements I made in a recent article on the safety of surgery in the elderly. Her 69 year old mother had her colon removed 16 years ago and remained in excellent health until she developed gall bladder trouble at 81. The family doctor was reluctant to recommend surgery, but at age 84 she had to be taken to the hospital for emergency surgery. The operation was successful, even though the aged woman developed juandice.

TOMORROW: Relaxation is needed.

DARK CIRCLES

Mrs. C. D. writes: Are dark circles under the eyes caused by kidney or liver disease?

REPLY

We do not know exactly why this condition develops except that it is related in some way to fatigue, dissipation, late hours, or menstruation. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on circles under the eyes.

ELECTROCARDIOGRAM

M. G. writes: When a person has an electrocardiogram, does narrowing of the blood vessels show?

REPLY

Only if the heart muscle has deteriorated because of an inadequate flow of blood through the narrowed vessels.

FLABBY ARMS

F. P. writes: Can anything be done about flabby upper arms in a middle-aged woman?

REPLY

Exercise and weight reduction may help but don't expect too much because this condition is difficult to remedy.

INCISION NEEDS SUTURES

O. E. S. writes: Are stitches used in a cataract operation?

REPLY

OLDSTER'S FLASHES

C. E. M. writes: I have been troubled with hot flashes off and on for a year. They cause a lot of sweating. Do you think this will damage my health in any way? I'm an 84 year old male.

REPLY

No, and you are living proof (and there are many others) that hot flashes are not always caused by the menopause or climacteric.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A spry octogenarian with an undiminished passion for seeing his name in print cooked up the idea of a club for 80-year-olds and soon had a waiting list — not to mention five requests for interviews. No fool he, he granted the first one to the town's prettiest reporter. "Is is true that all your members are past eighty?" she asked. "Yes'm," he cackled happily. "All but two, that is: They're seventy-nine. We figured it would be best to have some hot, young blood in the organization!"

Things weren't going too well in the first year Sunday school class. Nobody seemed able to recall the identity of St. Matthew. Nor did they do any better with St. Mark. Finally the teacher said hopefully, "Surely somebody will remember who Peter was?"

A small boy in the last row came to the rescue. "Teacher," he piped, "Wasn't he a wabbit?"

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

Students at Britain's Cambridge University now claim a new collegiate title, the world's chattering championship, after gabbing in relays for a full week. At that, it seems they have a talking point.

When a Jackson, Miss., house caught fire, seven women removed a half-ton of furniture, including a 400-pound piano, in 15 minutes. They certainly were in hot haste.

Dr. P. O. Pedersen, dean of Denmark's Royal Dental College, says teeth are a better means of identification than fingerprints. Comments Zadok Dumkopf, a mystery story addict: "Smile when you say that, doc!"

See where scientists have discovered a new mountain range. This, however, should interest submarine pilots only. It's at the bottom of the ocean.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The most headlined and discussed subject in the U.S.A., today, our survival in an atomic war, is the timely theme of "survival" which will star Ray Milland — and Ray also will direct. Producers James Nicholson and Samuel Arkoff of American-International tell me this will be one of their biggest budgeted pictures and one of their most important.

"The story by Jay Simms carries enormous impact," Nicholson told me, "because it tells what would really happen in event of an atomic war as seen through the eyes of an average American family."

This is the second picture Ray has made for American-International having just completed "Premature Burial" (the story of Edgar Allen Poe). Ray wasn't fooling when he returned from making his TV series in England saying, "I want to stay put—right here in Hollywood."

Bob Evans, who bowed out of show business about the time that he and Sharon Hugueny were divorced, is back in the theatre with Ketti Frings on Broadway. Ketti called me to say that Bob, who invested some money in "The Umbrella," which opens on Broadway Feb. 8, is going to be her associate producer. "He is a great businessman, as the Evans-Picone Company proves, and I am glad to have him," said Ketti.

"We now have Franchot Tone with Geraldine Page and Anthony Franciosa."

April is moving day for Paul Newman and Martin Ritt who have teamed up their Salem Production Company with Dover Productions, headed by writers Irving Ravitch and Harriet Frank, Jr., to make a biggie for Paramount.

Sorry I can't tell you the title because one hasn't been selected yet, but the story has a background of modern Texas with Paul playing a reckless, millionaire Texan (are there any other kind?).

As is typical of most of Henry James' stories, "The Innocents," a British - made movie, leaves much to the imagination of the viewer. You wonder if the governess (Deborah Kerr) is imagining all the weird and horrible things that are going on, or if the two children (the Innocents) are possessed by the Devil. At any rate, 20th Century-Fox, which bought this spine-tingler, has a movie, which for suspense, is equalled only by Hitchcock's "Psycho."

"Innocents" is dramatically presented by Jack Clayton, who directed "Room At the Top." Deborah Kerr shares honors with the most enchanting boy Martin Stephens, and a beautiful little girl Pamela Franklin - two children wonderfully gifted, and I have never seen better child performances.

The house keeper who lives in this eerie, unhealthy atmosphere, is well played by Megs Jenkins. Michael Redgrave disappears after the first few scenes, but makes an impression, in that brief moment.

"I had the most wonderful time in Rome," Dorothy said. "Jacques (Bergerac) had such a nice apartment for us, with two maids, and Mimi was never sick a minute. He'll be back the 20th of December in time for Christmas.

"I've got to take it easy now," said Dorothy, "because I'm expecting the baby the last of next month; then I'm going back to work after the baby is born."

Angela Lansbury is such a comparatively young woman, I wonder how she got in such a run of mother roles? After playing Elvis Presley's mother in "Blue Hawaii" and Warren Beatty's mother in "All Fall Down," Angela now becomes the mater of Laurence Harvey in "Manchurian Candidate." This is the picture Frank Sinatra and Janet Leigh make with Harvey as soon as Frank returns from his travels in Australia and the Far East.

Come to think of it, I suppose Angela's sensational portrayol of Joan Plowright's flossy parent in "A Taste of Honey" on the stage may have been the springboard which started her off "mothering" Elvis, Warren and Larry.

Man, 26, Convicted In Slaying Of Cop

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Clarence Brindle, 26, of Catonsville, was convicted Thursday of first degree murder in the May 29 slaying of a Howard County policeman.

Judge James Macgill, presiding over the three-judge court, deferred sentence pending a motion for a new trial.

Macgill said Brindle was guilty "beyond a reasonable shadow of a doubt" in the death of patrolman Randolph Brightwell. The conviction could bring the death penalty or a life term in prison.

During the four-day trial, the state presented 31 witnesses and introduced 65 exhibits. The verdict was made only in the Brightwell case although Brindle also was charged with killing a gas station attendant the same night.

"I've got to take it easy now," said Dorothy, "because I'm expecting the baby the last of next month; then I'm going back to work after the baby is born."

Angela Lansbury is such a comparatively young woman, I wonder how she got in such a run of mother roles? After playing Elvis Presley's mother in "Blue Hawaii" and Warren Beatty's mother in "All Fall Down," Angela now becomes the mater of Laurence Harvey in "Manchurian Candidate," This is the picture Frank Sinatra and Janet Leigh make with Harvey as soon as Frank returns from his travels in Australia and the Far East.

Come to think of it, I suppose Angela's sensational portrayol of Joan Plowright's flossy parent in "A Taste of Honey" on the stage may have been the springboard which started her off "mothering" Elvis, Warren and Larry.

Man, 26, Convicted In Slaying Of Cop

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Clarence Brindle, 26, of Catonsville, was convicted Thursday of first degree murder in the May 29 slaying of a Howard County policeman.

Judge James Macgill, presiding over the three-judge court, deferred sentence pending a motion for a new trial.

Macgill said Brindle was guilty "beyond a reasonable shadow of a doubt" in the death of patrolman Randolph Brightwell. The conviction could bring the death penalty or a life term in prison.

During the four-day trial, the state presented 31 witnesses and introduced 65 exhibits. The verdict was made only in the Brightwell case although Brindle also was charged with killing a gas station attendant the same night.

Eighty-seven per cent of U. S. crude oil production is from small oil fields that produce less than 25,000 barrels a day.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter in your column about the kleptomaniac who stole from the purses of her bridge friends gave me the courage to write this:

We have the same problem with a sister-in-law. She's a delightful person but she's been stealing things from our homes for years. Her husband has an arrangement with the downtown stores. He returns the items she brings home in her handbag and in the lining of her coat, and they bill him for articles which they suspect her of lifting.

But what about us? We hate to tell him about the articles she steals from our homes. He has enough troubles as it is.

Last night she was here for dinner and I know she took a screw driver, a pickle fork and a shower cap. Please advise.

—SILENT SO FAR

DEAR SILENT: It's wonderful of you to be so understanding, but relatives ought to get the same deal as the department stores.

The husband should be told about the missing items. If he can't retrieve them, send him a bill.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother is a 62-year-old widow. She lives in her own home and is comfortable.

My complaint is this: Mother has devoted her entire life to waiting on my sister and her family. Mother bakes and cooks for them. She goes over there five times a week to clean the house and do the laundry.

My sister's husband is pretty smart, too—he says nobody can iron his shirts like Mother Jones. They even have the kids trained. They won't stay with a paid sitter. They want Granny.

I have three children, too, and I could use the help, but my mother never does one thing for me. Do you think it's fair of them to use her as a chief cook and bottle-washer? Please reply in the paper. I want them to see it.

—GRIPED

DEAR GRIPED: What bothers you is not that your mother is being overworked, but that you aren't getting any of her free services.

No one drags her to your sister's house in chains. She goes willingly, and obviously she enjoys being chief cook and bottle-washer. So stop crying those crocodile tears.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I married an alcoholic woman. She told me when we were going together that what she needed was my love. I foolishly believed that marriage would cure her of drinking.

She kept me up every night for seven years — screaming, crying, raking me over the coals for not paying enough attention to her and accusing me of having other women. When she started to throw things and beat me with her fists I called our family doctor for advice.

He suggested that I have her committed. I refused — until she came at me with an ice-pick and it almost cost me an eye.

Yesterday she sent me an article by a psychiatrist who claims alcoholic women usually drink because of a man. I was tempted to write and ask her who the man was before she met me.

I can see now she's going to spend the rest of her days trying to make me feel guilty.

The moral of this story is "Marriage is no cure for alcoholism." I wish someone else had written this letter eight years ago and that I had seen it.

Centennial Group Furthers Frostburg Plan

Special Days Are Announced

FROSTBURG — James Kling, field representative for the John B. Rogers Productions, spoke to a group of interested citizens Monday evening in the Teen Town Hall about the Sesquicentennial Celebration for Frostburg planned for next summer.

J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman, introduced Kling. Beall pointed out that the celebration will begin Friday, June 29 and will continue through July 7. Each day will be devoted to a special program such as: Greater Frostburg Day and Gala Parade; Faith of Our Fathers Day; Homecoming Day; Veterans Day; Business and Industry Day; Ladies Day; Youth Day and Good Neighbor Day.

Kling showed colored slides of like celebrations held in other cities and supervised by the Rogers Company. Following the slides a questionaire was distributed to each person asking in which part of the celebration they would be willing to serve.

Kling closed his remarks by saying that the success of any celebration of this sort takes the cooperation of every person in the community.

Frostburg Council Greets New Attorney

Pythian Sisters Attend Grand Visitation

Midland Temple Plans Yule Party

MIDLAND — Mrs. Eloise Stafford, Lonaconing Grand Chief of Maryland Pythian Sisters made her official visit to Myrtle Temple No. 2 at a recent meeting in Red Men's hall with Mrs. Thelma Harclerode, presiding. Visitors of rank included: Mrs. Betty Whittington, grand deputy, Mrs. Nellie Miller, past supreme representative, Mrs. Sara Schramm, past grand chief, Mrs. Maryelda McCormack, grand press correspondence, all of Lonaconing.

Mrs. Pearl Blair, past supreme representative, Mrs. Anna Jenkins, grand senior of Midland, and Mrs. Julia Ward, grand treasurer, Frostburg, and many other visitors of area temples attended. Following the grand chief's message on ritualistic work, a program and gift to Mrs. Stafford in keeping with the Thanksgiving season were presented by the officers of the temple.

Refreshments were served by the October, November, December birthday committee.

The December 14 meeting will include the election of officers.

Mesdames Elsie Durst, Leah Rennie and Frances Reid, draped the charter for Mrs. Colene Colmer. Eulogy was given by Pearl Blair, and Eleanor Knott gave the prayer. Mrs. Thelma Harclerode, presiding officer, was in charge of the ceremony, and Mrs. Elsie Blair was pianist.

Members decided to hold their Christmas party and turkey supper at the December 28 meeting in Red Men's hall. Fifty-nine cent jingle gifts will be exchanged and a program presented. The supper will be served at 6 o'clock. Members are to make reservations at the previous meeting. Mrs. Elsie Durst and her committee will serve the supper.

Adjustments Asked In W. Va. Power Rates

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— An application proposing both increases and reductions in rates for electric power to different customers in West Virginia was filed with the Public Service Commission Thursday by Monongahela Power Co.

A hearing was set for Jan. 8.

Monongahela President Don Potter, Fairmont, said the increases and decreases are designed to offset each other. He said each would amount to about $205,000.

Increases in the form of surcharges to offset special local taxes would be levied on the bills of customers in 25 municipalities. The rate cuts would affect customers in 13 counties of the southernmost part of Monongahela's operational area, along with about 22,000 small commercial customers.

Potter said the rate reductions, averaging about $4.20 a year, were designed to make charges more uniform throughout the system. Monongahela operates mostly in the northern end of the state.

As for the rate boosts, Potter said he felt the company should be allowed to pass on to customer: increased taxes, such as gross sales levies, enacted by various cities since the residents of a community receive the benefits resulting from the taxes.

Counties where customers would benefit from a rate cut include Braxton, Calhoun, Clay, Gilmer, Greenbrier, Jackson, Nicholas, Pocahontas, Roane, Tucker, Webster and Wirt and part of Randolph.

Adjustments Asked In W. Va. Power Rates

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— An application proposing both increases and reductions in rates for electric power to different customers in West Virginia was filed with the Public Service Commission Thursday by Monongahela Power Co.

A hearing was set for Jan. 8.

Monongahela President Don Potter, Fairmont, said the increases and decreases are designed to offset each other. He said each would amount to about $205,000.

Increases in the form of surcharges to offset special local taxes would be levied on the bills of customers in 25 municipalities. The rate cuts would affect customers in 13 counties of the southernmost part of Monongahela's operational area, along with about 22,000 small commercial customers.

Potter said the rate reductions, averaging about $4.20 a year, were designed to make charges more uniform throughout the system. Monongahela operates mostly in the northern end of the state.

Progress Reported In Alumni Fund Campaign For West Virginia Colleges

KEYSER—In a joint fund campaign aimed at enlisting the support of some 7,500 alumni of West Virginia colleges and universities residing in the Greater Charleston area, pledges totaled nearly $35,000 and the response was from 79 per cent of the alumni contacted, a figure professional fund raisers consider very high.

Miss Juliann Ritter, Potomac State '41, serving as Potomac State's fund-raising chairman in Charleston, reported that of 29 former PSC students contacted in the Greater Charleston area, 52 per cent made definite commitments. Four persons, though not making outright pledges, favor giving, six are doubtful, two were out of town, and one was undecided.

Assisting Miss Ritter in the Phonorama, conducted from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company office building in Charleston with facilities they donated, was Mrs. Ethel T. Cox, PS '38.

The 20-institution drive was part of Higher Education Week in West Virginia, sponsored by the W. Va. Association of College and University Presidents, November 13-20.

Bethany and Shepherd turned in the best percentage performance —100 percent of their alumni solicited. Greenbrier College was third with 98 per cent and Alderson-Broaddus was fourth with 94.8 per cent. Morris Harvey College had the highest individual participation—983 alumni.

The Olin Matheison Corp. awarded the above mentioned colleges $500 to be divided among the five for bringing in the highest ratio of donations.

Miss Ritter said that letters and brochures explaining the program, CAUSE (College Alumni United in Support of Education), were sent to PSC alumni who could not be reached by telephone.

The four purposes of CAUSE outlined by Miss Elizabeth Hallanan, secretary of the united project of the W. Va. Association of College and University Presidents are: (1) to dramatize the need of alumni support for higher education; (2) to increase the number of alumni gifts for each of the participating institutions; (3) to stimulate a healthy spirit of competition in the alumni giving of the ex-students of each school; and (4) to set an example which the participating colleges might want to duplicate in other West Virginia cities in the future.

West Virginia is the first state to conduct a unified campaign for alumni donations. Ohio colleges have experimented with the idea on a small scale, as have Texas and Minnesota schools.

Commenting on the success of the drive, Dr. Theodore A. Distler of Washington, executive director of the Association of American Colleges, said: "This can have a tremendous impact not only in terms of loyalty to your individual institutions, but in terms of loyalty of all your alumni to all of higher education in the state . . . . I would be very much surprised if this element of unity in your cooperative program is not adopted by other states, and that very soon . . . it is a pioneering venture unique in our country—as a matter of fact, in all the world I have traveled in . . . ."

He pointed out that the job ahead for higher education is extremely challenging, and that the dollars available for higher education in West Virginia must quadruple in the next seven to ten years as each college must have available about twice the resources per student that it presently has.

Moorefield Street Lights Are Installed

Santa Treats 500 Youngsters

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The ceremony of turning on the new Community Christmas lights was most successful, according to officials of the Moorefield Merchants Association and of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company. More than 500 youngsters were presented with bags of candy by Santa Claus.

Firemen had been working evenings putting up the cables for the Christmas lights and placing the strings. Final installations were made Saturday afternoon and evening. The installations will be permanent and will be used again next year. The decorations start at the corner of Winchester and Main streets and extend both north and south for nearly a block and will be added to each year.

The Community Christmas tree was erected and decorated by the Moorefield Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol but unfortunately the lights were not connected in time for the arrival of Santa Claus.

Giant Star Is Landmark On PSC Campus

Christmas Emblem Visible For Miles

KEYSER — This Christmas, as has been the custom for the past 22 years, a huge star is now bedecking one of the Potomac State College campus buildings.

This year, the star, which measures 20 feet from point to point is adorning the new Library. It is visible to residents of Keyser and McCoole and is Potomac State's contribution to the community decorations for the Christmas season.

The idea for the star is credited to members of the maintenance department, who, in 1939, erected the first star on top of the administration building. That first star, which could hardly be seen from downtown Keyser, measured only six feet from point to point.

The second star, made of plywood, was enlarged to 16 feet; and the third was reduced to 11 feet which was inadequate. The fourth star, which is the present one, was enlarged and last year held three bushel of 15 and 25 watt bulbs plus approximately 500 feet of wiring.

This year the lights form a green Christmas tree, a red star, and a white one. The maintenance department erected the star last week under the direction of Phil Baker. Albert Wilhide, the college electrician, arranged the lighting.

Santa Treats 500 Youngsters

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The ceremony of turning on the new Community Christmas lights was most successful, according to officials of the Moorefield Merchants Association and of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company. More than 500 youngsters were presented with bags of candy by Santa Claus.

The installations will be permanent and will be used again next year. The decorations start at the corner of Winchester and Main streets and extend both north and south for nearly a block and will be added to each year.

The Community Christmas tree was erected and decorated by the Moorefield Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol but unfortunately the lights were not connected in time for the arrival of Santa Claus.

Giant Star Is Landmark On PSC Campus

Christmas Emblem Visible For Miles

KEYSER — This Christmas, as has been the custom for the past 22 years, a huge star is now bedecking one of the Potomac State College campus buildings.

This year, the star, which measures 20 feet from point to point is adorning the new Library. It is visible to residents of Keyser and McCoole and is Potomac State's contribution to the community decorations for the Christmas season.

The idea for the star is credited to members of the maintenance department, who, in 1939, erected the first star on top of the administration building. That first star, which could hardly be seen from downtown Keyser, measured only six feet from point to point.

The second star, made of plywood, was enlarged to 16 feet; and the third was reduced to 11 feet which was inadequate. The fourth star, which is the present one, was enlarged and last year held three bushel of 15 and 25 watt bulbs plus approximately 500 feet of wiring.

This year the lights form a green Christmas tree, a red star, and a white one. The maintenance department erected the star last week under the direction of Phil Baker. Albert Wilhide, the college electrician, arranged the lighting.

Father And Son Act — Story Of Lost Tag
Maphis Tops 'Em All — Birds Deny Big Trade

By C. V. BURNS

JOHN J. LONG'S 52 points in a game against Bruce High School on the old Allegany County High School court, Greene street, in 1924, is the oldest record in the 41-year history of the W.M.I. Basketball League, which opens another campaign one month from today. This is also a local record.

Last season, Michael Long, son of the present city commissioner, made it a Father and Son Act when he rang up 666 points in 28 games for LaSalle, an all-time high for a Cumberland high school player. Mike's average of 23.8 is also a Cumberland season record. It was at LaSalle that Mike's dad got his start in basketball. He later transferred to Allegany.

BILL MAPHIS, the ex-Romney High sharpshooter, holds more records than any player in the tri-state area and here they are:

Most points scored in 4-year high school career — 2,504 in 92 games, including tournaments. In 81 regular season contests Maphis scored 2,181 for 26.9 averages.

Highest average for regular season in area: 31.5 in 1959-60. Scored 629 points in 20 games.

Highest point total in area for regular season — 652 in 21 games, 1958-59.

Most points ever scored by area player in single season — 831 in 26 games for 31.96 average in his senior year.

Most points in season by W.M.I. League player — Robert Kirk, Barton, 235 in 10 games. Also highest average of 23.5.

Highest W.M.I. foul shooting average—Jim Hansel, Beall, 33 out of 37 for .892 in 1959 season.

Highest score in W.M.I. League game—Barton 132, Midland 10, January 11, 1927.

Lowest scoring game in modern basketball — Piedmont 10, Ridgeley 7, January 19, 1960 at Ridgeley.

Best team record in tri-state area — Romney, 27-0, in 1959-60 season. Romney's regular season record was 21-0.

Longest winning streak in W.M.I. League — 44 games by Allegany, 1944 to 1948.

Most points scored by Cumberland player over regular 21-game schedule — Tommy Smith, Carver High, 495 in 1955. Also highest average 23.5.

JOE HAUGEN, of Lonaconing, is among the 15 players recommended as varsity lettermen of West Virginia University's first soccer team, which won two matches, tied four and lost four this year.

Joe suffered a broken jaw in the final game of the season and now wears two sets of braces — metal and rubber — and is on a liquid diet.

Joseph K. Haugen, his father, is now vice principal of Valley High School. He started teaching at Central High School in 1926.

Last Saturday on the opening day of the deer season a Baltimorean bagged a buck in this county.

When he returned home he took the animal to his butcher and asked him to cut it up.

The butcher asked for proof that this was a legal kill but the hunter stated that the tag which had been attached to the deer was lost en route home. The butcher refused to cut the deer, explaining that if this was an illegal kill he would be subject to a fine of $100.

A warden called Minke on Monday morning and asked if it was possible to produce a record to show that this deer was a legal kill.

The regional warden sorted out his stack of tags that are issued by the checking stations and finally found the name of the hunter who bagged the whitetail.

The late Dr. R. P. Elmer, Bob's father, was the world's archery champion for 11 years, 1911 to 1922, and taught Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., and Errol Flynn how to handle the bow and arrow when they were preparing for roles in the movie "Robin Hood." Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt also was one of Dr. Elmer's archery pupils.

Bob was a former employe of the sports department of the Baltimore Sun and for 10 years served as general manager of the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball League when Buddy Jeannette and Clair Bee were the coaches.

VOICE on the phone:

"How come the Cumberland papers missed the big trade last Friday in which Gus Triandos and Marv Breeding of Baltimore were swapped for John Roseboro and Charley Neal of the Los Angeles Dodgers? It got headlines in a Baltimore evening paper."

It was true the story was headlined in a Baltimore newspaper but this "exclusive" was denied the following day by the Orioles' management.

TIP to deer hunters:

When you shoot a deer make sure he's dead before you touch him with the tip of your knife or you're quite likely to get kicked right in the face.

Best way to see if he's dead is to touch his eye. If there is no response from the eyelid, he should be ready for the next operation.

QUOTING Carroll H. "Beano" Cook, University of Pittsburgh's sports publicist:

"The only publicity director who tells people to stay away is Bill Snypp of Ohio State.

"I envy him. He counts the attendance by counting the empty seats and subtracting the total from 83,000.

"If a professor flunks 28 of 30 students, the students are dumb. If 28 of 30 football players play poorly, the coach is terrible."

Maryland Is Sixth In Race Attendance

An estimated $142 million parimutuel handle would provide the state with more than $7.5 million.

An unofficial Associated Press survey showed New York at the top of the list, as usual, with attendance of 5,731,686 and a handle of $544,251,460.

Soft Drink Firm Sued By Hornsby

CHICAGO (AP)—Rogers Hornsby, 65, former National League baseball star, sued a soft drink firm and two of its distributors for $1 million Thursday, charging copyright infringement.

The action filed in U.S. District Court charged the firms published a composite of seven books Hornsby wrote in 1936 without permission and has distributed since 1956 the book entitled, "7-up Presents: How to play baseball, by Rogers Hornsby."

Defendants are the Seven-Up Co., the Joyce Seven-Up Bottlers, Inc., and the Chicago Seven-Up Bottling Co., all of Chicago.

The California Horse Racing Board reveals that $228,095.80 in unclaimed winning pari-mutuel tickets was the record for the 1960 season at all tracks in the state. The money goes to the state 60 days after the close of each meeting.

NO. 1 IN FOOTBALL—He's Ernie Davis, the Syracuse All-American and Heisman Trophy winner, who was the first draft choice of the National Football League in the selections made in Chicago. Davis was picked by Washington but reports are that he may wind up with Cleveland in a trade for Bobby Mitchell.

Baylor Is Fleer November Winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Elgin Baylor, the Los Angeles Lakers' workhorse forward, Thursday was named the November winner of the Fleer National Basketball Association player of the month award.

The monthly award, inaugurated this season by a chewing gum manufacturer, is decided by the votes of basketball writers and broadcasters in NBA cities.

The six-foot-five Baylor averaged nearly 35 points and more than 17 rebounds per game in leading the Lakers to the top of the Western Division.

Richie Guerin of the New York Knickerbockers was second in the November voting and Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics third.

VOICE on the phone:

"How come the Cumberland papers missed the big trade last Friday in which Gus Triandos and Marv Breeding of Baltimore were swapped for John Roseboro and Charley Neal of the Los Angeles Dodgers? It got headlines in a Baltimore evening paper."

It was true the story was headlined in a Baltimore newspaper but this "exclusive" was denied the following day by the Orioles' management.

TIP to deer hunters:

When you shoot a deer make sure he's dead before you touch him with the tip of your knife or you're quite likely to get kicked right in the face.

Best way to see if he's dead is to touch his eye. If there is no response from the eyelid, he should be ready for the next operation.

"The only publicity director who tells people to stay away is Bill Snypp of Ohio State.

"I envy him. He counts the attendance by counting the empty seats and subtracting the total from 83,000.

"If a professor flunks 28 of 30 students, the students are dumb. If 28 of 30 football players play poorly, the coach is terrible."

Maryland Is Sixth In Race Attendance

An estimated $142 million parimutuel handle would provide the state with more than $7.5 million.

An unofficial Associated Press survey showed New York at the top of the list, as usual, with attendance of 5,731,686 and a handle of $544,251,460.

Soft Drink Firm Sued By Hornsby

CHICAGO (AP)—Rogers Hornsby, 65, former National League baseball star, sued a soft drink firm and two of its distributors for $1 million Thursday, charging copyright infringement.

The action filed in U.S. District Court charged the firms published a composite of seven books Hornsby wrote in 1936 without permission and has distributed since 1956 the book entitled, "7-up Presents: How to play baseball, by Rogers Hornsby."

Defendants are the Seven-Up Co., the Joyce Seven-Up Bottlers, Inc., and the Chicago Seven-Up Bottling Co., all of Chicago.

The California Horse Racing Board reveals that $228,095.80 in unclaimed winning pari-mutuel tickets was the record for the 1960 season at all tracks in the state. The money goes to the state 60 days after the close of each meeting.

NO. 1 IN FOOTBALL—He's Ernie Davis, the Syracuse All-American and Heisman Trophy winner, who was the first draft choice of the National Football League in the selections made in Chicago. New York Favored Over Eagles In NFL Game Of Week Sunday

Philadelphia Site Of Battle For Top Berth

Browns Face Bears, Colts, Los Angeles To Meet Saturday

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press International

The National Football League presents a nationally - televised Saturday afternoon game between the Baltimore Colts and Los Angeles Rams this weekend as a prelude to Sunday's Eastern Division showdown between the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles.

Giants Are Favored

The NFL game of the week takes place Sunday at Philadelphia, where the Giants and Eagles, tied at 9-3 in the standings, clash in a battle for the Eastern Division lead. Oddsmakers made the Giants 3½-point favorites.

In other Sunday games, the Cleveland Browns, only one game behind the Giants and Eagles, were the choice by 3 points for an important inter - divisional game against the Bears at Chicago; the Packers were 3½-point picks over the Forty - Niners at San Francisco; the Detroit Lions were 14 at home over the Minnesota Vikings; the Pittsburgh Steelers were 9 over the Redskins at Washington, and the St. Louis Cardinals were 12 at home over the Dallas Cowboys.

The American Football League also had a Saturday afternoon game in which the Boston Patriots sought to keep alive their hopes of winning the Eastern Division title. Boston was an 8-point pick over the Oakland Raiders in San Francisco.

Houston Plays Titans

On Sunday, the Houston Oilers, who lead the Eastern Division, were picked by 10 points over the Titans at New York; the San Diego Packers were 15 at home over the Buffalo Bills, and the Dallas Texans were 12 at home over the Denver Broncos.

Both the Giants and the Eagles had important defensive backs on the injured list for their game expected to draw more than 60,000 at Philadelphia's Franklin Field.

Already on the disabled list were safetymen Dick Nolan and Billy Stits of the Giants, and Tom Brookshier, the Eagles' all-NFL corner halfback. Irv Cross, Brookshier's stand-in, suffered a concussion last week and will play with a specially padded helmet. Don Burroughs, Philadelphia's standout safetyman, has a sprained hand that is slow in healing.

Patton Will Play

Jimmy Patton, the Giants' all-pro safetyman, will play despite a bruised shoulder, while at the other safety position, rookie Allen Webb is recovering from a sprained ankle and fullback Joe Morrison again may be required to take over that job.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Morgan State College of Baltimore, Md., long a track power, became the 66th member of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America (IC4-A) Thursday at the group's annual meeting held in conjunction with the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

At the same time, the IC 4-A announced it will henceforth divide its annual cross - country championships into two sections —major college and small — so that its 53rd title meet at Van Cortlandt Park, Nov. 19, 1962, will include four races—freshman small and major and varsity small and major.

The IC 4-A elected Delaney Kiphuth of Yale as its president; William Ward, St. John's, vice-president; Asa S. Bushnell, ECAC commissioner, secretary - treasurer.

It also set the date for its 1963 indoor meet as March 9 at Madison Square Garden and its outdoor meet as May 31-June 1 at Randalls Island.

No Buc "Untouchables" Says General Manager

Brown Talks Swap With Dozen Clubs; Pilot Likes Hurlers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — There are no "untouchables" on the Pittsburgh Pirate baseball team but general manager Joe L. Brown conceded Thursday that some players were more "touchable" than others.

Brown said no concrete results developed at the recent winter baseball meetings at Miami Beach where he talked trade with at least a dozen major league clubs.

"Because of the time element involved in inter - league trades, we talked mostly with American League clubs," he said at a press luncheon at Forbes Field. "But those clubs had nobody we wanted. We have exhausted the possibilities of dealing with some clubs."

The inter-league trades began Nov. 20 and close Dec. 15.

"If we were to specify what we are looking for, it hurts our chances to make a deal," he said. "I refuse to divulge specific areas where we have weaknesses.

"There are no untouchables on our squad. Some players may be more touchable than others. Some are easier to acquire than others because of a change in relative values.

Many Pirate fans, disappointed by the sixth-place finish of their home team, regard pitching as the most needed commodity. But manager Danny Murtaugh took another view.

"Joe Gibbon came into his own last season and next year should be a heck of a pitcher," Murtaugh said. "Even if a pitcher has stuff it is hard to produce the first year. Playing in the big leagues requires just as much a mental jump as physical attributes. A young pitcher needs at least a year to adjust himself when he comes up to the majors.

"Alvin McBean has a fine arm and showed promise as a reliefer last season as a rookie. Earl Francis has a major league arm and probably has the best fast ball and curve on our pitching staff. But he must adjust himself mentally.

"I think the Pirates have the potential for a one-two-three finish next season."

FLASH ON TRACK — New speed king of the turf may be Native Diver, a two-year-old son of Imbros and owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Shapiro of Los Angeles. In three official outings to date the colt has set new records for a first - starting juvenile, turning in a 1:09.4 clocking for the six furlongs.

Fullmer 3-1 Favorite To Beat Paret

Manager Looks For Tough Title Fight

By BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gene Fullmer remained a consistent 3-1 favorite Thursday to retain the National Boxing Association share of the world middleweight championship against Benny (Kid) Paret in 15 rounds or less Saturday night.

But Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, viewed the nationally televised attraction this way:

Back in 1955 Fullmer, then boxing his way into national prominence, fought Turner on April 4 in Brooklyn and lost a decision in 10 rounds.

"And don't forget, Paret has everything to gain in this fight and nothing to lose.

"He is the welterweight champion of the world and he will still be welterweight champion even if he loses in shooting for the middleweight title.

"With someone else, I mean a middleweight, this would be his chance for the title. He would be under pressure. But Paret will not really be under any pressure. He can take chances and not have to worry if he misses."

Neither fighter will have any trouble making the 160-pound weight limit.

Paret's manager, Manuel Alfaro, said the Kid will hit around 154.

Jenson said Fullmer will make just under 160 pounds.

Fullmer 3-1 Favorite To Beat Paret

Manager Looks For Tough Title Fight

By BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gene Fullmer remained a consistent 3-1 favorite Thursday to retain the National Boxing Association share of the world middleweight championship against Benny (Kid) Paret in 15 rounds or less Saturday night.

But Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, viewed the nationally televised attraction this way:

Jenson, who with Fullmer practically owns the little town of West Jordan, Utah, searched his mind and recalled Gene's matches with a now almost forgotten fighter named Gil Turner.

Back in 1955 Fullmer, then boxing his way into national prominence, fought Turner on April 4 in Brooklyn and lost a decision in 10 rounds.

"And don't forget, Paret has everything to gain in this fight and nothing to lose.

"He is the welterweight champion of the world and he will still be welterweight champion even if he loses in shooting for the middleweight title.

"With someone else, I mean a middleweight, this would be his chance for the title. He would be under pressure. But Paret will not really be under any pressure. He can take chances and not have to worry if he misses."

Neither fighter will have any trouble making the 160-pound weight limit.

Paret's manager, Manuel Alfaro, said the Kid will hit around 154.

Jenson said Fullmer will make just under 160 pounds.

Big Line, Brilliant Backfield Features AP's All-America Squad

Two Honor Students On First Team

Ferguson, Stephens, Davis And Saxton Comprise Backfield

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP)—A giant line averaging 232½ pounds to the man and one of the most brilliant backfields of recent years feature the 1961 Associated Press All-America football team announced Thursday.

Merlin Olsen of Utah State at 265, playing tackle, is the biggest member of the forward wall that includes Jerry Hillebrand, Colorado, and Bill Miller, Miami of Florida, ends; Bill Neighbors, Alabama, tackle; Roy Winston, Louisiana State and Dave Behrman, Michigan State, guards, and Alex Kroll, Rutgers, center.

The team was chosen on the recommendations of 49 sports writers and sportscasters representing the eight NCAA districts on a proportionate basis, taking into account the complete season's performances.

Two Honor Students

At least two of the first team are outstanding students — Kroll, a Phi Beta Kappa candidate who led Rutgers to its first unbeaten season since 1869, and Olsen, an honor student in business administration.

The power comes from Ferguson and Davis.

Ferguson, meeting the toughest kind of competition in the Big Ten, made 938 yards in 202 carries for a 4.6 average, and scored 11 touchdowns.

Davis, first Negro ever to win the Heisman Trophy, broke the redoubtable Jimmy Brown's career record for total offense at Syracuse with 3,414 yards as against 3,225 for Brown and scored 220 points in three years to Brown's 187.

Miller Is Small Man

Saxton, who runs like a waterbug in spectacular spurts, made 846 yards in 107 carries.

Stephens gets most of the credit for sending Minnesota to the Rose Bowl. His big day was in Minnesota's 23-20 victory over Michigan when he set a school record for offense with 304 yards, including a 63-yard touchdown run, and a 46-yard touchdown pass.

The small man on the forward wall is Miller — 192 pounds and 6-2. He makes up in agility and drive for what he lacks in power. This season he caught 43 passes for 640 yards and two touchdowns.

Hillebrand at the other end was a superb defender and key kicker for Colorado entirely aside from catching 17 passes for 282 yards. He scored 49 points on four touchdowns, three field goals, 14 PATs, and one pass conversion.

Neighbors was the key man in Alabama's defense, the tightest in the nation, which allowed only 2.2 points per game and a scant average 55 yards in rushing.

HUNTER SLAYS 193-POUND DEER—John Flanagan, of Route 1, Homewood Addition, is shown with the biggest deer killed in Allegany county in at least five years. Flanagan bagged this 10-point, 193-pound buck yesterday while hunting on Piney Mountain. A total of 554 have been killed in the county during the first five days of the season.

Twenty Bucks Killed On 5th Day Of Season

John Flanagan Slays Record 193-Pounder

Twenty deer were reported killed by hunters yesterday in Allegany County, increasing the total to 554 for the first five days of the 7-day season which ends Saturday.

Yesterday's kill was the low for five days and compared with 31 Wednesday, 55 Tuesday, 79 Monday and 388 on last Saturday, opening day.

On the fifth day in 1960 the kill in Allegany county totaled 22. Last year's five-day total was 661.

John Flanagan, of Homewood Addition, bagged the biggest deer killed in Allegany county in at least five years when he brought down a 193-pounder with 10 points yesterday on Piney Mountain.

LaVale Barracks of the State Police and Hess Service Station, Oldtown, each checked seven Allegany county kills yesterday. Jake's Service Station, Westernport, checked three; Shipway's Inn, Green Ridge, two, and Hoffman's Inn, Sideling Hill, one.

Twenty nimrods of Allegany county and vicinity who were successful yesterday were:

Golf Ball Fallout Is Dangerous

15,000 Suffered Disabling Injuries

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The Institute for Safer Living Thursday rated golf ball fallout as more dangerous than nuclear fallout—thus far, at least.

He said a nationwide study just completed indicates that more than 15,000 players, caddies and workmen suffered disabling injuries this year — a majority of them from flying golf balls.

The institute, maintained by the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co., rates the speed of a hard-hit golf ball as greater than 250 miles an hour.

"It can deliver a knockout blow to any person in its path," the report said.

Players Trigger Happy

"Well over half of all golfing injuries," the institute estimated, "were caused by balls driven by 'trigger happy' players."

Among the approximate 15,000 golf accident injury victims, 50 per cent were players, caddies suffered 25 per cent of the injuries and grounds keepers and other workmen a large part of the remainder.

But swinging clubs injured many others — people who simply stood too close to a fellow player while the club traveled in an arc at 200-miles-per-hour.

The institute blamed golfing zeal and lack of common sense in exposure to the sun's rays.

Felled By Overexertion

The fourth greatest number of golf course victims were felled by overexertion and many of them were older golfers.

How can you be safe — and not sorry — in golf?

The institute makes this suggestion: "Be courteous — and alert."

SHORT PASS

DALLAS (UPI)—Eddie LeBaron of the Dallas Cowboys completed the shortest touchdown pass in National Football League history. With the ball two inches from the goal line, LeBaron threw a short pass to Dick Bielski for the score against the Washington Redskins, Oct. 9, 1960.

Bobcats Play Eight Football Games In 1962

Three New Teams On Frostburg Card

Frostburg State Teachers College has released its 1962 football schedule, an eight-game card which includes three new opponents for the Bobcats.

Dr. Ron Van Ryswyck, coach of the Bobcats, announced that Montclair State College of Upper Montclair, N. J.; Grove City College of Grove City, Pa.; and Massachusetts State College, Bridgewater, Mass., will appear on the Frostburg State schedule for the first time in 1962.

They replace Davis & Elkins College which has dropped football; and Waynesburg, Pa., College which will not play the Bobcats in 1962 but will return to the schedule in 1963.

Returning foes will be Shepherd College, D. C. Teachers of Washington, Bridgewater College of Virginia, Gallaudet of Washington, and Potomac State.

The Bobcats, participating in football this year for the first time in the school's history, had a 2-5-0 record.

The 1962 schedule will find the Bobcats traveling to Bridgewater, Va., Bridgewater, Mass., Montclair, N. J., and Keyser as they play four games at home and four on the road. The season will open September 22 and will close on November 10.

The schedule:

Oct. 13 — Bridgewater, Va., away.

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Connie Hawkins scored 37 points Thursday night to help the Pittsburgh Rens defeat the Los Angeles Jets 107-93 and snap a five-game losing streak in the nightcap of an American Basketball League doubleheader at the Civic Auditorium before 2,432 fans.

Utah State Favored In Gotham Bowl

40,000 May See Saturday Game

Promoter Bob Curran hopefully is shooting for a 40,000 crowd to go along with a national television (ABC) audience. The weatherman predicted clear skies and a temperature in the low 50s for the 1:15 p.m. EST kickoff.

Both teams held afternoon workouts Thursday — Baylor at Columbia's Baker Field and the Aggies at the Polo Grounds. Both will taper off in light workouts Friday afternoon.

Utah State, which had only one tie, against Wyoming, to mar an otherwise perfect record this season, rolled up 387 points to only 78 for the opposition in 10 games. Its huge line—averaging 225 pounds per man—was instrumental in the near perfect season as was the work of halfback Tom Larscheid, a gifted runner and pass receiver.

All-America tackle Merlin Olsen, Clark Miller and Clyde Brok anchor the Aggie line, which may in the end decide the outcome of the game. All three have been drafted by professional teams.

Coach John Bridgers of Baylor feels that the Bears (5-5), who depend on their passing game for success, must be able to spread out the Utah State defense "or we're licked."

"We are primarily a passing team with a spread offense," he continued, "and all of our quarterbacks (Bobby Ply, Ron Stanley and Don Trull) can throw the ball. We don't have what you might call a No. 1 quarterback and we usually go with the one who is doing the job on a particular day."

Blackman Urges Three-I Baseball League To Disband

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI)—President Kenneth Blackman of the Three - I Class B baseball league Thursday asked directors to suspend operations effective Dec. 31, 1961.

Blackman said he made the move because of "the lack of two definite clubs" and the shortage of time before the season was scheduled to open to work out agreements with major league teams.

A "yes" vote by all five of the remaining clubs in the league—the oldest Class B circuit in the nation—is needed to suspend operations.

Asked to approve the step were Cedar Rapids and Des Moines, Iowa; Lincoln, Neb., Fox Cities (Appleton, Wis.), and Topeka, Kan. The sixth member of the league, Burlington, has already joined the Class D Midwest League.

Oklahoma Aggies May Fire Coach

STILLWATER, Okla., (UPI)—Oklahoma State football coach Cliff Speegle flew home late Thursday to attent a special regents meeting Thursday night, amid reports he is about to be fired.

He was accompained by Athletic Director Henry Iba, who indicated he would fight any demotion or athletic department shakeup.

Speegle said he would not resign. He said the school's athletic officials were behind him. IBA said he has no intention of giving up his position as athletic director.

"I don't quit when a fight is going on," Iba said.

Palmer Is Eight Strokes Off Pace

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—An American, a Canadian and an Argentine played Biltmore Country Club like a pitch-and-putt course Thursday, carding six-under-par 65s to share the first round lead in the $20,000 Coral Gables Open golf tournament.

But Bill Farrell Springfield, N. J., George Knudson of Toronto and Chico Miartuz of Miami Beach needed every one of the six birdies each collected to move in front of the field on a sizzling scoring day when 48 pros broke par and 17 others matched it.

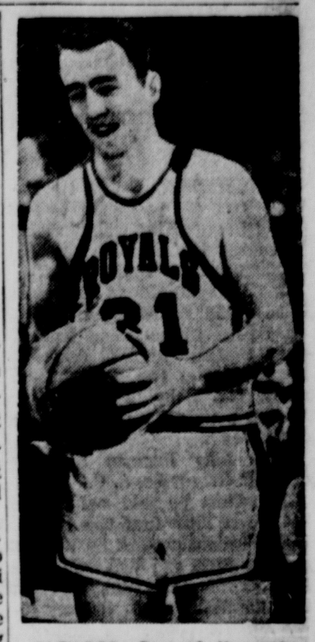

Only one strike behind at 66 were Dan Sikes of Jacksonville and Gordon Jones of Orlando, with heavy-hitting George Bayer of Miami, Dave Marr of Sun City, Ariz., and Fred Wampler of St. Louis only one stroke further back at 67.

Sixty-eight, normally a decent golfing score, was good for only a ninth place tie in this final tournament on the 1961 PGA tour, with Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla.; Ed Furgol of Pittsburgh, Tony Lemma of San Leandro, Calif.; Bob Pratt of Houston, and Bill Ezinicki of Falmouth, Mass., all turning in cards reading that way.

The hot scoring by the lesser-knowns left many a big name in the dust. Among them were Sam Snead, who went around in a respectable 70; Gray Brewer Jr., who won the last two PGA tournaments, with 69; Bob Goalby, last year's winner here, at even-par 71, and Arnold Palmer, who stumbled home with a 73.

Big Line, Brilliant Backfield Features AP's All-America Squad

Two Honor Students On First Team

By TED SMITS

The team was chosen on the recommendations of 49 sports writers and sportscasters representing the eight NCAA districts on a proportionate basis, taking into account the complete season's performances.

Two Honor Students

At least two of the first team are outstanding students — Kroll, a Phi Beta Kappa candidate who led Rutgers to its first unbeaten season since 1869, and Olsen, an honor student in business administration.

Ferguson, meeting the toughest kind of competition in the Big Ten, made 938 yards in 202 carries for a 4.6 average, and scored 11 touchdowns.

Davis, first Negro ever to win the Heisman Trophy, broke the redoubtable Jimmy Brown's career record for total offense at Syracuse with 3,414 yards as against 3,225 for Brown and scored 220 points in three years to Brown's 187.

Miller Is Small Man

Stephens gets most of the credit for sending Minnesota to the Rose Bowl. His big day was in Minnesota's 23-20 victory over Michigan when he set a school record for offense with 304 yards, including a 63-yard touchdown run, and a 46-yard touchdown pass.

The small man on the forward wall is Miller — 192 pounds and 6-2. He makes up in agility and drive for what he lacks in power. This season he caught 43 passes for 640 yards and two touchdowns.

Hillebrand at the other end was a superb defender and key kicker for Colorado entirely aside from catching 17 passes for 282 yards. He scored 49 points on four touchdowns, three field goals, 14 PATs, and one pass conversion.

Neighbors was the key man in Alabama's defense, the tightest in the nation, which allowed only 2.2 points per game and a scant average 55 yards in rushing.

HUNTER SLAYS 193-POUND DEER—John Flanagan, of Route 1, Homewood Addition, is shown with the biggest deer killed in Allegany county in at least five years. Flanagan bagged this 10-point, 193-pound buck yesterday while hunting on Piney Mountain. A total of 554 have been killed in the county during the first five days of the season.

Twenty Bucks Killed On 5th Day Of Season

John Flanagan Slays Record 193-Pounder

Twenty deer were reported killed by hunters yesterday in Allegany County, increasing the total to 554 for the first five days of the 7-day season which ends Saturday.

Yesterday's kill was the low for five days and compared with 31 Wednesday, 55 Tuesday, 79 Monday and 388 on last Saturday, opening day.

On the fifth day in 1960 the kill in Allegany county totaled 22. Last year's five-day total was 661.

John Flanagan, of Homewood Addition, bagged the biggest deer killed in Allegany county in at least five years when he brought down a 193-pounder with 10 points yesterday on Piney Mountain.

LaVale Barracks of the State Police and Hess Service Station, Oldtown, each checked seven Allegany county kills yesterday. Jake's Service Station, Westernport, checked three; Shipway's Inn, Green Ridge, two, and Hoffman's Inn, Sideling Hill, one.

SHIPWAY'S, GREEN RIDGE
George Clingerman, Flintstone, 2-93, Polish Mt.
Homer Creek, Little Orleans, 8-150, Dick's Ridge.

JAKE'S SERVICE STA., WESTERNPORT
Roger Bosley, Westernport, 7-107, Dan's Mt.

Golf Ball Fallout Is Dangerous

15,000 Suffered Disabling Injuries

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The Institute for Safer Living Thursday rated golf ball fallout as more dangerous than nuclear fallout—thus far, at least.

He said a nationwide study just completed indicates that more than 15,000 players, caddies and workmen suffered disabling injuries this year — a majority of them from flying golf balls.

The institute, maintained by the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co., rates the speed of a hard-hit golf ball as greater than 250 miles an hour.

"It can deliver a knockout blow to any person in its path," the report said.

Players Trigger Happy

"Well over half of all golfing injuries," the institute estimated, "were caused by balls driven by 'trigger happy' players."

Among the approximate 15,000 golf accident injury victims, 50 per cent were players, caddies suffered 25 per cent of the injuries and grounds keepers and other workmen a large part of the remainder.

But swinging clubs injured many others — people who simply stood too close to a fellow player while the club traveled in an arc at 200-miles-per-hour.

The institute blamed golfing zeal and lack of common sense in exposure to the sun's rays.

Felled By Overexertion

The fourth greatest number of golf course victims were felled by overexertion and many of them were older golfers.

How can you be safe — and not sorry — in golf?

SHORT PASS

DALLAS (UPI)—Eddie LeBaron of the Dallas Cowboys completed the shortest touchdown pass in National Football League history. With the ball two inches from the goal line, LeBaron threw a short pass to Dick Bielski for the score against the Washington Redskins, Oct. 9, 1960.

Utah State Favored In Gotham Bowl

40,000 May See Saturday Game

Promoter Bob Curran hopefully is shooting for a 40,000 crowd to go along with a national television (ABC) audience. The weatherman predicted clear skies and a temperature in the low 50s for the 1:15 p.m. EST kickoff.

Both teams held afternoon workouts Thursday — Baylor at Columbia's Baker Field and the Aggies at the Polo Grounds. Both will taper off in light workouts Friday afternoon.

Utah State, which had only one tie, against Wyoming, to mar an otherwise perfect record this season, rolled up 387 points to only 78 for the opposition in 10 games. Its huge line—averaging 225 pounds per man—was instrumental in the near perfect season as was the work of halfback Tom Larscheid, a gifted runner and pass receiver.

All-America tackle Merlin Olsen, Clark Miller and Clyde Brok anchor the Aggie line, which may in the end decide the outcome of the game. All three have been drafted by professional teams.

Coach John Bridgers of Baylor feels that the Bears (5-5), who depend on their passing game for success, must be able to spread out the Utah State defense "or we're licked."

"We are primarily a passing team with a spread offense," he continued, "and all of our quarterbacks (Bobby Ply, Ron Stanley and Don Trull) can throw the ball. We don't have what you might call a No. 1 quarterback and we usually go with the one who is doing the job on a particular day."

Blackman Urges Three-I Baseball League To Disband

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI)—President Kenneth Blackman of the Three - I Class B baseball league Thursday asked directors to suspend operations effective Dec. 31, 1961.

Blackman said he made the move because of "the lack of two definite clubs" and the shortage of time before the season was scheduled to open to work out agreements with major league teams.

A "yes" vote by all five of the remaining clubs in the league—the oldest Class B circuit in the nation—is needed to suspend operations.

Asked to approve the step were Cedar Rapids and Des Moines, Iowa; Lincoln, Neb., Fox Cities (Appleton, Wis.), and Topeka, Kan. The sixth member of the league, Burlington, has already joined the Class D Midwest League.

Oklahoma Aggies May Fire Coach

STILLWATER, Okla., (UPI)—Oklahoma State football coach Cliff Speegle flew home late Thursday to attent a special regents meeting Thursday night, amid reports he is about to be fired.

He was accompained by Athletic Director Henry Iba, who indicated he would fight any demotion or athletic department shakeup.

Speegle said he would not resign. He said the school's athletic officials were behind him. IBA said he has no intention of giving up his position as athletic director.

"I don't quit when a fight is going on," Iba said.

Palmer Is Eight Strokes Off Pace

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—An American, a Canadian and an Argentine played Biltmore Country Club like a pitch-and-putt course Thursday, carding six-under-par 65s to share the first round lead in the $20,000 Coral Gables Open golf tournament.

But Bill Farrell Springfield, N. J., George Knudson of Toronto and Chico Miartuz of Miami Beach needed every one of the six birdies each collected to move in front of the field on a sizzling scoring day when 48 pros broke par and 17 others matched it.

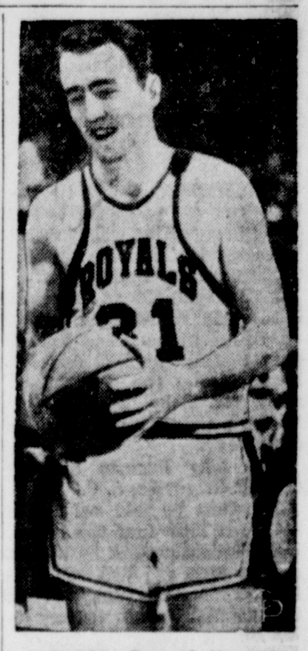

Only one strike behind at 66 were Dan Sikes of Jacksonville and Gordon Jones of Orlando, with heavy-hitting George Bayer of Miami, Dave Marr of Sun City, Ariz., and Fred Wampler of St. Louis only one stroke further back at 67.

Sixty-eight, normally a decent golfing score, was good for only a ninth place tie in this final tournament on the 1961 PGA tour, with Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla.; Ed Furgol of Pittsburgh, Tony Lemma of San Leandro, Calif.; Bob Pratt of Houston, and Bill Ezinicki of Falmouth, Mass., all turning in cards reading that way.

The hot scoring by the lesser-knowns left many a big name in the dust. Among them were Sam Snead, who went around in a respectable 70; Gray Brewer Jr., who won the last two PGA tournaments, with 69; Bob Goalby, last year's winner here, at even-par 71, and Arnold Palmer, who stumbled home with a 73.

Paul Miller Dies

JACK-POT—One of the veteran stars of the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Assoc., Jack Twyman joins 12 other pro cagers in a select group of scorers after he sinks the 10,000th point of his career in a game with Boston in Cincinnati.

West Virginia Seeks 3d Win Over Citadel

Mountaineers Play At Home Tonight

The Mountaineers will face The Citadel and its balanced scoring attack led by returning starters Gary Daniels and Dan Howe. It is the first of two games in as many nights by West Virginia against a pair of conference title contenders.

Both West Virginia and Citadel have won their first two games. West Virginia breezed by William & Mary 69-53 and VMI 90-56. Citadel beat East Carolina 85-73 and then downed William & Mary 83-76. Against W&M, the Bulldogs' demonstrated their scoring balance. Daniels scored 24 points, Stowers 21 and two others had 12 each.

"The gang is taking real pride in defensive play and if they continue that thinking it could win a lot of games," King said.

King said he is also pleased with how his prize rookie, 6-foot-8 center Tom Lowry, is coming along. Lowry, is coming along. Lowry scored 11 points and was a demon on defense in the VMI game.

"We know Tom can do a good job for us," King said. "All he needs is game experience."

GOAL-GETTER

West Virginia Seeks 3d Win Over Citadel

Mountaineers Play At Home Tonight

The Mountaineers will face The Citadel and its balanced scoring attack led by returning starters Gary Daniels and Dan Howe. It is the first of two games in as many nights by West Virginia against a pair of conference title contenders.

Both West Virginia and Citadel have won their first two games. West Virginia breezed by William & Mary 69-53 and VMI 90-56. Citadel beat East Carolina 85-73 and then downed William & Mary 83-76. Against W&M, the Bulldogs' demonstrated their scoring balance. Daniels scored 24 points, Stowers 21 and two others had 12 each.

"The gang is taking real pride in defensive play and if they continue that thinking it could win a lot of games," King said.

King said he is also pleased with how his prize rookie, 6-foot-8 center Tom Lowry, is coming along. Lowry, is coming along. Lowry scored 11 points and was a demon on defense in the VMI game.

"We know Tom can do a good job for us," King said. "All he needs is game experience."

GOAL-GETTER

Opening lead: Ace of ♦

The defenders had to obtain a club ruff to defeat today's four spade contract. The paradoxical fact was that declarer could have prevented the ruff only if he had stopped drawing trumps.

South fell back on his six card spade suit to scrape up a response to North's one heart opening bid. Thereafter he kept retreating to spades inasmuch as it appeared unlikely that the suit could ever be brought into play at a no trump contract. His decision to bid four spades should have worked out very well.

The ace of diamonds was opened and, seeing nothing better in prospect, West shifted to the jack of clubs. The queen was played from dummy and East signaled with the eight. Declarer went after the trumps, leading the nine. East split his honors. Declarer won with the ace and continued the suit, East took the trick with the king and continued with the five of clubs, completing his echo.

Declarer was eager to draw East's last trump but found himself locked in dummy with no quick way to return to his hand. Accordingly, he led the king of hearts. West won and returned a club, which East ruffed for the setting trick.

Declarer should have recognized the possibility of a club ruff from East's original signal, and he might have diagnosed when the queen of trumps came up that East probably had the king with it and a small trump for ruffing purposes.

If East were to succeed in obtaining the ruff he must find some way to put West into the lead. This could be accomplished only with the ace of hearts. Declarer's first concern, therefore, should be with dislodging that card. After winning with the ace of trumps, South should lead a heart. If West ducks, a heart is continued. West will presumably lead another club, but declarer continues with a spade and East has no way of communicating with partner to obtain the much needed ruff.

ABL Given $4,493,561 Contract

Solid Propellant Work Continuing; Facility Tested

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory is receiving a contract for $4,493,561 for research and development in solid propellants, according to information received last night from U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

The contract, the senator said, is being awarded by the Bureau of Naval Weapons to Hercules Powder Company of Wilmington, Del., with the location of the contract performance at ABL in Rocket Center, W. Va.

He said it will not result in any increase in effort and the contract had been anticipated by Hercules Powder Company.

New Facility Completed

Meanwhile a new simulated high altitude testing facility, the only one of its kind in the United States, will provide ABL with a means of static firing full-scale rocket motors under simulated high altitude flight conditions.

Just completed, the new testing equipment was used for the first time Saturday when an A-2 Polaris second-stage motor was static fired in a simulated atmosphere of high altitude.

Valued at approximately $500,000, the complete testing facility consists of a firing bay, a vacuum system, altitude test chamber, a supersonic diffuser, and a diffuser cooling system. It is the only facility of this size and particular design in this country.

John E. Gideon was facility engineer, and Thomas L. Dunn was construction engineer for the project. Both are from the plant engineering section, which designed the firing bay.

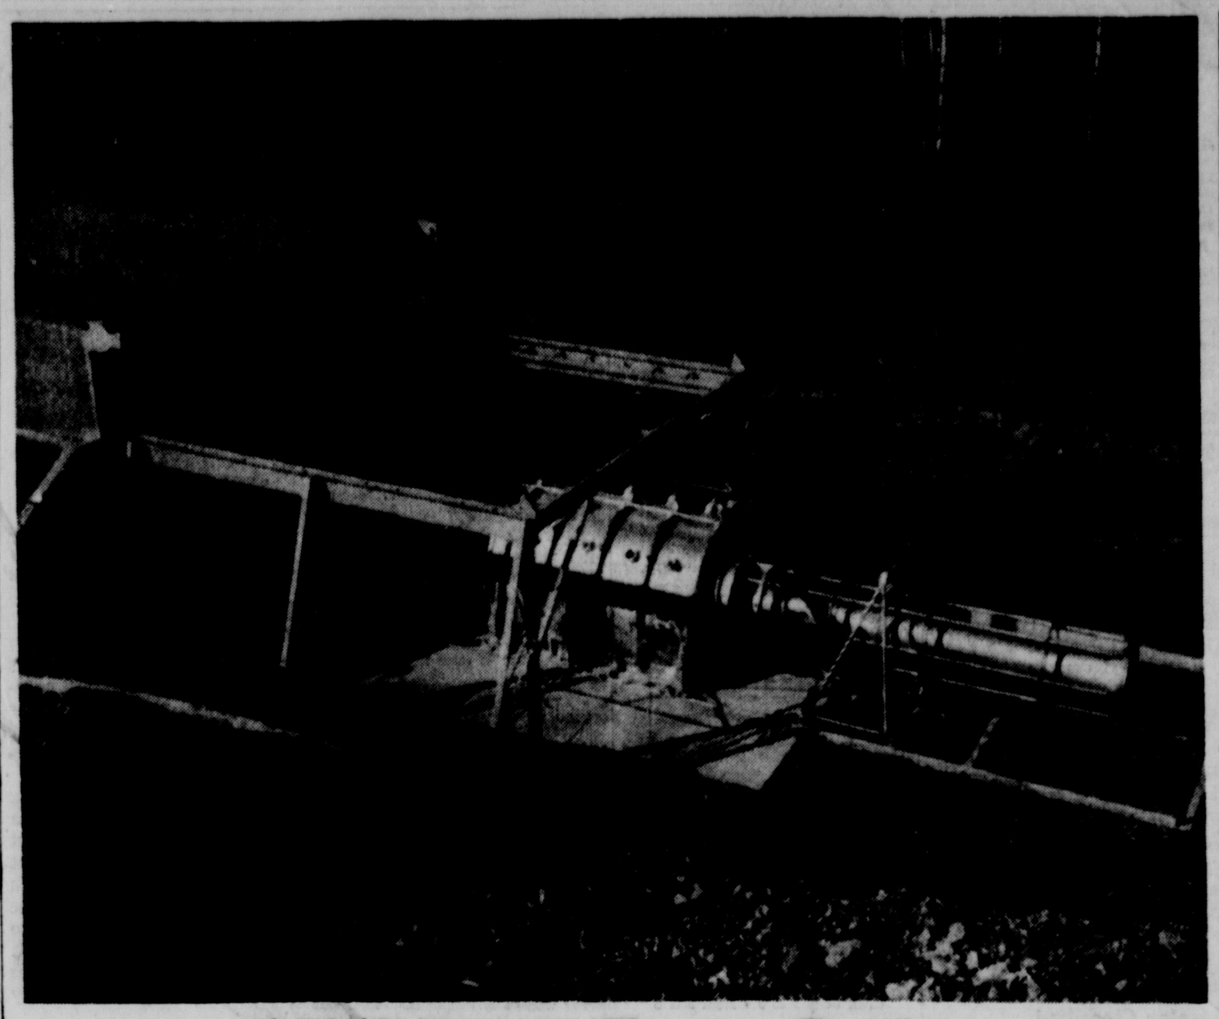

The civil work portion of the testing facility was done by the George F. Hazelwood Company, and the FluiDyne Engineering Corporation, Minneapolis, Minn., installed the equipment.

New Division Formed

The creation of an Energy Research Division at the Hercules Powder Company's Research Center near Wilmington has been announced by Dr. Robert W. Cairns, the company's director of research.

He said the new group will undertake basic studies and applied research in support of Hercules' Chemical Propulsion Division, which is responsible for the production of solid propellant stages for the Minuteman, Polaris and Explorer series of space probes and other space projects.

This type work is being carried on at ABL.

ABL'S Newest Testing Facility

Bachman New President Of Local Chamber

William L. Wilson Jr., local attorney, first vice president; Walter E. Dyck, manager of Works 7 of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, second vice president; Franklin H. Ankeney, president of the Ankeney Company, Inc., treasurer; Carl O. Belt, treasurer of the John I. Vandergrift Company, assistant treasurer, and Robert C. Petersen, manager.

The newly constituted board was organized for 1962 activities at the meeting held in the Fort Cumberland Hotel and attended by 22 of the 30 directors.

C. M. Sanner, retiring president, presented a report on the work of the chamber during the past 18 months.

The board adopted a resolution favoring the extension of the operating rights of the People's Transit Company to go across the West Virginia line at Westernport to pick up passengers in Piedmont.

The executive committee, which includes all elected officers, will meet next week to make plans for the chamber's 1962 program, Mr. Bachman said.

Infant Hospitalized

An 18-month-old Keyser, W. Va., area girl was reported in "satisfactory" condition last night at Sacred Heart Hospital where she was admitted earlier in the day after swallowing a quantity of boric acid.

The girl, Donna Lee Hawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hawn, RFD 3, Keyser, was admitted to the hospital shortly after noon.

Car Hits Pole

Three persons escaped serious injury when their car clipped a utility pole early today on U.S. Route 220 near Engle's Market. State police and volunteer firemen were called to the scene after midnight.

Planner Lists Six-Point Tourist Attraction Plan

C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County's planning director, told the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday at Central YMCA that the biggest asset Allegany County has is that of attracting tourists.

"With the numerous historical, highly scenic qualities and good potential undeveloped recreational facilities, the county is a naturally-suited area for this type of development," Mr. Renaud said.

"Everything that must be done to make a city, county or a state into a community attractive to visitors also makes the area more attractive to residents," Mr. Bossemeyer was quoted as saying.

Mr. Renaud told the Kiwanians that $4,380,000 could be added to the county's economy each year simply by attracting 1,000 visitors to the county each day. He based his total on a conservative estimate that each of the 1,000 visitors would spend $12 for food, lodging, services and gifts.

"Collectively, the people in the United States now spend approximately $29 billion per year on travel at home and abroad for purposes of business and pleasure," Mr. Renaud said. Florida's travel receipts are about $1.75 billion per year and New York State gets about $2.5 billion annually from travel.

To attract more visitors to the county, Mr. Renaud suggested six points.

First, he said, the local people must be informed about the desirability of attracting visitors. They must want the visitors, appreciate having them, and be courteous and hospitable to them.

Second, an attractive setting must be created for visitors where it does not already exist. His third point was that there must be things to do and see. Any scenic, historical or recreational area or attraction or combination of these is highly valuable.

Mr. Renaud's fourth point was that there must be adequate and attractive facilities for receiving and servicing visitors in the ways of accommodations, food, entertainment and services of all kinds.

His fifth point is a continuous and effective program of advertising and promotion designed to make people want to visit the area.

"This starts with the ability of those who receive visitors to provide meritorious service and information. There should be visitor information centers in each city and town, where accurate information can be dispensed and where voluntary host services by civic groups can take form," he concluded.

Probable Effect Of High Dam Explained

FREDERICK (AP) — Col. Warren R. Johnson of the Corps of Engineers says a controversial dam proposed for the Potomac River 12 miles above Washington would have no effect on the water level at Brunswick, Frederick County.

The last of seven meetings was scheduled for Thursday night at Front Royal, Va.

But Johnson conceded that the dam, part of a flood-control plan for the entire Potomac River basin, would leave Point-of-Rocks under 15 feet of water and flood land surrounding the mouth of the Monocacy River with 30 feet of water.

Col. Johnson told a public hearing in Frederick Wednesday night the River Bend dam project also would:

1. Put Seneca, Md., in neighboring Montgomery County under 135 feet of water.

2. Inundate seven miles of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad track and one railroad bridge.

3. Flood at least 35 miles of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, recently designated as a national monument and later proposed as a national park.

About 300 persons attended the hearing, sixth in a series sponsored by the Corps of Engineers. The idea is to get all possible public reaction to the main proposal and four alternates before definite legislation is prepared for Congress.

The big dam at River Bend has been opposed at all six hearings by Thomas S. Giles, an offical of the National Park Service. Giles voiced his objections again at the Frederick hearing, but emphasized he spoke only as an individual. He said the Park Service had reached no conclusions on the project.

GOP Loses One Candidate, May Get Another

Butler Won't Run But McKeldin Might

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Republican party lost a stalwart candidate in next year's elections Thursday in John Marshall Butler, who in a surprise move decided not to seek re-election to a third term.

"No," said McKeldin without hesitation.

Cites "Personal Reasons"

They were reported to be poor health of his wife and less than perfect health himself.

Democratic candidates for the U.S. Senate nomination next May already had been peppering him with criticism for his right wing philosophy in anticipation he would run again.

Even J. Glenn Beall, the other Republican Senator from Maryland, said he had not been aware of Butlers' decision to retire.

Close associates confided the decision was made in the past week.

Democratic Lineup

The Democratic candidates are Daniel B. Brewster, presently a U.S. Representative, Blair Lee III, a state delegate, and Elbert Byrd, a professor at the University of Maryland.

Brewster is running on a ticket headed by Gov. J. Millard Tawes who is seeking a second term. Lee is associated with a ticket led by Mahoney who is a candidate for governor this time.

Lee said Butler's "withdrawal makes no real difference in the picture. The main point is that Maryland needs a Democrat—and preferably a Kennedy Democrat—in the Senate."

Brewster was vacationing in Puerto Rico. But the Tawes headquarters issued a statement saying the "voters cannot to fail to benefit by Butler's withdrawal" if for no other reason than "the campaign will de conducted on a high level."

McKeldin For Governor?

McKeldin, who was barred from seeking a third straight term in 1958 by the Maryland constitution, is the only Republican on the scene with proven statewide stature aside from Sen. Beall.

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias of Frederick is the only one of seven Representatives not a Democrat and he is serving his first term. In the Maryland Legislature, only three of the 29 Senators and seven of the 123 delegates are Republicans.

McKeldin disavowed interest in the Senate seat by saying "my interest is in the administrative field. You can do things there.

Police Rule Man's Death Accidental

Authorities yesterday said John Francis (Jack) Woods, 75, of 950 Gay Street, who was found dead Wednesday evening, died as a result of injuries he received in an accidental fall.

Yesterday Capt. James E. Van and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya went to the scene and found blood on the newel post at the foot of the flight of stairs where Mr. Woods was found.

Mr. Woods was a native of Lonaconing, and was a son of the late Patrick and Mary Ann (Keating) Woods. His only survivors are nieces and nephews.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where services will be conducted tomorrow at 10 a.m. by Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Burial will be in Allegany County Cemetery.

Board Grants Two Appeals, Tables Third

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night approved two applications for sites for the sale of Christmas trees and tabled a third appeal when the applicant failed to appear.

Permission was granted to Robert B. Mathews to use a lot at 819 Frederick Street for the sale of Yule trees, and to Charlie Burkett to make similar use of a lot at 913 Frederick Street this month.

The board tabled until the next meeting the application of Kenneth A. Fleming, Altamont Terrace, to use a building at the rear of 142 Polk Street as a garage.

The application, the board said, was turned down by the Engineering Department for lack of space. The application said the building is to be used for working on cars owned by a group of five, and for boat and motorcycle storage.

Four residents of the area appeared to protest the application, reporting the blocking of driveways, noise and danger to children of the area by the group.

The board said there was nothing it could do, since the applicant was not present.

Blair Firm Receives Nod For Planning

Report Submitted To Mayor, Council By Commission

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission yesterday recommended that the Maryland State Planning Department be requested to cease negotiations with Morris Knowles, Inc., and proceed to negotiate a contract with Blair Associates to prepare a comprehensive plan for the City of Cumberland.

The recommendation is included in a report to the Mayor and Council, submitted by Albert S. Paye, commission chairman.

The commission said that on July 21, it was recommended that the Mayor and Council, through the State Planning Department, negotiate to retain the firm of Morris Knowles Inc., Easton, Pa., to prepare a plan for this city's future development.

Changes Cited

During the course of these negotiations, it developed that organizational changes in the Knowles firm could adversely affect its capacity to perform as originally expected, the commission said.

The original recommendation of the commission, it added, indicated that Blair Associates, Washington, D. C., were considered equally competent to provide this service.

The report continued that in view of the changes in the Knowles organization, negotiations were suspended and further interviews with both firms were conducted, concluding:

"As a result of these interviews, it is the recommendation of this commission that the Maryland State Planning Department be requested to cease negotiations with Morris Knowles Incorporated and proceed to negotiate a contract with Blair Associates to perform this service in accordance with their proposals."

Was Stipulation

The Mayor and Council stipulated, in choosing the Easton, Pa., firm as its planning consultant in July, that James R. Woglum, assistant director of the Morris Knowles planning division, be in charge of the Cumberland project, devoting from five to seven days a month on the work, and that the resident planner would be here at least 60 per cent of the time during the two-year study.

Mr. Woglum, the city was told, is leaving the Morris Knowles organization on January 1 to become affiliated with another planning firm.

Local Civil War Artillery Unit Seeks Volunteers

A meeting will be held Monday at 7 p. m. at LaSalle High School to enlist volunteers to serve in the Old German Artillery, which is being sponsored by the Queen City Brewing Company.

It is planned that two artillery crews will be recruited and rotated as gunners and infantrymen. New recruits will be given information about required training, uniforms and planned activities.

Shooting Probe Is Completed

Graveside services for James C. Hammond, 20, of 8 Marion Street, who died Wednesday of a self-inflicted shotgun wound, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. at Hillcrest Burial Park.

Pallbearers will be Roger Saliga, Michael Zembower, Donald Lewis, James Kline, John Appel and Bernard Blough.

LaVale MYF Group To Present Play

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of LaVale Methodist Church will present a Christmas party Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in the church fellowship hall.

"The Four Classmen," a singing group from Allegany High School, also will present several selections.

Men Ordered Held For Jury In Burglary

The men, Charles P. Sponaugle, 32, of 207 Maryland Avenue, and Olie O. Sponaugle, 31, of 322 Virginia Avenue, were given preliminary hearing before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

They were charged with breaking and entering the home of Merrill E. Leasure on Hazen Road and taking $450 worth of tools and a small radio. The theft occurred September 25.

Magistrate Barnett set bond for each of the men at $500 and both were committed to the County Jail in default. However, both men signed petitions requesting an immediate trial in Circuit Court.

The men, who are cousins, were arrested earlier this week by Cpl. John F. Browning. Most of the tools have been recovered and the rest is in the process of being recovered, authorities said.

Julius E. Schindler, local attorney, represented the two men at yesterday's hearing, and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya presented the state's case.

Two Woods Fires Extinguished At Bowmans Addition

Three alarms involving two woods fires were answered Wednesday by the Bowmans Addition Volunteer Fire Company, according to Fire Chief Robert Riley.

The firemen were called at 12:30 p.m. after about two acres of woodland off Lake Avenue caught fire. Firemen brought the blaze under control in an hour under the direction of Assistant Chief H. A. Smith.

The same fire broke out anew at 10:40 p.m. and firemen had to work about 90 minutes to quench the flames, fanned by high winds.

In mid-afternoon, the company extinguished another woods fire in the vicinity of Northeast School. Sparks from a trash barrel, firemen said, caused the blaze.

Land Leased For Another Shop Center

White Oaks, Inc. Hopes To Begin Building In 60 Days

A 29-year lease, with the option of renewal, between James Alfred Avirett, city, and his brother, John Williams Avirett II, Baltimore, trustees, and White Oaks Shopping Center, Inc., was filed yesterday in the land records office of Allegany County Court House.

The land is on the easterly side of White Oak Avenue in Cumberland is bounded on the northeast by Oldtown Road, on the south by Commercial Place and on the west by the avenue.

The lease beginning November 1 this year will run for 29 years and end October 31, 1990. The lessee has the option of renewing the lease under all terms and conditions for seven additional 10-year periods.

For the first 15-year period, beginning November 1 this year, the rent will be $9,000 a year. For the balance of the term of lease and any renewal certain rent adjustments are included in the lease depending on the index number of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It was reported yesterday that it is hoped construction work on the new shopping center will begin in about 60 days, or by mid-February of 1962.

The land is part of the property conveyed to the trustees in two deeds, the first from Sarah D. Avirett-Thomas dated April 30, 1937 and the second from Henry Shriver, executor, dated December 11, 1943, both of which were recorded at the Court House.

2,616 Voters Dropped From County Books

The names of 2,616 Allegany County residents who have not voted during the past five years were stricken last month from the books of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

John R. Kelly, chief clerk and Democrat registrar, said yesterday that 1,383 Republicans, 1,174 Democrats, 57 who declined to give party affiliation and two other party registrants were among those stricken from the vote ledgers.

In order to cast ballots in the primary election next May 15, said Mr. Kelly, those who had their names stricken from the books must re-register by April 14, 1962.

On that date the books will be closed for 30 days and will be reopened on May 26, ten days after the primary election.

As of December 1 this year, 37,471 persons were registered to vote in the county, according to Mr. Kelly, who said of this total, 20,923 are Republicans, 16,288 Democrats, 252 declined, six socialists and two other parties.

A total of 76 persons registered during the month of November including 41 Republicans, and 35 Democrats. During the same period 35 persons who died had their names stricken from the books. The deceased include 21 Republicans and 14 Democrats.

Twenty persons transferred from one district and precinct to another; two names were removed by request; 10 changed their name or address only and six changed party affiliations.

Deer Hunter Shot In Leg

A 31-year-old deer hunter was treated and released at Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday for a bullet wound in his leg.

Bernard McClain, New Market, told hospital attendants he and a friend were sitting in the woods when gun went off accidentally.

Mr. McClain said the bullet ricocheted off a rock and struck him in the leg.

State Police and the district game wardens did not have any information about the shooting or where it occurred.

Leak In Water Line Is Closed

The break was found during the water waste survey, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said, and was wasting up to 70,000 gallons of water a day.

Woman Files Suit

A local woman who claims she was injured on the shoulder, neck and back by plaster which fell from a bathroom ceiling has filed a damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Genevieve Seifert, 612 North Centre Street, filed the suit against Rose Beall, LaVale, owner of the house at 29 Ridgeway Terrace.

ABL Given $4,493,561 Contract

Solid Propellant Work Continuing; Facility Tested

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory is receiving a contract for $4,493,561 for research and development in solid propellants, according to information received last night from U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

The contract, the senator said, is being awarded by the Bureau of Naval Weapons to Hercules Powder Company of Wilmington, Del., with the location of the contract performance at ABL in Rocket Center, W. Va.

He said it will not result in any increase in effort and the contract had been anticipated by Hercules Powder Company.

New Facility Completed

Meanwhile a new simulated high altitude testing facility, the only one of its kind in the United States, will provide ABL with a means of static firing full-scale rocket motors under simulated high altitude flight conditions.

Just completed, the new testing equipment was used for the first time Saturday when an A-2 Polaris second-stage motor was static fired in a simulated atmosphere of high altitude.

Valued at approximately $500,000, the complete testing facility consists of a firing bay, a vacuum system, altitude test chamber, a supersonic diffuser, and a diffuser cooling system. It is the only facility of this size and particular design in this country.

John E. Gideon was facility engineer, and Thomas L. Dunn was construction engineer for the project. Both are from the plant engineering section, which designed the firing bay.

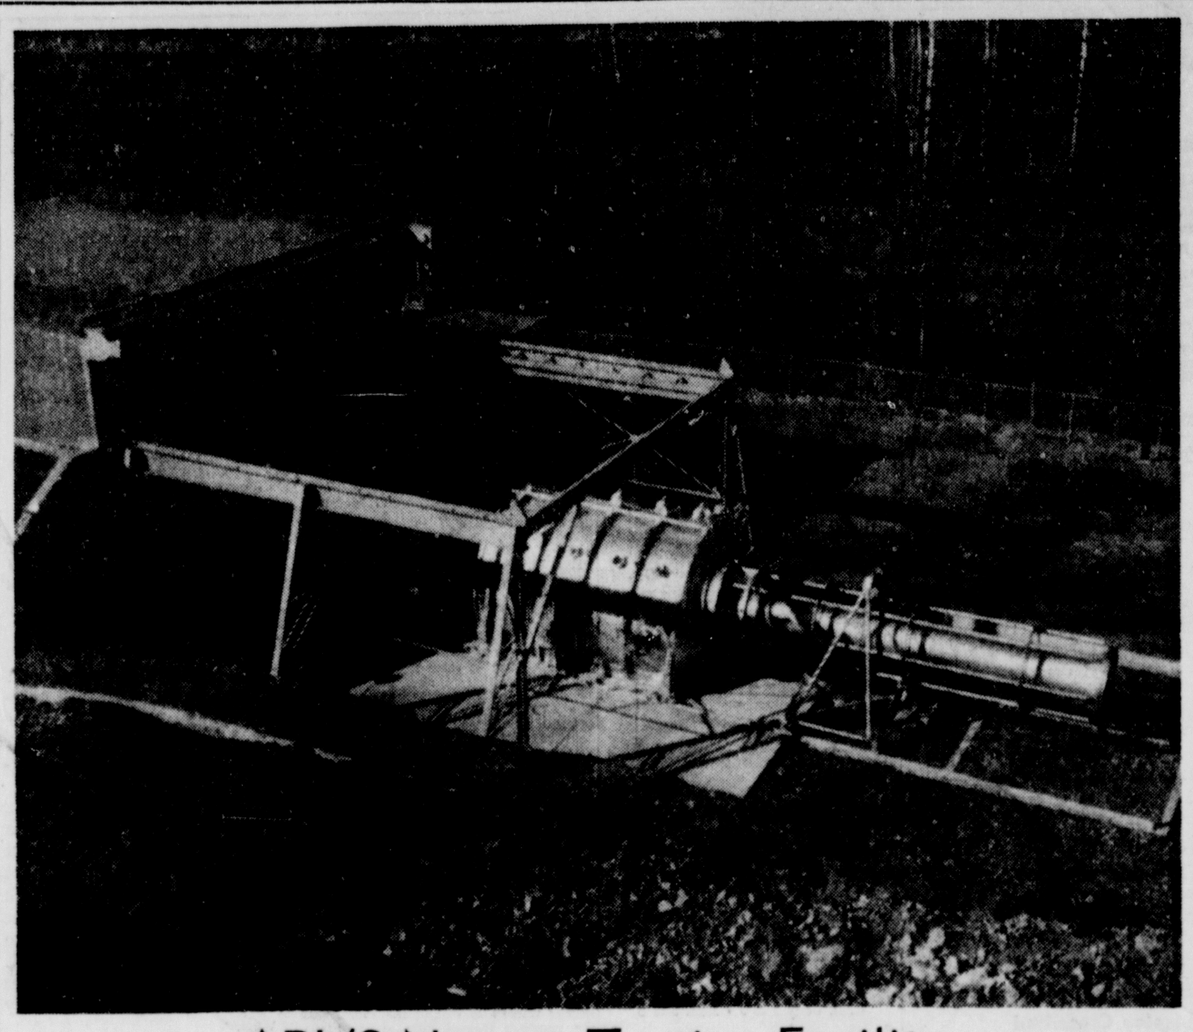

The civil work portion of the testing facility was done by the George F. Hazelwood Company, and the FluiDyne Engineering Corporation, Minneapolis, Minn., installed the equipment.

New Division Formed

The creation of an Energy Research Division at the Hercules Powder Company's Research Center near Wilmington has been announced by Dr. Robert W. Cairns, the company's director of research.

Planner Lists Six-Point Tourist Attraction Plan

C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County's planning director, told the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday at Central YMCA that the biggest asset Allegany County has is that of attracting tourists.

"With the numerous historical, highly scenic qualities and good potential undeveloped recreational facilities, the county is a naturally-suited area for this type of development," Mr. Renaud said.

"Everything that must be done to make a city, county or a state into a community attractive to visitors also makes the area more attractive to residents," Mr. Bossemeyer was quoted as saying.

Mr. Renaud told the Kiwanians that $4,380,000 could be added to the county's economy each year simply by attracting 1,000 visitors to the county each day. He based his total on a conservative estimate that each of the 1,000 visitors would spend $12 for food, lodging, services and gifts.

"Collectively, the people in the United States now spend approximately $29 billion per year on travel at home and abroad for purposes of business and pleasure," Mr. Renaud said. Florida's travel receipts are about $1.75 billion per year and New York State gets about $2.5 billion annually from travel.

To attract more visitors to the county, Mr. Renaud suggested six points.

First, he said, the local people must be informed about the desirability of attracting visitors. They must want the visitors, appreciate having them, and be courteous and hospitable to them.

Second, an attractive setting must be created for visitors where it does not already exist. His third point was that there must be things to do and see. Any scenic, historical or recreational area or attraction or combination of these is highly valuable.

Mr. Renaud's fourth point was that there must be adequate and attractive facilities for receiving and servicing visitors in the ways of accommodations, food, entertainment and services of all kinds.

His fifth point is a continuous and effective program of advertising and promotion designed to make people want to visit the area.

"This starts with the ability of those who receive visitors to provide meritorious service and information. There should be visitor information centers in each city and town, where accurate information can be dispensed and where voluntary host services by civic groups can take form," he concluded.

Probable Effect Of High Dam Explained

FREDERICK (AP) — Col. Warren R. Johnson of the Corps of Engineers says a controversial dam proposed for the Potomac River 12 miles above Washington would have no effect on the water level at Brunswick, Frederick County.

The last of seven meetings was scheduled for Thursday night at Front Royal, Va.

But Johnson conceded that the dam, part of a flood-control plan for the entire Potomac River basin, would leave Point-of-Rocks under 15 feet of water and flood land surrounding the mouth of the Monocacy River with 30 feet of water.

Col. Johnson told a public hearing in Frederick Wednesday night the River Bend dam project also would:

1. Put Seneca, Md., in neighboring Montgomery County under 135 feet of water.

2. Inundate seven miles of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad track and one railroad bridge.

3. Flood at least 35 miles of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, recently designated as a national monument and later proposed as a national park.

About 300 persons attended the hearing, sixth in a series sponsored by the Corps of Engineers. The idea is to get all possible public reaction to the main proposal and four alternates before definite legislation is prepared for Congress.

The big dam at River Bend has been opposed at all six hearings by Thomas S. Giles, an offical of the National Park Service. Giles voiced his objections again at the Frederick hearing, but emphasized he spoke only as an individual. He said the Park Service had reached no conclusions on the project.

GOP Loses One Candidate, May Get Another

Butler Won't Run But McKeldin Might

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Republican party lost a stalwart candidate in next year's elections Thursday in John Marshall Butler, who in a surprise move decided not to seek re-election to a third term.

In the first reaction to Butler's withdrawal, speculators thought of McKeldin, a former two-term governor, as a potential replacement.

"No," said McKeldin without hesitation.

"If the time is right and there is a demand for me, I would run for governor."

Cites "Personal Reasons"

Butler, who previously had indicated he would be a candidate for re-election next year, attributed his political retirement to "compelling personal reasons."

They were reported to be poor health of his wife and less than perfect health himself.

Democratic candidates for the U.S. Senate nomination next May already had been peppering him with criticism for his right wing philosophy in anticipation he would run again.

Even J. Glenn Beall, the other Republican Senator from Maryland, said he had not been aware of Butlers' decision to retire.

Close associates confided the decision was made in the past week.

Democratic Lineup

The Democratic candidates are Daniel B. Brewster, presently a U.S. Representative, Blair Lee III, a state delegate, and Elbert Byrd, a professor at the University of Maryland.

Brewster is running on a ticket headed by Gov. J. Millard Tawes who is seeking a second term. Lee is associated with a ticket led by Mahoney who is a candidate for governor this time.

Lee said Butler's "withdrawal makes no real difference in the picture. The main point is that Maryland needs a Democrat—and preferably a Kennedy Democrat—in the Senate."

Brewster was vacationing in Puerto Rico. But the Tawes headquarters issued a statement saying the "voters cannot to fail to benefit by Butler's withdrawal" if for no other reason than "the campaign will de conducted on a high level."

McKeldin For Governor?

McKeldin, who was barred from seeking a third straight term in 1958 by the Maryland constitution, is the only Republican on the scene with proven statewide stature aside from Sen. Beall.

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias of Frederick is the only one of seven Representatives not a Democrat and he is serving his first term. In the Maryland Legislature, only three of the 29 Senators and seven of the 123 delegates are Republicans.

McKeldin disavowed interest in the Senate seat by saying "my interest is in the administrative field. You can do things there.

Police Rule Man's Death Accidental

Authorities yesterday said John Francis (Jack) Woods, 75, of 950 Gay Street, who was found dead Wednesday evening, died as a result of injuries he received in an accidental fall.

Police investigated the incident Wednesday night at 948 Gay Street and were not satisfied with certain elements in the case.

Yesterday Capt. James E. Van and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya went to the scene and found blood on the newel post at the foot of the flight of stairs where Mr. Woods was found.

Authorities said Mr. Woods apparently started up the stairs, became ill and fell backwards, striking the back of his head on the edge of the post.

The deputy medical examiner's office said death was caused by internal bleeding from a fractured skull.

Mr. Woods was a native of Lonaconing, and was a son of the late Patrick and Mary Ann (Keating) Woods. His only survivors are nieces and nephews.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where services will be conducted tomorrow at 10 a.m. by Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Burial will be in Allegany County Cemetery.

Board Grants Two Appeals, Tables Third

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night approved two applications for sites for the sale of Christmas trees and tabled a third appeal when the applicant failed to appear.

Permission was granted to Robert B. Mathews to use a lot at 819 Frederick Street for the sale of Yule trees, and to Charlie Burkett to make similar use of a lot at 913 Frederick Street this month.

The board tabled until the next meeting the application of Kenneth A. Fleming, Altamont Terrace, to use a building at the rear of 142 Polk Street as a garage.

The application, the board said, was turned down by the Engineering Department for lack of space. The application said the building is to be used for working on cars owned by a group of five, and for boat and motorcycle storage.

Four residents of the area appeared to protest the application, reporting the blocking of driveways, noise and danger to children of the area by the group.

The board said there was nothing it could do, since the applicant was not present.

Blair Firm Receives Nod For Planning

Report Submitted To Mayor, Council By Commission

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission yesterday recommended that the Maryland State Planning Department be requested to cease negotiations with Morris Knowles, Inc., and proceed to negotiate a contract with Blair Associates to prepare a comprehensive plan for the City of Cumberland.

The recommendation is included in a report to the Mayor and Council, submitted by Albert S. Paye, commission chairman.

The commission said that on July 21, it was recommended that the Mayor and Council, through the State Planning Department, negotiate to retain the firm of Morris Knowles Inc., Easton, Pa., to prepare a plan for this city's future development.

Changes Cited

During the course of these negotiations, it developed that organizational changes in the Knowles firm could adversely affect its capacity to perform as originally expected, the commission said.

The original recommendation of the commission, it added, indicated that Blair Associates, Washington, D. C., were considered equally competent to provide this service.

The report continued that in view of the changes in the Knowles organization, negotiations were suspended and further interviews with both firms were conducted, concluding:

"As a result of these interviews, it is the recommendation of this commission that the Maryland State Planning Department be requested to cease negotiations with Morris Knowles Incorporated and proceed to negotiate a contract with Blair Associates to perform this service in accordance with their proposals."

Was Stipulation

The Mayor and Council stipulated, in choosing the Easton, Pa., firm as its planning consultant in July, that James R. Woglum, assistant director of the Morris Knowles planning division, be in charge of the Cumberland project, devoting from five to seven days a month on the work, and that the resident planner would be here at least 60 per cent of the time during the two-year study.

Mr. Woglum, the city was told, is leaving the Morris Knowles organization on January 1 to become affiliated with another planning firm.

Men Ordered Held For Jury In Burglary

The men, Charles P. Sponaugle, 32, of 207 Maryland Avenue, and Olie O. Sponaugle, 31, of 322 Virginia Avenue, were given preliminary hearing before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

They were charged with breaking and entering the home of Merrill E. Leasure on Hazen Road and taking $450 worth of tools and a small radio. The theft occurred September 25.

Magistrate Barnett set bond for each of the men at $500 and both were committed to the County Jail in default. However, both men signed petitions requesting an immediate trial in Circuit Court.

The men, who are cousins, were arrested earlier this week by Cpl. John F. Browning. Most of the tools have been recovered and the rest is in the process of being recovered, authorities said.

Julius E. Schindler, local attorney, represented the two men at yesterday's hearing, and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya presented the state's case.

Two Woods Fires Extinguished At Bowmans Addition

Three alarms involving two woods fires were answered Wednesday by the Bowmans Addition Volunteer Fire Company, according to Fire Chief Robert Riley.

The same fire broke out anew at 10:40 p.m. and firemen had to work about 90 minutes to quench the flames, fanned by high winds.

2,616 Voters Dropped From County Books

The names of 2,616 Allegany County residents who have not voted during the past five years were stricken last month from the books of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

John R. Kelly, chief clerk and Democrat registrar, said yesterday that 1,383 Republicans, 1,174 Democrats, 57 who declined to give party affiliation and two other party registrants were among those stricken from the vote ledgers.

In order to cast ballots in the primary election next May 15, said Mr. Kelly, those who had their names stricken from the books must re-register by April 14, 1962.

On that date the books will be closed for 30 days and will be reopened on May 26, ten days after the primary election.

As of December 1 this year, 37,471 persons were registered to vote in the county, according to Mr. Kelly, who said of this total, 20,923 are Republicans, 16,288 Democrats, 252 declined, six socialists and two other parties.
